U. S. Astronaut Killed as Plane Crashes in Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Astronaut Theodore C. Freeman, who one day hoped to pilot a space ship to the moon, died Saturday in a plane crash on a soggy Texas plain.

First reports indicated a goose might have caused the crash.

Manned spacecraft center spokesmen said, however, it would be two or three weeks before the cause could be determined.

Workers at the crash scene were reported to have found feathers among the wreckage.

Witnesses said Freeman, a 34-year-old veteran test pilot who usually rode a bicycle to work, was approaching the Ellington Air Force Base for a landing when at 300 to 500 feet the canopy of his swept-wing T38 jet trainer suddenly flew off.

Several flights of geese were observed flying close to the ground because of a low-hanging fog.

Workers said the plane appeared to have crashed nose-down scattering wreckage over a small area.

The crash was at 11:50 a.m. (EST), 49 minutes after Freeman had taken off on a routine proficiency training flight.

A manned spacecraft center spokesman said there was no communication between Freeman and the control tower to indicate trouble in the aircraft.

It was not clear immediately whether Freeman had ejected or had been thrown from the plane on impact.

His body was discovered about 100 yards from the wreck-

Bodies of Four Recovered From Plane Wreckage

PAGOSA SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Badly mangled bodies of four prominent southwestern Colorado school officials have been recovered from the wreckage of a light plane which crashed about two miles southeast of the summit of Wolf Creek Pass Friday.

Victims were Cyril K. Conway, 38, superintendent of schools in Mancos and pilot of the single-engine plane; Kenneth Wallace, 52, member of the Mancos School Board; H. M. McMillan, 38, superintendent of schools at Dolores, and Richard Hudgins, 40, business manager of the school system in Cortez.

A member of the searching party said the instrument panel was the largest single piece of wreckage except for a wing found some distance away.

The four left the Jefferson County Airport near Denver at 6:50 a.m. Friday for Cortez after attending school business meetings. Searchers placed the time of the crash at about 8:40 a.m.

Highway Department workers in the area said the plane appeared headed into the side of Alberta Peak in turbulent weather, but made a sharp turn. A wing tip apparently caught in a tree. James Powell, a Highway Department employe at a snowplow camp on Wolf Creek Pass, said he saw a wing flutter from the plane just before the crash.

The fuselage was ripped into shreds by four large pine trees.

Johnson Claims 'Great Silent Vote Is Myth' in U.S. Election

By JACK BELL

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson has predicted victory for himself in Tuesday's election because he said the people believe his opponent's "extremism in pursuit of the presidency is an unpardonable vice."

Johnson came to Madison Square Garden on Saturday night for a giant rally that he said in a prepared text, would end his campaign. This came after two hard-hitting appearances in Delaware and a scheduled motorcade through Nassau County.

In the windup, Johnson accused GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, of conducting a campaign of "mudslinging, smears and scandal" that was "dedicated to extreme ideas, not to old values."

"They are not conservative in the American tradition," the President said. "They are interested in tearing down institutions, not to preserve them. 'Conservative' may be written on their banner. But 'radical' is in their hearts.

Johnson chided Goldwater for, in his words, not offering "a choice, not an echo," an early GOP campaign slogan. Instead, the President said, his rival had restorted to "mudslinging."

"I can tell you why they are doing it," Johnson said. "They found out that the American

GM Continues Buildup; Ford Still Threatened

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers union today continued their painfully slow efforts to end crippling local walkouts and resume full production for the first time since Sept. 25.

GM said only 16 of its 130 plants around the country remained on strike and negotiators continued around the clock efforts to settle those disputes.

Ford's production remained threatened by a Nov. 6 strike deadline at 13 of 90 bargaining units that have unresolved local issues.

GM and the UAW ended a 31-day national strike last Sunday but only limited production resumed pending clean-up of plant-level agreements.

All five of GM's car divisions have resumed at least limited production.

Elections At a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a glance, here are the facts on Tuesday's general election:

AT STAKE — The presidency; 35 Senate seats; all 435 House seats; 25 gubernatorial seats; and 253 constitutional amendments or referenda in 40 states.

PRESIDENCY — President Johnson is the Democratic nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the Republican candidate. Winner needs 270 of the 538 electoral votes in 50 states and the District of Columbia.

SENATE — Elections in 34 states — two in Tennessee, for seats now held by 26 Democrats, 9 Republicans. Counting those not affected by this election, current lineup is 66 Democrats, 34 Republicans with 51 needed to control Senate in next — 89th — Congress.

HOUSE — Democrats now control with 254 to 176 Republicans, five vacancies. Needed for control: 218.

GOVERNORS — Elections in 25 states for seats now held by 18 Democrats, 7 Republicans. Counting those not affected by this election, Democrats hold 34-16 edge.

VOTING — Estimated 89 million citizens registered for otherwise qualified; turnout expected to reach record high of 71.1 million and some observers say it will be closer to 73 million. Polls open after midnight in some New England communities, and close at hours ranging from 4 p.m. EST in parts of Tennessee to 2 a.m. EST, Wednesday in western reaches of Alaska.

Six Soldiers Die in Crash Of Two Planes

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A collision of two Army transport planes Saturday killed six soldiers.

Both planes were assigned to the 10th Air Transport Brigade of Ft. Benning, Ga., the public information office at Ft. Jackson, S.C., announced.

Members of the brigade are among 32,000 on air assault maneuvers in the Carolinas and Georgia.

The transport planes were flying in a formation of four aircraft when they collided.

The Army said it was not immediately learned how many were aboard the two planes, but that six bodies had been recovered.

Names of the victims were not determined immediately and the Army said they would not be announced until the next of kin had been notified.

The two planes normally carry a crew of three each. No other troops were believed to be aboard the planes.

Season's Last Day Today for Trip to Peak

Today is the last day to drive up the Pikes Peak Highway.

The toll gate will open at 8 a.m. today and close for the season at 4 p.m.

This year, 260,125 persons went through the toll gate, compared with 251,003 in 1963. Only 125 persons used the highway Thursday.

The highway is reported in good shape and the summit house open.

Reds Smash at U. S. Air Base Near Viet Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Communist Viet Cong guerrillas Saturday killed four Americans, destroyed six B57 jet bombers and damaged eight others in a night attack on a U. S. air base 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

A Pentagon statement said a counter attack by South Vietnamese troops and U. S. forces was underway in the area of Bien Hoa where the base is located.

Administration officials viewed the attack "as an obviously serious incident" but indicated that the United States would not respond with an attack on North Viet Nam. The officials indicated the attack would not mean an escalation of the conflict in Viet Nam.

The B57s destroyed and damaged were part of about 30 jet bombers in the U. S. Air Force 3rd Air Wing which were sent to Viet Nam after the Gulf of Tonkin incident in August.

In New York where President Johnson was campaigning, White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said the Chief Executive was being informed of the situation.

Reedy said Johnson would meet Sunday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to discuss the attack.

The B57 is the U. S. version of the British Canberra Bomber — a two engine jet, capable of speeds of 500 miles an hour and able to carry nuclear weapons.

Two AIH South Vietnamese airplanes were also destroyed in the attack along with a U. S. helicopter.

The President ordered a smashing U. S. air attack on North Vietnamese PT boat boat bases last August after Communist gunboats attacked U. S. destroyers on the Gulf of Tonkin.

Cancer Victims Arrested for Protesting Drug Ban

By NEIL MARTIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Fourteen cancer patients protesting the government's ban on the drug krebiozen were arrested Saturday for persisting in a sit-in at the office of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze.

They were released by a municipal judge with a warning that they would be punished if they repeated the tactic.

A spokesman for the group said they would continue their fight but that no decision had been made whether to try and stage another sit-in.

Mrs. Laine Friedman told a press conference: "We're going to continue to do everything we can to try and get Krebiozen back to those who need it."

The government has prohibited sale of krebiozen on grounds it is worthless as a cancer remedy. The demonstrators declared they need krebiozen to stay alive.

Mrs. Friedman said the government was committing "legal murder."

"Krebiozen is to a cancer sufferer what insulin is to a diabetic," she said.

The 14 were arrested on charges of "unlawful entry" when they refused to disband the sit-in they began Thursday.

In municipal court, Judge Andrew Howard dismissed the charges but scolded the group for their defiance. He warned

Denver May Plan World's Fair in 1976

DENVER (AP) — The first step was announced today toward a possible world's fair in Denver in 1976.

That year will mark Colorado's 100th anniversary as a state and the 200th anniversary of American independence.

The Mayor's World Fair Committee and officers of Denver Progress, Inc., agreed to hire a research firm to study the economic impact a fair would have on Denver and Colorado. Denver Progress is a group of young businessmen which said it would have at least $5,000 for the initial study.

Civil Defense Discussion Set At Conference

All aspects of civil defense will be covered during the six days of activity of the United States Civil Defense Conference which will get underway today at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Monday will be taken up with business meetings and official welcomes, with an afternoon trip to the Air Force Academy and an evening banquet on the day's schedule.

At the Monday evening banquet the Pfizer Award will be presented in recognition of outstanding efforts in the field of civil defense, and the guest speaker, Dr. Louis Jolyon West, the head of the department of psychiatry of the University of Oklahoma Medical Center will speak on "The Spirit of Survival."

On Tuesday, Hon. Harry Hoth, mayor of Colorado Springs, will greet the 500-600 expected members of the convention at a welcome breakfast, along with Keith McBurney, chairman of the County Commissioners, Maj. Joseph C. Moffitt, director of the Colorado Civil Defense Agency and J. Herbert Simpson, president of the United States Civil Defense Council.

Soviet Chiefs May Open Talks With Red China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The new leaders of the Soviet regime may open talks shortly with Communist China toward smoothing over the long-standing rift between them, Communist sources said here.

Neither side expects the split to be healed completely. It runs too deep. But both sides are working toward a surface reconciliation.

Communist sources said Chinese diplomats in Moscow have learned to smile again in public. Chinese diplomats say reconciliation talks would be "welcome" and should come "soon."

The sources said the Dec. 15 world Communist conference may be dumped, postponed or transformed into a friendship rally. The deposed Nikita S. Khrushchev had called the conference as a preparation for expelling Red China from the Communist bloc.

Communist sources say Khrushchev's drive for a showdown with Communist China was one of the reasons for his overthrow.

Khrushchev's departure makes the Dec. 15 conference a new ball game, the sources said, and the Chinese Commu-

Barry Still Is Denied Equal Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission for the second time Saturday denied Sen. Barry Goldwater equal time on radio and television to answer President Johnson's address to the nation on Oct. 18.

An FCC spokesman issued a short statement on the decision saying in part that "the commission, on the basis of the showing before it, could not find that the (radio and television) networks had acted unreasonably" in denying the Republican presidential candidate equal time.

The statement also said the networks had not abused the "considerable discretion which they have in this area."

Reds Take Over Rule of Sudan After Rioting

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Communists have emerged as the most powerful single force in the Sudanese civilian government which took office Saturday closing the books on six years of military rule.

Ahead was the task of restoring order swept aside during 10 days of rioting in which mobs were cut down by waves of machine gun fire from turreted armored cars and scattered by volleys of tear gas bombs.

At least 30 persons were killed and more than 200 wounded.

The rioting students and workers forced the capitulation of President Ibrahim Abboud, who with seven other generals took power in a bloodless military coup six years ago.

Abboud managed to retain command of the army and the title of president, but technically he is stripped of most executive power.

The new prime minister, El Khatem Khalifa, 40, and his cabinet, met Friday night and pledged that they would begin work as "good civil servants" immediately after the swearing-in this morning by Abboud.

Khalifa's cabinet includes all political tendencies but the

Goldwater Declares U.S. 'Freedom Of Association' Must Be Insured

By WILBUR MARTIN

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater made his final presidential campaign bid in the South on Saturday night, denouncing the 1964 Civil Rights Act as "unfair discrimination in the private affairs of men."

Government must "insure freedom of association," the GOP candidate told a cheering crowd here in the capitol city of South Carolina.

"But it cannot and should not insure association itself. That is a matter of the heart and conscience," he said.

The Arizona senator was given a long, loud ovation.

The speech was carried over 87 television stations in 14 Southern and border states including Texas, Oklahoma, and West Virginia.

Scores of children in Hallowe'en costumes joined the street crowds near the city auditorium. Police estimated the crowd outside the auditorium at between 80,000 and 90,000.

South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond, who changed party affiliations to support Goldwater, spoke and so did James F. Byrnes, of Columbia, secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman.

Byrnes spoke out harshly against decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court and said he was telling President Johnson, the people "will not sacrifice our independence for a handout."

The auditorium was filled to its 4,000-seat capacity and thousands of persons listened outside where loudspeakers were placed and a television screen erected.

Goldwater's main theme was civil rights, but he fired at Johnson for wanting "more and more control over your lives."

Someone telephoned the auditorium and said a bomb had

Underwriters To Hold Annual Meeting Here

Plans will be made this weekend for the annual Million Dollar Round Table of the National Association of Insurance Underwriters which will take place next July at the Broadmoor Hotel. The meeting this weekend will consist of 18 insurance men and will be headed by former Coloradan, Iram H. Brewster, now of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Brewster is the 1965 President of the association and associate manager and executive life underwriter for Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance, Pittsburgh. He spent much of his youth in Colorado Springs where his father, Dr. S. E. Brewster, was pastor of the First Christian Church.

This weekend's meeting will see Brewster and 18 other members of the Round Table setting down the topics and possible speakers for the week-long intensive program June 27-July 3 at the Broadmoor. Some 800 of the Round Table's international membership of 4,000 men and women are expected to attend the 1965 meeting.

On Wednesday Colorado's 32 members of the 1964 Million Dollar Round Table have been invited to Colorado Springs to meet the five-man executive Committee.

This is the first time the Million Dollar Round Table will have held an annual meeting in Colorado since 1937. Twenty-eight years ago the membership numbered 158 members and annual meetings lasted one day as part of the annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters. The 1937 meeting was at the Brown Palace Hotel in Denver.

Speakers Set For Palmer Symposium

Kenneth Remy and Russell Eacker will present the next two lectures in the Palmer High School Faculty Symposium.

"The Geomorphology of the Pikes Peak Region" will be the subject of Remy's talk, November 2, 3. A member of the school's science department, Remy has worked in Rocky Mountain National Park as ranger naturalist. He holds a bachelors degree from the College of Emporia and masters degrees from Kansas State Teachers College and Colorado College.

Eacker will speak on "Crafts and Handiwork for Leisure Time," November 9, 10. He will also give demonstrations of work with plastics, leather, and light metals. Eacker received his bachelors and masters degrees from Colorado State College.

Both lectures will be in the General Palmer Room of Palmer High. Starting time for the lectures is 3 p.m. the first day and 8 a.m. the second day they are scheduled.

Your Outdoors

By MARY L. SHIRER
For the Pikes Peak Group of the Colorado Mountain Club

If we wish to understand the history of the earth, we must first learn the language in which it is recorded. The land forms which surround us, can tell us much of past history but rocks can tell us more. The fossil embedded in the rocks tell us of happenings in ages long past. The rocks we see are the outer framework of the earth and every piece that can be examined tells its part of the story of our planet. The igneous rocks tell us of volcanoes long dead and obliterated from the face of the globe or of events that transpired deep within the curst of the earth. The sedimentary rocks trace the history of the break-up and the transportation of fragments of older formations, their burial and hardening into stone with remains of living creatures entombed within them. The metamorphic rocks in their turn tell us the strange tale of transformation effected far down below the surface of the earth.

From the earliest times down to the present, stone and rock have played an important part in development and progress of the human race. Primitive man made his first crude weapons and utensils from stone. From the natural hollow in rock, the cave or prehistoric times to the elaborate buildings of the historic period, man has used rocks to shelter him; they are used to construct roads and bridges; they furnish material for ornamental purposes, statues and monuments and ground-up fragments of various rocks are made into plaster, cement and concrete.

Granite is difficult to work with but is durable and certain colors and textures are in demand for street portions of large buildings in cities. Limestone and sandstones are used to great extent. The prize limestone in U. S. was found in southern Indiana. It is easy to saw and carve as it comes from quarry; its color is beautiful grays verging to blue. When we consider the various kinds of material that makes up the world, we find that familiar things we know most about are plants and animals. Underneath the grass and roots, begins the silent immobile kingdom of minerals extending to unknown depths.

To a certain extent, we can tell from the stones and rocks on the surface of the earth, just what minerals might lie underneath the surface. The prospector was led to believe if an abundance of quartz was found on the surface of the earth, that gold might be found underneath. The shiny face of a crystal on the ground, gives a thrill. When we climb mountains, we come across all kinds and sizes of rocks and they all have secrets to enfold before us. If we stop long enough to study the formations, we find evidences of past periods of the world. This is one of the many interests found in mountain climbing.

Flattery Disgraceful, Old Romans Declared

CHICAGO (AP) —"Flattery is disgraceful in private life, but necessary in electioneering."

That isn't a spokesman for the Republican or Democratic national committee speaking. The advice comes from Quintus Cicero, brother of Julius Caesar's famous foe, Marcus Cicero.

Dr. John F. Latimer, president of the American Classical League, said Quintus threw in that advice about "flattery" in his "Handbook of Electioneering," which appeared in the campaign of 64 B.C.

Here are a few of Quintus' suggested procedures:

"The chances are that the politician won't have to fulfill any promises he makes, and, at any rate, animosity can be delayed until it is too late.

"Be all things to all men while electioneering and if possible, indicate that your opponents are criminals, grafters, or morally low.

"Put on a big show during your campaign—the people will like it.

"Call your friends by name, nothing is more popular."

"That's the way it had to be done in ancient Rome when the highest office in the land was at stake," Dr. Latimer observed.

CHURCHES HALT SUPPORT

Mrs. Wadleigh Died Here Friday at 86

Mrs. Estelle Wadleigh, of 16 2nd St., Broadmoor, died Friday at a local nursing home. She had been a resident here since 1961.

Mrs. Wadleigh was born in Stillwater, Me., Dec. 28, 1878. She is survived by a daughter-in-law and son, Mr. and Mrs. Wadleigh, of Broadmoor, and three grandsons.

Funeral services will be held in Omaah, Neb., with burial in the West Lawn Cemetery. The Law Mortuary has charge of local arrangements.

CHURCH LANGUAGE CALLED OUTMODED

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Most Protestant churches today are speaking a language that is 400 years behind the times, says the Rev. Dr. Carlyle Marney, a Charlotte, N.C., pastor.

He told a conference here that most religious language is irrelevant and static, and has made the church a place where men put on a mask, rather than being what it should be — the place where masks are removed.

Adjustment Board to Hear Sixteen Requests Thursday

Sixteen variance requests are scheduled for a public hearing at 4 p.m. Thursday in City Council Chambers before the City Board of Adjustment. They are:

Irving Ralston, variance to 539 W. St. Vrain St. to build garage within a foot of the west property line. The zoning ordinance requires a minimum of three feet.

Donald E. Schinkel, variance at 518 Huron Rd. to build single family dwelling on lot with 66-foot frontage. The zoning ordinance requires 100-foot frontage for A-1 Garden Zone.

Louis Vidmar, variance at 2217 W. Pikes Peak Ave. to build addition on existing garage which sets within a foot of the east property line.

C. Chambon, variance at 2409 W. Cucharras St. to build a loading dock entirely within the building.

Shepard Styled Homes Inc., variance at 1201 N. 31st St. to build single family dwelling within 18 feet of property line of Dent Circle. The zoning ordinance requires a 25-foot setback.

Vrooman Homes, variance at 4119 N. Chestnut St. to build single family dwelling with 21.5-fot front yard seback, instead of required 25 feet.

James D. Cox, variance at 2825 N. Beacon St. to build duplex on 6-750-square-foot lot. Ordinance requires 7,000 square feet for a duplex. And variance at 215 W. Taylor St. to move single family dwelling on lot with 4,500 square feet. Ordinance requires 5,000 square feet.

James Putzstuck variance to build addition on dwelling at 112 E. Madison St. This would set within four feet of the property line on the east and leave a 20-foot rear yard minimum and five-foot side yard minimum.

Pikes Peak Greenhouse, variance at 519 E. Columbia St. to extend on houses 2 to 4 of Section B, which will be adding to a non-conforming use of the property.

John W. Heard, variance of lot coverage at 1340 E. Fillmore St. City lot coverage in the R-3 zone allows a maximum of 30 per cent and the owner is requesting 44.4 per cent coverage.

Willis J. Griffee, variance at 2232 N. Farragut Ave. for seven-foot rear yard.

Bram Hall, variance at 812 Kingsley to enclose existing carport and build single car garage on front. This would set within 22 feet of the front property line.

Insurance Service Co., 3723 Palmer Park Blvd., zoned R-5 multi-family residential, the owner would like to construct an issurance exchange. This is a conditional use under R-5.

Mrs. L. J. Freeman, variance at 810 S. El Paso St. to build addition on house that would vary from 3.9 to about 2 feet from the south property line.

Allied Builders, variance at 1824 W. Vermijo St. to build a duplex on a lot with 3,300 square feet.

Any person may appear and be heard for or against these requests, at the meeting.

RETIRED "WRITER"

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Joseph Radinich, 68, Pittsburgh, was arrested Friday on a charge of writing numbers.

The U.S. district attorney's office listed his occupation as "retired numbers writer."

Youth Fined On Careless Driving Count

In a companion case heard Friday in Municipal Court, Judge Allan Asher found Ronald Vette, 18, Fountain, guilty of careless driving, and Paul Huntsman, 45, 3210 N. Prospect St., not guilty of failing to yield the right of way to Vette.

The case involved an accident Oct. 17 at Cascade and Colorado Avenues.

According to testimony by Cpl. Roy Stanley, Vette was westbound on Colorado Avenue and Huntsman was attempting to make a left turn while driving eastbound on Colorado. Huntsman's statement to the officer was that he was standing still in the middle of the intersection; Vette said he was moving.

The two cars came into contact, and the Vette car continued on and struck a light pole on the corner of Cascade.

Vette claimed Huntsman struck his car, and Huntsman claimed the opposite.

When Huntsman's attorney Elmer Brittain asked Stanley about a statement a witness had made to him, Judge Asher interrupted and said he didn't think the other two counsels were listening. The witness was not in court and it would have been improper for Stanley to give hearsay evidence.

Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac quickly said he had no objection to Brittain's question, and Vette's attorney Paul Gerdes thanked Judge Asher and made the objection.

"Your timely objection is noted," Judge Asher said dryly, and sustained it.

Vette had maintained he was driving between 20 and 25 miles an hour, but Judge Asher pointed out that physical evidence at the scene as testified to by Stanley indicated he was driving in excess of 40 miles.

He fined Vetta $25 and granted him a 10-day stay of execution.

Reckless and careless driving charges were dismissed against Duane Thomas, 34, 139 Judson St., on a motion by his attorney Matt Wills, on grounds that the summons and complaint was fault. Isaac did not resist the motion.

Russel Hargis, 51, LaJunta, was found not guilty of a charge of failing to yield the right of way.

Roger Williams, 20, 720 Melody Lane, was fined $10 on a speeding violation. He was cited in the 20-mile zone on Uintah Street leading up to Cascade Avenue.

Williams claimed his car was "just a calm four cylinder," objected to the 20-mile limit there, and admitted he never kept to this limit. "You will now, won't you?" Judge Asher said, and then asked Williams if he was a skater also.

This was in reference to a case Oct. 14 when Jerry Fotheringill, 22, 1618 W. Cheyenne Blvd., was charged with speeding on the same hill, and offered the same objections as Williams.

Judge Asher had suspended Fotheringill's $15 fine and when Williams requested the same consideration, he was told that the fine had been reduced $5 because "it was worth it to hear your story."

Billy Yandle, 16, 221 S. Weber St., was found guilty of disobeying a traffic signal and was fined $25.

On their guilty pleas, Judge Asher levied fines against the follwing: Walter Erner, 39, 1505 N. Corona St., reckless driving, $100 with his right to drive suspended for 20 days;

David Bertram, 28, 1931 S. Cedar St., speeding, $30 and a 10-day driving suspension; Jerry Biggers, 21, 710 S. Circle Dr., improper turn, $30; Cleo Mott, 34, 1114 W. Kiowa St., disobeying a traffic signal, $10; and James Rogers, 20, 328 E. Arvada St., speeding, $30. He reduced a reckless driving charge against Kenneth Magowan, 21, Boulder, to a speeding violation and levied a $25 fine.

Toothpicks Do Their Job If Used With Purpose

When my son Mitchell was little, he pointed to a giant tree one day and said, "Gee dad! They can sure make a lot of toothpicks out of that one." It's gotten to be a family joke.

The slogan "a clean tooth never decays" gave toothpicks and toothbrushes their modern day emphasis. It was the result of the work of Dr. W. D. Miller, an early investigator of tooth decay. He discovered that fermentation of food left on teeth produced lactic acid which broke down enamel, causing decay. As sound as this theory still is, in practice it hasn't noticeably decreased the incidence of dental caries. Maybe we just don't get teeth clean enough.

Since the days of ancient Egypt, attempts have been made to keep teeth clean to "prevent rotting." Toothpicks thus were in use thousands of years before Miller's "clean tooth" theory.

Many varieties have been used. Popularity and expediency have produced toothpicking by use of fingernails and cardboard matchbox covers, and metals such as iron, bronze, silver and gold — even porcupine and vulture quills.

The 19th century continental dude was apt to use a silver or gold blade that folded like a knife and was carried on a chain. They are still popular in Germany. The ancient Greek was likely to depend on natural products such as quills or straws of reeds. The Chinese, a sharpened stick from the Lentisk tree.

Just last week there was advertised in a dental journal a toothpick which was sharp at one end for poking between teeth, and blunt at the other end for wiping around necks of teeth. Sample plastic toothpicks shaped like pelicans were recently distributed to dentists; rubber points have been recommended for years.

Are toothpicks any good? Many dentists frown on their use. And of course they are not genteel. But if used properly, a toothpick can be a serviceable instrument. Many periodontists, who make a study of that which surrounds teeth, recommend them for cleaning food from areas that can't be reached with even the most diligent brushing.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Services Are Set For Floyd Olson

Funeral services for Floyd W. Olson, of Littleton, Colo., who was fatally injured in a traffic accident near Fountain Friday, will be held in Lindsborg, Kan., with burial there. The Law Mortuary has charge of local arrangements. Friends may call at the Law Drawing Room this afternoon.

Mr. Olson was a salesman for Davis Bros., Drug Supplies. He was born in Lindsborg, Kan., March 7, 1920. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and was a veteran of World War II. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alveda Olson, of Littleton; two daughters, Linda Sue Olson, of Littleton, and Mrs. Marietta Bennett, Woodland Park; a son, Michael Olson, Littleton; his mother, Mrs. Alfred Olson, Lindsborg, Kan., and a brother, Raymond Olsen, also of Lindsborg.

KENNEDY PIAZZA

GEONA, Italy (UPI) — The city council voted Friday night to name one of the city's main squares "Piazza John F. Kennedy."

A plaque with the late President's name will be unveiled Nov. 8 in the square facing the Genoa International Fair Building on Nov. 8.

Mrs. Brandt said, "I sent the originals issued on the 1956 and 1961 Christmas Seals. Designs are chosen two years in advance.

"I don't have a copy of the design I submitted this year," Mrs. Brandt said. "I sent the original into the committee and haven't gotten it back yet. It's birds and foliage.

"Most people don't realize that the competition is open to everyone and the selection committees vary each year so the committee has no way of knowing a person has won previously.

"I wasn't going to submit anything this year, but, as it usually happens, I was looking for an idea for something else entirely and it occurred to me that this design would make a lovely seal."

Christmas Seals are sold every year by the Tuberculosis Association.

"I submitted my first design 1954," she said. "A very nice doctor, Dr. Einstein (a cousin of Albert Einstein), who worked at the sanitorium, came by one afternoon and asked why I didn't send something in. didn't send something in. cations but I found an old letter with a seal on it and used that to get the proportions. I sent in three designs that year. I sent four in 1961 and they all were selected. I got the idea for the multiple designs from the Danish seals. In Denmark Christmas Seals are sold in sheets of 100. Each sheet has 100 different designs, one for each seal. Ours are sold in sheets of 50."

Mrs. Brandt has lived in Colorado Springs since 1947. Her principle occupation is designing Christmas cards.

Soviet Chiefs May Open Talks With Red China

nists might be willing to come. They and their sympathizers, such as the Albanians and the North Vietnamese, had spurned Khrushchev's invitation.

Over the long pull however, crucial if not fatal differences remain between Moscow and Peking, including disputed frontiers, disagreement about peaceful coexistence with the West, and rivalry for leadership of the Communist world.

Reds Take Over Rule of Sudan

Communists had disproportionate power and an open role in government for the first time.

They achieved this position by successfully infiltrating labor and professional groups. Moderate Sudanese tend to discount the Communist representation, however, claiming it will be shortlived and counterbalanced by moderates and the extreme Moslem brotherhood members in the cabinet.

Khalifa retained for himself the defense ministry, held formerly by Abboud, and gave the interior ministry to politically independent Clement Mboro. The foreign ministry went to old time politician Mohamed Ahmeed Magjoub, who held the post before the military takeover in 1958.

Jackie Cooper Says He Is Quitting Grease Paint

Jackie Cooper, clad in an organge jump suit, arrived here Saturday afternoon aboard an Air Force T-33 to attend the Navy Relief Ball at the Broadmoor.

The 42-year-old Cooper, a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve, has been a motion picture and television star for most of his life. He presently is the vice president in charge of West Coast Operations for Screen Gems Inc. (an arm of Columbia Pictures).

"The reason I'm here is to say something at the ball tonight about this Navy relief," Cooper said. "I think it's a wonderful thing which helps, not only the men themselves, but gives aid to servicemen's families in need."

As far as acting is concerned, Cooper said that acting is for those who just don't want to do anything else. He began at three and has acted since.

"There are 33,000 members of the Actors Guild in Hollywood alone," he said. "Most of those are not getting rich, by any means.

"As for me, I retired from acting eight months ago." With that, Cooper laughed. "But then," he continued, "I can't say I'll never act again. . . . I've given up smoking several times too.

"But I like the job I have now almost more than anything else I've ever done. I've always been real interested in the production part of this business. Right now I am handling six shows and making pilot films for some we will be selling in the coming seasons. We work mostly with light comedy since those kind of shows are the easiest to sell. Hour-long dramas are probably the toughest."

In answer to a query on recent criticism of television, Cooper said, "If you went to the movies or to the theater seven nights a week, you would see some things you might feel were a waste of time.

"If you watched television seven nights, you would see that television provides constant entertainment and that most of the time it's pretty good.

"Of course, there are some old hangovers from radio days and a few other hangovers some of us would like to see gotten rid of, but ratings usually weed them out.

"The thing is that sponsors want to please all of the viewers all the time and we've known for a long time that that just can't be done.

"As you probably know, there aren't any real children's stars these days — no Shirley Temples or Jackie Coogans — and we have found that kids now are latching onto some of the programs intended for adults.

"As it turns out, most of the audience for the new "Bewitched" program, which I handle, is between 6 and 17 years of age. The show is rated second on the charts. It just goes to show, I guess, that kids control the sets."

Civil Defense Discussion Set At Conference

day, convention members will be given a briefing on NORAD's activities and hear a number of speeches on topics including the Alaskan earthquake, military support of civil defense and the role of industry in civil defense.

A chuck wagon dinner and evening of entertainment at the Flying W Ranch will top Tuesday's activities.

On Wednesday, the keynote address will be given by the Hon. John A. Love, governor of Colorado and the day will feature various addresses and speakers on matters ranging from communication and disaster to public transportation. At 7:30 Wednesday night the exhititors will take over the program with exhibits, door prizes and entertainment.

Business meetings will take up most of Thursday's activities, with a series of specific reports on civil defense affairs in Toronto, Canada, a special panel on natural disasters and a presentation entitled "A Day in the Life of a Civil Defense Director" highlighting the program. On Thursday evening, Hon. Paul R. Ignatius, undersecretary of the Army, will speak at the annual banquet.

A general conference of members of the convention will be held Friday until noon, and at that time, the conference will officially adjourn.

Concurrent with the USCDC conference, the Health Services Advisory Committee wil present a series of programs on Wednesday and Thursday dealing with specific health problems in the matter of civil defense.The roles of the Salvation Army and the Red Cross will be discussed during these programs, and the mobilization of medical care forces and the role of the hospital during times of disaster will come into consideration.

Services Set Monday For Fred Wilson

Funeral services for Fred Robert Wilson, 520 W. Brookside St., will be held at 10 a.m Monday at the Chapel of Memories Mortuary, with the Rev. David D. Bailey officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Wilson died Wednesday. He was born Jan. 23, 1886 at Kirwin Kan., and had lived here since 1944. He retired in 1940 as a manager of the J.C. Penny Co., store in Greensburg and Newton, Kan. Here he was in the real estate business.

He attended high school in Beloit, Kan., and was affiliated with the Christian Church there. Mr. Wilson was a member of the O.E.S. and Masonic Lodge of Beloit.

Survivors include his son, Stanley Wilson of Wichita, Kan., two sister, Mrs Pearl Currier of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Larry Motl of Middleton, Wisc., and five grandchildren.

age, his parachute partially opened. The plane did not burn.

The plane, a two-seater owned by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was used for proficiency flights by the astronaut team.

Freeman, a native of Haverford, Pa., was among the third group of 14 astronauts named Oct. 18, 1963, and began his training at the nearby manned spacecraft center Feb. 1.

The plane went down about two miles west of Ellington near the Houston-Galveston Gulf Freeway as Freeman approached the field for a landing. The site was about five miles from the spacecraft center.

Donald K. Slayton, spacecraft center assistant director for flight crew operations, and Dr. Charles A. Berry, center medical officer, broke the news of the tragedy to Mrs. Freeman at her home near the space center.

Other survivors include their daughter, Faith Huntington Freeman, 10, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman, who live near Lewes, Del.

Freeman's death was the first for the elite astronaut team, now trimmed to 28.

When Freeman was selected as an astronaut, he was a flight test aeronautical engineer and experimental test instructor at the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

He had recorded more than 3,000 hours of flying time, in jet planes.

Goodwill President Cites Organization's Growth

Growth of Goodwill Industries from its present 125 units to 300 within the next 10 years was predicted Saturday by Horace W. Kimbrell of Kansas City, Mo., the organization's national president.

He is here to assist as a layman in the 11 a.m. service today in the First Methodist Church.

The Goodwill leader, who is an attorney, coupled his forecast with words of praise on the growth of the Colorado Springs' unit at 2307 W. Colorado Ave, saying:

"In 1960 the local budget was $60,000. In 1962 it was $98,000. This year it is $160,000. This is certainly a tribute to the people of the community in their cooperation with Goodwill."

Kimbrell explained that Goodwill Industries has a program with a budget over $55 million for the employment, rehabilitation and training of handicapped men and women. He said it was "the largest network of sheltered workshops in the country.

"We can now live to see a $100 million program," he predicted.

He pointed out that 22.3 per cent of the persons served in the Goodwill movement are mentally disturbed and 22.1 per cent of those served are senior citizens.

Kimbrell and his wife, Ethel, were guests of Kenneth Hall, president of the local Goodwill unit, and its board of directors at the Broadmoor Hotel. Guests were also members of the local administrative staff.

Kimbrell was given a deed to a foot of Pikes Peak, during the dinner.

The national president is a native of Missouri. He received A.B. and law degrees from the University of Kansas City. He has been a practicing attorney in Kansas City since 1939 and from 1953 to 1961 was first assistant district attorney for the western district of Missouri.

He is a past president of the Federal Bar Association and belongs to the Kansas City Bar Association and other legal organizations.

He is active in the Methodist Church and is trustee and chairman of the finance committee of St. Paul School of Theology Methodist in Kansas City.

Since 1951 Kimbrell has been president of Goodwill Industries of Greater Kansas City. In 1961 he was elected president of Goodwill Industries of America. He is now serving his fourth term in this capacity.

Goldwater Asks For 'Freedom Of Association'

been planted in the building, but a check by a bomb disposal squad from nearby Ft. Jackson turned up nothing.

"Freedom to associate is a double freedom or it is nothing at all," he said.

Goldwater flew here on the next to last full day of campaigning from rallies in his home town of Phoenix, Ariz., and in San Antonio in President Lyndon B. Johnson's home state of Texas.

At Phoenix, he termed as "strange, distorted minds" those that would unilaterally disarm the country, saying that to keep the peace, the U.S. had to be strong militarily.

Soldiers fighting in South Viet Nam are "short on rifles" and other "basic needs of the footsoldier," he said in Phoenix.

To keep the peace, Goldwater said, the U. S. has to stay strong militarily because "that's the way it has to be."

Scott Funeral Rites Set for Monday

Funeral services for Ray Scott Jr., 63, of 622 N. Spruce St., will be 10 a.m. Monday in Hunter Mortuary.

Rev. Milton E. Proby will officiate and burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Scott, who died Wednesday in a local hospital after a short illness, was born May 5, 1901 in Alexandria, La. He was a local resident since 1939.

He worked for the El Paso County Road Department. Mr. Scott was a Baptist.

He is survived be his wife, Mrs. Antonia K. Scott, Colorado Springs.

Johnson Claims 'Silent Vote' Is Myth in U.S.

people would overwhelmingly reject their ideas and their programs. They found out that the great silent vote was a myth. They discovered that the revolution of the extremists was a dying ember.

"They ran smack into the good sense of the American people.

"They discovered that as far as the American people are concerned extremism in pursuit of the presidency is an unpardonable vice.

"Moderation in the affairs of the nation is the highest virtue."

Before he flew to Farmingdale, N.Y., to head a motorcade, Johnson told a cheering crowd at a Wilmington, Del., rally that he is confident his election would trigger a breakthrough to an era of unprecedented abundance.

A crowd estimated by state police at more than 20,000 greeted the President and Mrs. Johnson at the Greater Wilmington Airport after a flight from the state capital of Dover.

Both in Wilmington and in Dover, Johnson said that Goldwater wants to turn back to what he said Goldwater and his supporters "plainly believe were 'the good old days.'"

The President did not mention Goldwater's name here, but there was no mistaking that he meant the GOP nominee.

Speaking of the Depression that started in October 1929, Johnson said: "Those days were not good. I remember them. I grew up in the middle of them. So did many of you.

"In the 1920s, only four families in 10 had incomes sufficient to cover the basic necessities. Now we have that figure up to eight out of 10 — and we are going to make it 10 out of 10.

"I believe that generations from now people will look back on the 1960s and will say: There was the special moment. There the American people broke through to a new level of moral, spiritual and material blessings."

The President said that in 1945 he had seen Mexican children go into the garbage cans of restaurants in San Antonio, Tex., to salvage grapefruit rinds to eat.

"And that's what they call the good old days," he said.

Johnson started his campaign day in Dover with what he called the declaration of a "war on waste." He promised to combat needless federal spending, economic waste caused by recessions, and the waste of war, "the most awful waste of all."

Three Injured In 1-Car Crash

Three persons were injured Friday in a one-car accident a mile south of Colorado Springs on the Janitell Road, the State Patrol reported.

Tony Gayton, 21, of 729½ S. Corona St., the driver, received back bruises.

Two passengers were taken to St. Francis Hospital by E & E Ambulance and treated for injuries. They were: Helen Solano, 19, of 2216 W. Vermijo, head lump and bloody nose; and Margie Romero, 17, of 2203 W. Colrado Ave., fractured vertebrae.

The car was southbound at about 8:30 p.m. At a sharp left curve it skidded off the road to the right, striking a wire fence, log and tree.

Seat belts were in the vehicle but not in use, the patrol reported.

Mrs. Levine Funeral Scheduled for Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha B. Levine, 67, of 512 W. Van Buren St., will be 1 p.m. Tuesday in Swan Funeral Home. Rev. Edward E. Busch will officiate and burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Levine, who died Friday in a local hospital after an illness of several months, was born May 16, 1897 in Austria. She was a local resident since 1959 and a housewife. She formerly lived at 2329 Magellan St.

Mrs. Levine belonged to Eastern Star and was a Lutheran.

She is survived by her husband, A. B. Levine, Colorado Springs; a son and daughter-in-law, George and Virginia Kepnick, Brookfield, Ill.; a grandson, George Kepnick, Brookfield; and two sisters, Mrs. Diana Brncic, Scottsdale, Ariz.; and Mrs. T. Bolic, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dr. Hawley Dies, Services in New York

Funeral services for Dr. Charles A. Hawley, 74, of 624 N. Cascade Ave., will be in Vernon, N.Y. Burial will be there.

Dr. Hawley, who died Saturday in a local hospital, was born Dec. 3, 1889 in Verona. He was a retired minister and college professor and a local resident for five years.

Law Mortuary is in charge of local arrangements.

Dr. Hawley graduated from Hamilton College and Union Theological Seminary in New York, and received a Phd. degree from Columbia University. He did graduate work in Switzerland and Germany and the American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem.

He taught at the University of Iowa, Omaha Theological Seminary and Ottawa, Kan. University. He retired in 1958.

He was a pastor in Atchison, Kan., from 1941 to 1948 and authored several articles and books. He was a Presbyterian.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Barbara Hawley, Colorado Springs; a daughter, Miss Mary Barbara Hawley, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; two sons, Rev. Bernard Hawley, Severna Park, Md., and Lt. Cmdr. Charles Hawley, U.S.N., Long Beach, Calif.; six grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. F. E. Williams, Swarthmore, Pa., Mrs. Eva DeFrees, Rochester, N.Y., and Mrs. Henry Page, New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

Denverites Will Not Contest Mother's Will

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two Denver women and their brother have agreed not to oppose their stepmother's bequest of approximately $400,000 to a member of the British Parliament, described in her will as a "beloved friend."

According to papers filed Friday in Surrogate's Court, the heirs of the late Mrs. George Hamlin Shaw have withdrawn objections to the tax-free bequest she left Sir Martin Lindsay on her death last December. The stepchildren, Mrs. Mary Shaw Evans, Mrs. Dora Shaw Neidecker, and Richard H. Shaw, will inherit the remainder of Mrs. Shaw's $3 million estate.

In a will written in 1963, Mrs Shaw left $250,000 in cash and the furnishings and art in her luxurious river house apartment to Lindsay, a married man with three children. The will made tax adjustments "in case my beloved friend should be my husband at the time of my death."

Mrs. Shaw, 65, was a prominent New York hostess and had been president of the National Travelers' Aid Association. Sir Alexander, 59, has had a distinguished career as a polar explorer and was created Baron Lindsay of Dowhill by Queen Elizabeth in 1962. He has been separated from his wife.

Top Commanders Due This Week

Ft. Carson will greet two of the Army's top commanders this week, General Hugh P. Harris, Commander - in - Chief, Continental Army Command (CONARC), and Lt. Gen. Charles G. Dodge, Fifth U. S. Army commander.

General Dodge is scheduled to arrive Tuesday and General Harris on Wednesday.

Ft. Carson's new Honor Guard will salute General Harris on his arrival at Peterson Field at noon on Wednesday.

General Harris, a member of the 11th Infantry when it became organic to the 5th Infantry Division dirung extensive field maneuvers prior to World War II, will inspect training and may possibly review the retreat parade Wednesday.

General Harris, was credited with development of techniques for loading Army combat equipment in transport aircraft and gliders.

He also supervised preparations of the service manual and training schedules used in air-transportability training of several infantry divisions.

The Airborne continued as an important part of his Army career up to the Korean War.

In the Korean action he commanded the 244th Infantry Regiment and was operations officer for Eight Army through the heavy communist spring offensive of 1953.

His commands since then have included Berlin, 11th Airborne Division, The Infantry Center, I Corps in Korea and Seventh Army in Germany. He assumed the CONARC command in March, 1964.

East Germans Guard Walls To Foil Escape

BERLIN (AP) — East German authorities strengthened security along the Berlin Wall today, guarding against attempts by East Berliners to escape in the confusion of the authorized visiting period for West Berliners.

Five gaps have been opened temporarily in the wall for the 14-day period during which West Berliners have been authorized to visit relatives in the Communist-ruled part of the city.

Within three hours after the entry gates were opened today, about 40,000 persons were checked through by red border guards. It was the second day of the visiting period, which extends until Nov. 12.

At the Sandkrug Bridge Checkpoint, used both by pedestrians and motorists, a heavy East German army truck was posted next to the gap in the wall, its engine running.

The truck apparently is to be driven into the gap in case of an escape attempt by car.

The Communists were issuing wall passes under a recently signed West Berlin-East German agreement, allowing four visiting periods in the next 12 months. A second period will cover the Christmas-New Year holiday. The other two are scheduled for next year.

Four holes in the wall are for those on foot or in cars. A fifth control point was Friedrichstrasse Station for those using the elevated railroad.

Civil War Relic Detonated Here By Carson Squad

A Civil War echo was heard in the Ft. Carson artillery impact area this week when the 94th Ordnance Detachment (Explosive Disposal) detonated a cannonball brought to El Paso County nearly 100 years ago.

C. E. Holcomb was helping to dispose of the effects of his mother, Mrs. Mattie Holcomb, at 2009 N. Corona. Mrs. Holcomb died recently.

He found the cannonball and recalled a recent Army ordnance display at Circleville, Ohio, where he lives now. The display warned spectators of the dangers of war souvenirs.

This prompted him to call Ft. Carson and ask for professional help in disposing of the souvenir which he recalls chipping at with a chisel when he was a child.

The 94th commander, Lt. R. G. Horner, and a technician, Spec. 4 Johnnie Sisk, answered the call and brought the ball to Ft. Carson.

They found that it was armed and would have to be detonated.

"There were no pieces small enough to add to our museum after it was exploded," Horner commented.

Holcomb said the explosive came to El Paso County shortly after the Civil War in a covered wagon with his great grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Rhodes.

The 94th and the 41st Ordnance Detachments are on call, constantly, to investigate explosives throughout Colorado and Wyoming.

Materials such as dynamite and TNT deteriorate with age and become extremely explosive. War souvenirs may or may not be inert and can cause injuries or death.

The explosive disposal men ask that anyone with potentially dangerous explosives have them checked with the nearest law enforcement agency. Army help will be asked if necessary.

British General to Speak At Fine Arts Center Here

A former British High Commissioner in Canada will speak here Nov. 10 as a guest of the Colorado Springs Branch of the English Speaking Union.

General Sir Archibald Nye, KCB, KBE, an expert on new developments in Commonwealth relations, will address members and their guests on the subject "Empire Into Commonwealth" at 8:30 p.m. in the music room of the Fine Arts Center.

Sir Archibald, 68, enlisted in the ranks at the outbreak of World War I in 1914, and served as an infantryman in France where he was twice wounded. He was promoted to a commission for service in the field and was awarded the Military Cross.

Following the war he studied law and was called to the Bar of the Inner Temple in 1932, while still remaining a general staff officer in the Army. During World War II, Sir Archibald commanded a brigade in India.

SIR ARCHIBALD NYE

Returning to England in 1940, he became director of staff duties in the War Office, and in 1941, at the age of 46, was appointed vice-chief of the Imperial General Staff where he worked under Lord Alanbrooke on the planning of war strategy on a world scale, from the liberation of Burma and the East to the invasions in Europe.

Sir Archibald retired in 1946, and was appointed Governor of Madras. When India became independent in 1947, he was invited to remain under the new regime and did so. In 1948 he was appointed British High Commissioner in India, a post he held for four years. He served in the same capacity in Canada from 1952 until 1956.

Sir Archibald holds a number of honorary degrees; is a Rhodes Trustee and has various business interests.

The meeting Nov. 10 is open to the public without charge. The purpose of the English Speaking Union is to foster mutual understanding, trust and friendship, between the peoples of the United States and the Commonwealth.

Pilot Poisened Himself Before Airplane Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Boad (CAB) Friday disclosed one of the most unusual crash causes in aviation history — a pilot inadvertently poisoned himself before the accident.

The crash involved a crop-dusting plane at Paris, Tex., Aug. 22, 1963. The CAB said the pilot, Marshall Ray Jones of Mesquite, Tex., failed to maintain flying speed while turning at the end of a dusting run.

The board said its investigation revealed that four days before the accident, Jones was loading a pesticide known as methal parithone and spilled it over himself and his clothing. He did not wash or change clothes for the rest of the day, even though a fellow worker suggested it.

The CAB quoted the pilot's boss as noticing that the usually goodnatured Jones became irritable and introverted for the next three days. On the morning of the fatal flight, he also complained of headaches.

The CAB said no autopsy or toxicology examination was performed, but there was evidence of impaired physical efficiency from exposure to poisonous material.

The mail box of Rober W. Broughton, 16 Friendship Lane was damaged Friday night or early Saturday morning. It was valued at $10, according to a report in the Sheriff's Office. Damage apparently was caused by a firecracker.

Seven Students Die In Smashup of Cars

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Seven high school students, all 15 years old, died in a smashup of two cars Friday night, the Kansas Highway Patrol reported.

Six were killed at the scene, at a county road intersection 11 miles east of Wichita, and the seventh died shortly afterward. The dead were all in one car, which had only one survivor, who was injured. Two persons in the other car also suffered injuries.

One car struck the other broadside at high speed, the patrol said. Wreckage and bodies were strewn over a wide area.

Yellowstone Park Closes for Season

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — Yellowstone Park roads closed late Friday for the Season.

All overnight lodging and meal services within the park closed Oct. 24.

The service station at Old Faithful also closed Friday, but the general store at Mammoth remains open year round.

Fishing in the park also closed Friday.

All roads, throughout the winter with the exception of the Gardiner - Cooke City, Mont., section will be barricaded as soon as snow makes them hazardous for travel.

Lindsay Crosby Goes Free in Court

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) A judge has set aside a jury verdict of disturbing the peace against Lindsay Crosby, 26, youngest of Bing Crosby's sons.

He was convicted by a jury Oct. 19 on a complaint brought by a 46-year-old woman who accused him of shoving her off a barstool in a Sunset Strip nightclub June 19.

Judge Jacques Leslie ruled Friday that the evidence did not support the verdict.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water smooth on a little tropical oil of olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

Colorado Springs Day Set Sunday at Zoo

Sunday is Colorado Springs Day at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo. All visitors will be admitted free of charge to the zoo and the Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun.

Colorado Springs Day is held each year on the first Sunday in November in cooperation with the City of Colorado Springs. The day is in appreciation for the support given to the zoo by residents of the Pikes Peak Region during the year.

This year visitors to the world famed zoo will have an opportunity to view approximately 800 animals in their clean modern buildings and pens. Among the new exhibits are a week-old baby giraffe, a baby gemsbok, white-tailed gnu, ostrich, giant tortoise, the North American Panorama, camels, and many others. The zoo will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

End of an Era

THE ANTLERS

Photos By STAN PAYNE
Text By JOHN FETLER

The old landmark is going the way of all bricks.

The Antlers Hotel was ideal for scenic postcards sent by tourists throughout the country. Old-time visitors who like to return to the Pikes Peak region for a vacation every season, will surely miss it.

And old residents, to whom the Antlers has been such a familiar landmark because the Antlers was "always there" will undoubtedly remember with nostalgia the old building and some of its unique features of old elegance.

The Antlers dominated Pikes Peak Avenue ever since the turn of the century. It replaced the original Antlers Park Hotel which was of stone and a wooden superstructure and which was gutted by fire.

The twin towers of the Antlers have been a nationally famous sight, as they originally framed Pikes Peak in the background, if a visitor stood on Pikes Peak Avenue, looking towards the mountains.

In later years, a penthouse was added, which not only changed the roofline, but also blocked the view of the Peak. Still later, modern shops were added to the base of the building, thus changing the view of the facade, except for the portico, which was painted white, while the rest of the building retained its brown brick color.

But the "old pile of bricks" was built in its day with quite a flourish, in a style something of the French provincial and something of the Spanish influence. Also, in the overhang of the roof, the angle of the roof, as well as in the idea of the towers, the architects must have been thinking of the Swiss chalet type, with suitable embellishments, of course, as it was the custom in those days.

And, it is interesting to note, that the Swiss chalet motif has not quite disappeared, but is having a renaissance in Colorado mountain communities, where it seems to fit so well.

In the case of the Antlers, it was only a starting point. The construction required quite an few tricks of the bricklayer's art, what with such formations as arches, various corners, cornices and outcropping features of the hotel structure. This gave it not a plain, but a rather fancy facade. It was easy to see that the architects intended to obtain the maximum play of light and shade in order to make the building not only attractive, but also interesting. But they avoided the emptily ostentatious. They had style.

There were, also, many details in the construction and decor of the building which were not apparent to the casual eye, or which were taken for granted by old residents or visitors. One such, for instance, was the use of steel (or iron) rails for the stairways of the hotel

Nowadays, of course, it is the fashion to emphasize utilitarian simplicity, although there is a strong movement to develop the esthetics of architecture for its own sake. But in the "olden days," a steel rail was not simply a steel rail; it was also an opportunity for decoration. Even on the underside, the rails are covered with decorative curlicues. It does illustrate the thoroughness of esthetic planning. The importance of this was not simply that the steel rails were "decorated" but rather the thought behind it, namely that the building required "style," or elegance.

The same kind of elegance was pursued in the various other facets of the building. The supporting posts for the stairway bannisters, for instance, were made of cast-iron but using a floral motif; the pillars in the dining room and lobby were imposing affairs, and at every opportunity, the architects felt free to express the ultimate in elegance, as it was understood in their day, in order to build an elegant hotel.

The essential difference between buildings in those days and the modern style is that the modern architect avoids (super) imposed decoration and makes the "style" or the elegance an integral part of the building and of the materials of which the building is constructed.

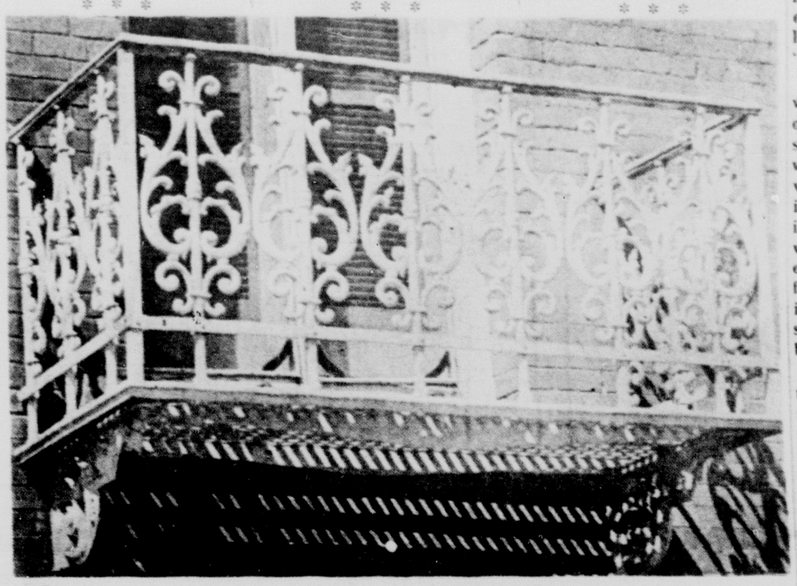
It is an interesting sidelight that decorations were used at the Antlers not only where they were most obvious, but in spots where they were not particularly noticeable, such as on the rails supporting the stairways, or in nooks and corners, showing the insistence on an overall decorative scheme, a style of architecture which has seen its day, and which was almost entirely lost in the steel - and-glass box constructions of the "international style," until recently architects began to have second thoughts, attempting to bring a modern type of elegance back to new buildings.

Even after the modernization of the Antlers, there was still in evidence a thorough-going plan in the decorative scheme, as could be seen from the rather "modern" chandelier which was installed in the lobby, after modernization. And originally, the exterior of the building was matched harmoniously by the interior, and the two formed a congruous architectural unit.

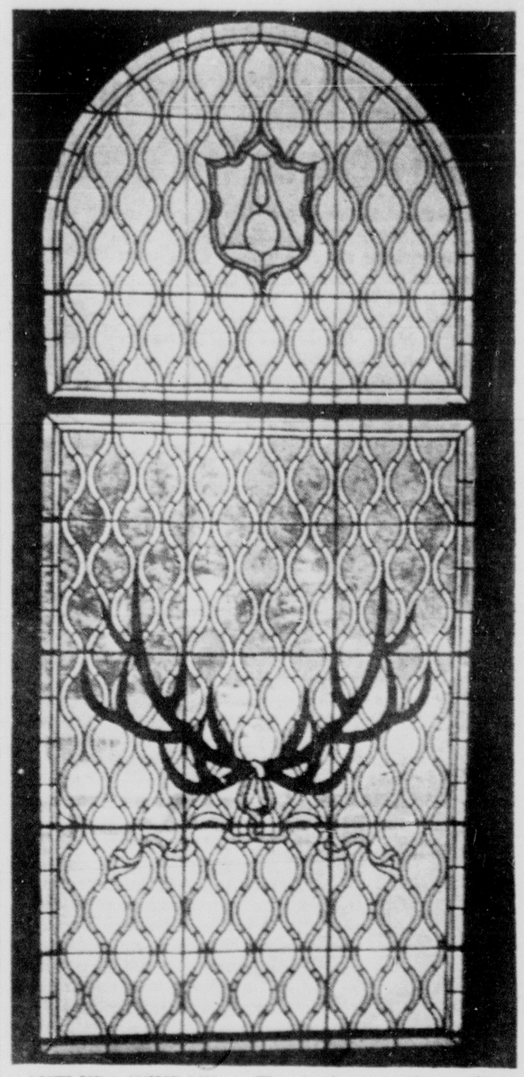
Although to the modern eye, such a building as the Antlers could easily have been regarded as merely quaint and old, to many old-timers and to many appreciators of the city's history, the hotel was an example of the elegance of a bygone era, evidence of which remained to the very last days of the old Antlers, as can be seen in the photographs on this page.

PEAKED ROOF — Illustrating the mountain scene motif, peaked roofs were the feature of the twin towers of the Antlers. They were favorite haunts of pigeons.

CONE — This cone, along with a number of others, was one of the decorations of the roofline of the Antlers.

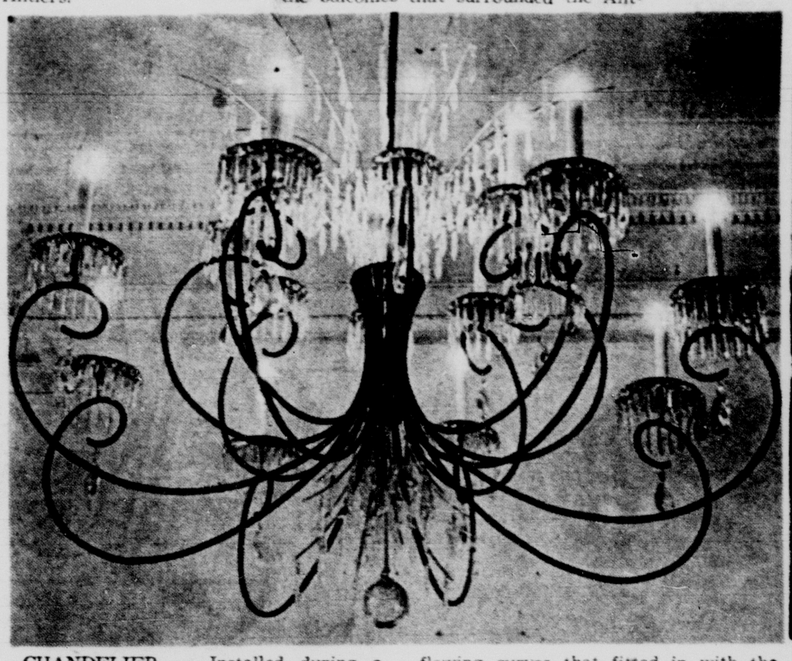


BALCONY — One of the best illustrations of tthe floral motif was lavished on the balconies that surrounded the Antlers, from which visitors in the old days could observe the bustling city below.

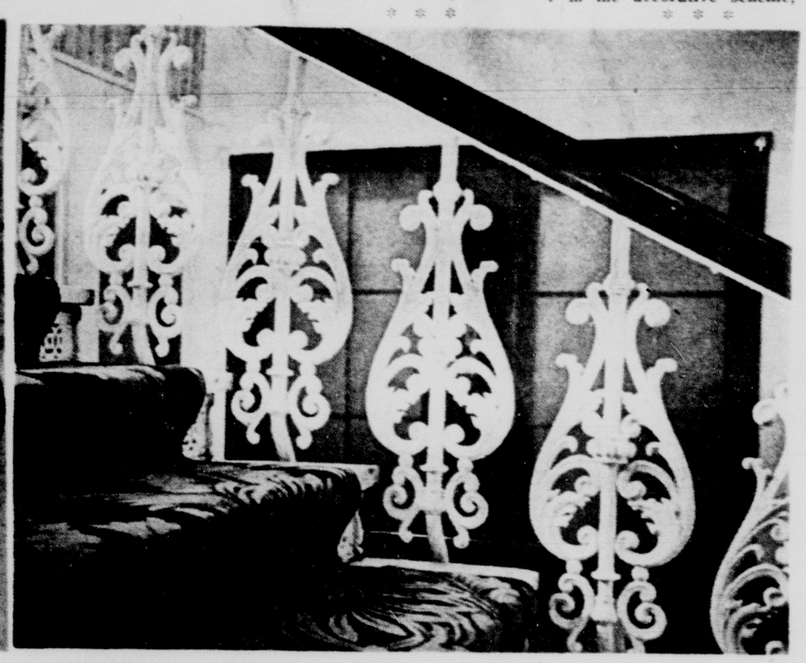


ANTLERS WINDOW — The Antlers motif was illustrated in the Antlers hotel by this beautiful stained glass window, depicting the antlers in the main panel, and the original Antlers crest above it.

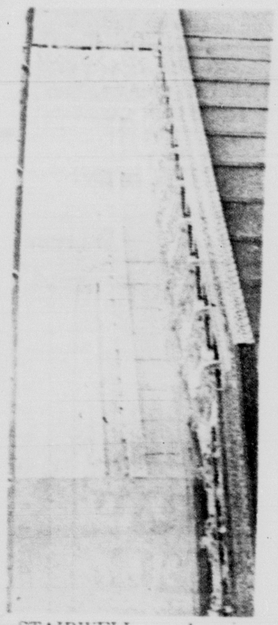
TOWER — The rich scroll-work, and intricate brick design, was among the features of the lavishly carved twin towers of the Antlers. This unusual photo was taken with telephoto lens.



CHANDELIER — Installed during a modernization of the Antlers, this chandelier in the lobby followed the same flowing curves that fitted in with the earlier decor of the interior.

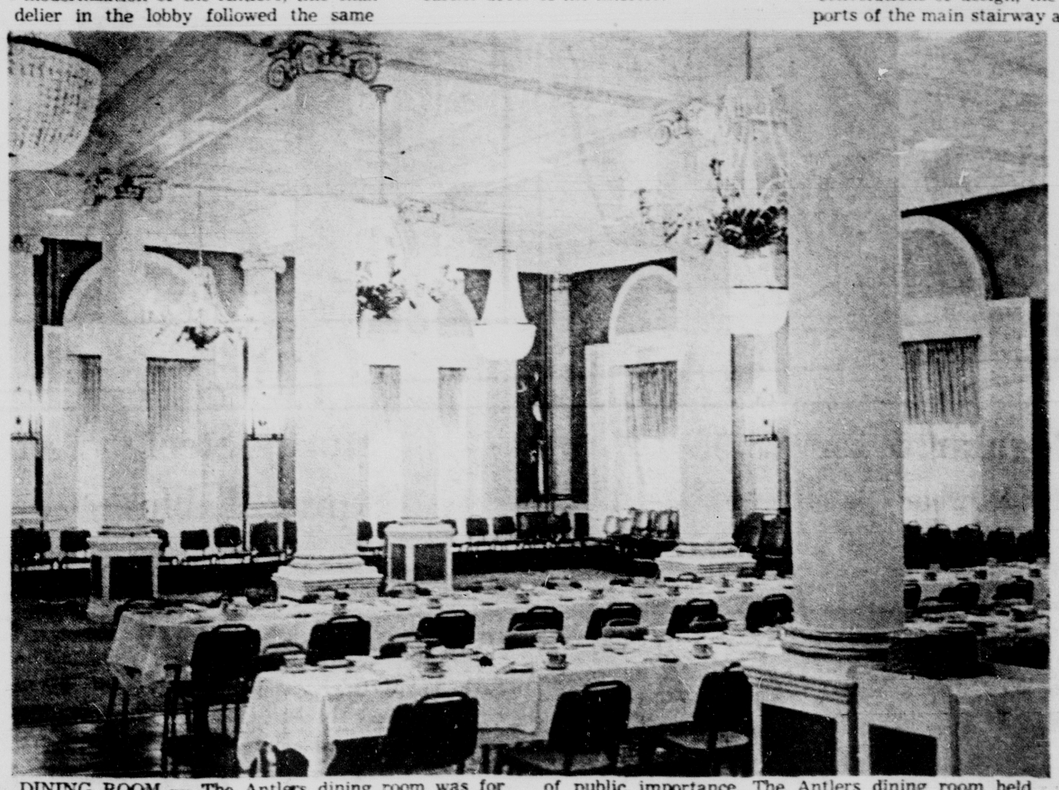


BANISTER — Showing the graceful convolutions of design, the banister supports of the main stairway at the Antlers were of cast-iron, but expressing old-fashioned elegance.

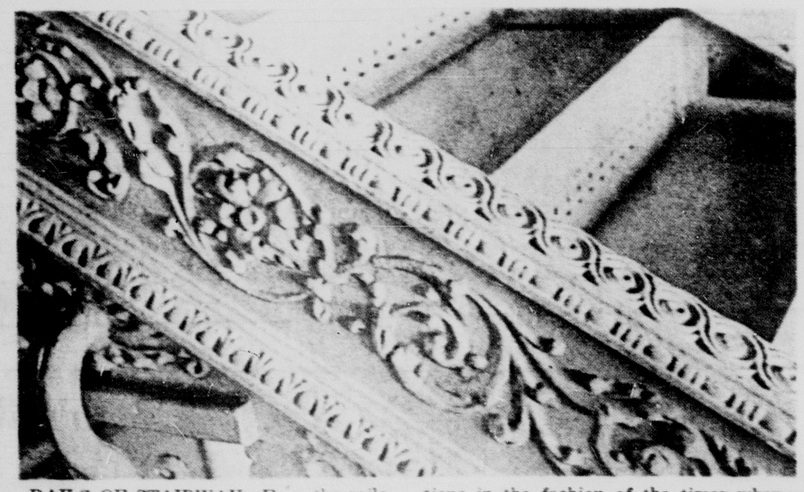


STAIRWELL — A view upward in one of the stairwells showed the floral motif of the banisters at the Antlers.

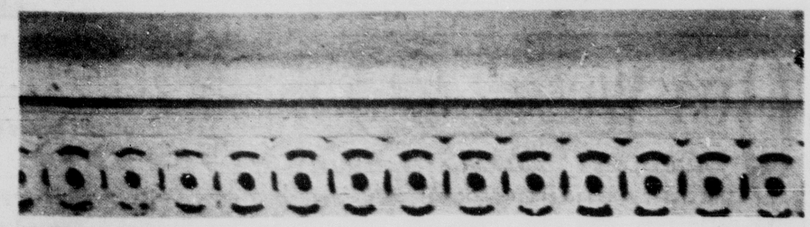
ARCH — The arches of the Antlers portico, one of which is depicted here, provided an atmosphere of old-time elegance, as well served to provide a solid view of the city scene in front, as guests relaxed in the shade of the portico.



DINING ROOM — The Antlers dining room was for many generations one of the main gathering places in Colorado Springs, not only for visitors and guests, but also for civic, business and fraternal groups and events of public importance. The Antlers dining room held many memories of important events in Colorado Springs.



RAILS OF STAIRWAY—Even the rails that supported the stairways at the Antlers were treated with elegant decorations in the fashion of the times when the hotel was built.



MARBLE STEPS — This marble step at the Antlers showed the wear of a half century of climbers.

Gallagher Addresses Girls School Here on Wednesday

John Gallagher, Democratic Candidate for District Judge, addressed the students and faculty of the Colorado Springs School for Girls last Wednesday. His talk was designed to inform the girls about the two party system and its specific application to political campaigns.

The lecture began with a discussion of what a politican really is. In England the words "statesman" and "politician" have synonymous connotations. In the United States, however, the term politician assumes a derogatory definition. A politician, he affirmed, does not deserve this label. For the most part they are responsible individuals whose fraternity's reputation has been adversely affected by the corrupt few.

Gallagher continued by stating what particular groups the respective parties are associated with. He mentioned that the Republicans have traditionally represented business and suburban interests, taking in the wealthy classes of America. On the other hand, the Democrats, aside from championing the cause of labor, have successfully courted the intellectuals whose writings have helped disseminate the Democratic philosophy.

After explaining the partisan outlook of various sections of the country, Gallagher stated that both the parties' campaign strategy was centered about the cracking of opponent's "strongholds." He connected this comment with the importance of the electoral college and the role it plays in the selection of the President. It was conjectured that the system was set up because the fathers of the country felt that only the people directly concerned with the government were qualified to choose a national leader. In only three elections has the college been placed in the position of electing a man who did not receive a majority of the popular vote.

On the local scene, the candidate pointed out that Colorado is confronted with several unique circumstances in this election year. Perhaps the most important one is that the highest contended office on the state slate is that of Supreme Court Justice. Because of this, both parties are hampered, as it is difficult to stir up issues that can be disputed concerning a judgeship.

Another unparalleled situation has been created by recent reapportionment of districts. The Congressional candidates now have to garner votes from areas they have never before been concerned with.

The candidate for District Judge had accepted the invitation of the students' Assembly Committee to address the school. His appearance was coordinated with activities presently being conducted in conjunction with national current events. Two weeks ago Barry Goldwater and Lyndon Johnson were presented for nomination in a mock convention by Heather Cogswell and Anne Clausen, respectively. This week the older girls will be debating specific issues of the presidential campaign. On the first Tuesday in November the school will hold its own election.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD

SITTERS FOR PATIENTS DOMESTIC EMPLOYEES: Services performed by an employee as a companion to a convalescent employer or any member of his household, which services consist of entertaining, caring for the personal needs of, living in the home of, accompanying the convalescent on trips, and any other services necessary for the comfort or well-being of a convalescent, constitute 'domestic service in a private home of the employer' within the meaning of Sec. 3121-(a)(7)(B) of the Federal Insurance Contributions Act. —Further the regulations define a "private home" as a fixed abode of one or more persons. Any shelter used as a dwelling may be considered as a private home; for example, a tent, boat, trailer, or a room, or a suite in a hospital, hotel, sanatorium, or a nursing home.

In view of this one can see that the services of sitters, who are recognized as non-professional women, who provide care for patients in hospitals, nursing and private homes, are under the direction and control of the patient or the nurses and doctors at the hospital or nursing home, and are therefore employees of the convalescent employer for whom they perform service. — Under the above circumstances, the employer is required to deduct 3-5.8 per cent of the wages for social security, if any individual sitter is paid $50 or more in cash wages within a calendar quarter. The employer is further required to render a report on Form 942 within 20 days after the end of the quarter and report their earnings for social security purposes. For further information regarding the reporting of wages I suggest you get in touch with your social security district office at 15 So. Weber, Telephone 633-8793, or contact our office by calling 636-5171. A copy of Publication 14, "Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide" will be mailed to you by either office upon request. — Further employers in reporting should make sure they have each employee's correct social security number. Complete and accurate reports can save you time and money.

Air Command Announces New Systems Program

The Air Defense Command now has an additional means of locating and analysing deficiencies in its weapons and measuring its combat capability. This means is provided through the ADC Firing Program.

The program is conducted at the ADC Weapons Center, Tyndall AFB, Fla. It is controlled by operational test crews, supported by professional engineers and data gathering personnel of the 4750th Test Squadron. They schedule the target drones to be used and brief the air and ground crews participating in the program. After the firing is completed, these experts gather all data, record it on computer cards and send it to ADC headquarters where it is carefully and thoroughly analysed by experienced personnel.

Modern subsonic and supersonic targets are used in the program. Containing their own up-to-date scoring systems, they provide detailed data on each mission.

Although the firing program is primarily for the purpose of providing information on weapons performance, it also provides realistic training for both anr and ground crews. Units participating in the program include Air National Guard units as well as regular ADC squadrons.

The firing progam is a continuous operation providing a means for constant improvement of ADC weapons. The end results are more efficient weapons, higher combat capability and better defense of the North American Continent.

Gabor Rejto Guest Soloist For Concert

The University of Colorado Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Prof. Andor Toth, will give its first concert of the 1964-65 season at 8 p.m. Thursday in Macky Auditorium.

Guest soloist will be Gabor Rejto, cellist with the Alma Trio and chairman of the string department of the University of Southern California School of Music.

Tickets for the performance are $1 each, unreserved, and all proceeds will be used in the College of Music Scholarship Program.

Selections for the concert will include Mozart's "Symphony in D major" Ernst Bloch's "Schelomo (Rhapsodie Hebraique)," and Brahms' "Concerto for Violin and Violoncello, Opus 102." Rejto will perform in the Bloch and Brahms works, and Toth will be violinist in the Brahms work, with Asst. Prof. Wilfred Biel taking over the conductor's baton.

Rejto also will conduct a cello symposium Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday free and open by reservation to cellists throughout the area.

Rejto is a native of Hungary. He has studied with Pablo Casals and has appeared as soloist with many major symphony orchestras throughout Europe and the United States. He has been on the Southern California faculty since 1954 and has appeared with the Hungarian Quartet, which again will be CU's quartet-in-residence the spring semester of this year.

Digest Article Describes Life At the Academy

"A Different Breed of Cat" is a description of the cadets at the Air Force Academy in an article in the current issue of the "Reader's Digest."

The article, written by John G. Hubbell, takes a wide view of the Academy itself, the men who are students and teachers there and of the far-reaching goals of the school.

The birth and development of Esprit de corps in the cadets is discussed as the article delves into the physical and academic requirements demanded of a student at the Academy.

"Each man accepted at the Air Force Academy is one of some 50 applicants," the article says. "Typically, within the 850-man class of 1967 there are 68 who were high school valedictorians."

The physical training is rigorous also, Author Hubbell reports. ". . .each day each man must deliver more than on the previous day — more push-ups and sit-ups, higher rope climbs, more distance running."

Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott, the Academy's dean of faculty, is quoted in the article as saying that academic record and entrance exams are important but that in accepting a man "we give 70-per cent weight to scholarship, 30-per ce to non-academic measure of leadership potential. The Air Force needs the 'whole' man."

The article includes a description of the Academy and the goal of the school. . .that the mission of the Academy is "to produce a hard nucleus of dedicated career officers who can lead effectively on the ground, in the air and into space, and who can also operate successfully in planning rooms and at the world's conference tables."

From 200-250 items of used clothing are tagged for sale each work day in the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center program of rehabilitation for homeless men.

Clothing comes to the Center from contributions of usable discards donated by families in the community. Clothing is sorted, mended and made ready for sale in the Salvation Army Thrift Stores located throughout southern Colorado.

Money from the sale of discards provides a considerable portion of the funds required for operation of the rehabilitation program, according to Major Charles W. Griffin, manager of the Center.

Major Griffin said, "Actually many more than 250 pieces are handled each day. In the process of sorting the incoming clothing, the crew finds some items which are beyond repair and not suitable for resale in our Thrift Stores. Items are not wasted, however, since we bale them and sell them for rags."

In addition to providing funds, used clothing, as well as other articles contributed provide work which is important in therapy for the men enrolled in the program.

According to Major Griffin, the Center is very much in need of contributions of clothing at this time. Demand in Salvation Army Thrift Stores, such as the one at 17 W. Colorado Ave., Colorado Springs has been particularly heavy, especially for warm winter clothing.

The Center is making a special appeal at this time for contributions of children's or adults' outgrown winter clothing. Those who have clothing to donate can call the Salvation Army at 633-4697 in Colorado Springs for at-the-door pickup.

Convenient drop boxes are also laced in various shopping areas for families who are not at home for pick-up service.

Major Griffin emphasized the fact that the Men's Social Service Center operates separately from the regular Salvation Army Corps. The Salvation Army Corps, which provides many services such as help for needy families, Christmas toys for underprivileged children, etc., is supported by the United Fund.

The Center's program of rehabilitation, on the other hand, is supported entirely by contributions of usable items of clothing, furniture, appliances and household articles.

The Center, which accepts men from all Southern Colorado, is not a transient center, but operates a long range program.

Major Griffin cites the self help approach of the Center for the notable success of the program. Beneficiaries are given the opportunity to share in work and social rehabilitation activities which help them face their problems.

The men are often able to learn a new skill or re-learn a former trade and opportunities are provided along these lines. Electrical appliance repair classes are currently being conducted two evenings a week, taught by an experienced craftsman. Upholstering repair skills are also being taught by one of the beneficiaries who is seeking rehabilitation.

Quarterback Server At Mass at Chapel

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Staubach, quarterback on every major All - American football team and winner of both the Heisman and Maxwell trophies last year, is one of the Mass servers for Father Richard Cahill, U.S. Naval Academy Chaplain.

"For a midshipman to miss an hour's sleep almost every weekday morning to attend Mass is a real sacrifice," Father Cahill says in the Catholic Digest. "The schedule at the Academy is a rigorous one and usually doesn't end until midnight."

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — The Times of Rawalpindi said today seven persons were killed and 11 injured when two buses collided 350 miles south of this town.

April in Paris Ball Declared Great Success

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jet Set, bluebloods, French mayors, Hollywood stars and the ordinary rich danced 'til dawn today at one of America's biggest charity affairs, the 13th annual April in Paris ball.

It was neither April nor Paris, but planeloads of decorations, dance bands, dignitaries and drinks made the three ballrooms of the Astor Hotel seem that way.

More than 1,200 persons were pressed into three ballrooms for drinks, a six-course dinner, two fashion shows, a crack at the all-for-charity roulette wheels and dice games, some frenzied Watusi-ing to the discotheque band, and for a sing-along with Sammy Davis Jr.

Much of the party was arranged in Paris by a committee and shipped over a planeload at a time.

For instance, Mrs. Alfred Levitt, in charge of the decor, banked several America-bound planes with ferns and palms as well as 12,000 carnations and 6,000 roses from Paris, many of which adorned the carved wooden urn-holding statues on the tables.

Despite the extravagant show, the ball is expected to net a profit of $200,000 once the chips are counted. Much of the money is to be used by the French hospital of New York and French-American Foundation charities.

Evans Makes Last Campaign Speech Here

Frank Evans, Democratic candidate for Congress, Friday charged his Republican opponent, J. Edgar Chenoweth, with trying to rewrite history in the closing days of the campaign when he denied voting against medical students Loans, Vocational Education and the college student loans.

Evans said that his opponent had denied voting against loans to college and medical students but that the official government record, the Congressional Record, showed that on four separate occasions in the last three years Chenoweth has voted to kill student programs.

Evans explained that the way Chenoweth usually operates is to vote to send a bill back to the committee with instructions to cut out certain parts of it such as the Student Loan part and then when this fails he sometimes votes for the final bill. This allows him to tell the voters he supported Student Loans when in reality voted to kill it, said Evans.

Chenoweth on the Health Professions Assistance Act of 1963 actually voted against the final bill, noted Evans. At the talk Evans emphasized his support of President Johnson's policies for America.

Evans travelled to Trinidad Friday night and will be in Walsenberg tonight and in Pueblo on Sunday.

Cadet Squadron Plans Visit to Sponsor Unit

Members of the Air Force Academy's 2nd Cadet Squadron will visit their sponsoring unit, the 414th Fighter Command, at Oxnard AFB, Calif. Thurhday through Nov. 8.

The visit is being made at the invitation of Col. Roy L. Tweedie, 414th commander.

At Oxnard the cadets will receive a briefing by Colonel Tweedie, tour facilities, and receive flights in Group aircraft.

Such visits are designed to further cadet professional development through observation of activities of operations of Air Force units and to develop interest and appreciation for the Academy and its mission among personnel of sponsoring units.

The world's first postage stamp appeared in 1840, and was issued by Great Britain. Before that time the fee had to be collected in cash from the person who received it.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Satirist Ambrose Bierce once described noise as "the chief product of civilization." Bierce was prone to exaggerate. But there is no doubt that the noise level of our lives has risen alarmingly.

At times, the law must decide how noisy a person may be in his own home. One basic test can be found in the law of nuisance. Is Home Owner A committing a nuisance by making noise? Is Neighbor B entitled to have it stopped?

Oddly enough, both A and B stand on the same foundation the rights of private property. One of those rights, argues A is to do as he pleases on his own premises. B retorts that he is entitled to enjoy his private property in peace and quiet.

How to reconcile the irreconcilable? The degree of loudness is one factor, but only one. Justice is too elusive to be achieved by merely counting decibels. A court must seek out all the special circumstances that give color to the dispute.

For instance, noise is less lawful if made with malice aforethought. One woman was held liable for playing her radio loud and long at an open window, purposely to inflict a maximum of annoyance on the family next door.

Another factor is the ease of abatement. The owner of an incessantly barking dog was ordered to abate the nuisance, the court noting that it was simply a matter of not leaving the dog alone so much.

But noise appropriate to the time and place is usually no nuisance. Thus, courts have declined to interfere with the cackling of hens in a rural district and with evening croquet games that vexed only a single sensitive neighbor.

In another case, a court found no nuisance in the singing of popular songs on the front porch, even though the fastidious couple next door were scandalized. The court said:

"Those who enjoy the modern jazz cannot be restrained from producing it because it offends he classical ear."

Noise may not be the chief product of civilization. But civilization has certainly made more of a din less of a sin. One court, denying a home owner's complaint against the Little League baseball games on a nearby lot, had this rueful comment:

Today we not only have modern conveniences but also modern inconveniences."

ANTIQUE CAR TOUR

LONDON (UPI)—More than 300 Americans were arriving from Paris Saturday to attend the Royal Automobile Club's commemoration run for antique cars.

The Americans, members of the Antique Automobile Club of America and their families, have been on a two-week tour of Europe.

For the first time in several years, however, there will be no U.S. entries in the run, which starts from Hyde Park Sunday.

Schedule Changes Made at Carson

Changes in schedules at the Ft. Carson U.S. Army Hospital and the Ft. Carson Thrift Shop will affect military dependents in the area especially on Monday.

The hospital pediatrics clinic will be closed all day on Monday because of remodeling, according to Capt. Robert Montgomery, chief of pediatrics. Routine Immunizations are cancelled for that day.

Emergency pediatric cases only will be seen on Ward 9 on Monday.

Sales hours on Mondays and Thursdays at the Ft. Carson Thrift Shop, Bldg. 6120 have been extended from 10 a. m. to 2 p.m. and on the first Thursday of each month from 10 a. m. to 8 p.m.

Consignments will be accepted each Monday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The Ft. Carson Thrift Shop welcomes all shoppers, military and civilian, to inspect its international selection of merchandise. Profits are used for a variety of welfare and youth projects including the various dependent's services at the U. S. Army Hospital which serves much of the military community in the Pikes Peak region.

Prices are set by the seller except in the case of donated or possessed merchandise. Women staffing the shop are volunteers.

Springs Patrolmen Issue Safety Awards

Two Colorado Springs State Patrolmen last week issued commendations for safe defensive driving.

Patrolman Charles W. Hubbard issued a commendation to Alexander Brown, 1020 Valencia St., Albuquerque, N.M., and Patrolman Andrew G. Martin issued one to Howard Hodgman, Conch Key, Coral Gables, Fla. They are nominated for the October award of the Denver Post and the Denver U.S. National Bank.

Guest Speaker Set for Annual Realtors Meeting

"What is Your Responsibility" will be the topic of an address by Henry L. Kirkpatrick, president of the Colorado Association of Real Estate Boards, Denver, at the 63rd annual meeting of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors Monday, at the Alamo Hotel.

He is expected to urge realtors to take an active part in community civic life, and to comment on gaining greater professionalism.

Kirkpatrick received his B.A. degree from the University of Colorado. He lived in Alamosa in the San Luis Valley for 14 years, where he had his own real estate office and served on the City Council for four years. He was a Navy Lieutenant in the Pacific during World War II; a Commander of Post No. 113 of the American Legion in 1946 in Alamosa. He was Colorado Department Vice Commander of the American Legion and State Membership Chairman. He was also formerly associated with A. D. Wilson and VanSchaack & Co., as sales manager.

Kirkpatrick opened hiw own office seven years ago, handling commercial and income properties. He is a member of the Appraisal Institute (M.A.I.) and served two years as Regional Vice President of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers. Kirkpatrick served six years as Director of the Colorado Association of Real Estate Boards; six years as Director of the Denver Board of Realtors; 1960 President of the Denver Board of Realtors; 1963 Realtor of the Year of the Denver Board; as Vice President of CAREB of the Central District, and served as Director of the International Traders Club for two years. He also served as State Chairman for the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers and is now a Director of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Sea-Going Sarge Retires at AFA After 30 Years

A sea-going combat infantryman wound up more than 30 years service at the Air Force Academy this week.

M. Sgt. Leon B. Parsons, NCOIC, Photographic Operations, "went to sea" while stationed at Ft. Jay, New York. He served as a Boatswain's Mate on the Governor's Island Ferry prior to the outbreak of World War II.

The sergeant began his military career April 5, 1932 when he enlisted in the Regular Army. He served with Company K, 3rd Battalion, 21st Regiment, of the Hawaiian Division, based at Schofield Barracks.

After re-enlisting in 1937, Sgt. Parsons moved to France Field in the Canal Zone where he was assigned to the Quartermaster Detachment as a stationary engineer and utility foreman.

In 1939 he was transferred to Ft. Jay, serving first on the ferry boat and later as chauffeur for the commanding general of the First Army.

As a member of the 76th Division, Sgt. Parsons spent from November 1944 to December 8, 1945, in Europe. He was an ammunition train truck-master during combat operations in France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany.

Prior to joining the Academy staff Sept. 14, 1957, Sgt. Parsons served at New Rochelle, N.Y., Mitchell AFB, N.Y., Ent AFB, and Lowry AFB, and in the Philippines.

Golf Links At Ft. Carson Reopens Today

Ft. Carson's improved nine-hole golf course, and gold club will reopen today, after extensive rehabilitation.

First to tee off at 10 a.m. will be Maj. Gen. Mervin M. Magee of North American Air Defense Command. Lt. Col. Harold D. Rundle of the Carson Hospital, Col. Harold F. Donovan, post chaplain, and Capt. Troyce L. Raynes of Support Command.

General Magee was 9th Division Artillery commander and assistant 5th Infantry Division commander at Ft. Carson in 1956 and 1957 and helped formulate plans for the golf course.

Maj. Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, 5th Intfantry Division (Mechanized) and Ft Carson commander whose interest and support resulted in the improvements during October, will play later in in the day.

Improvements made on the course include better greens and fairways, a roofed-in patio, bar. New drapes and paintings have improved the lounge.

The course is located one mile south of Butts Army Airfield. Green fees will be extended to include time lost during the rehabilitation, according to Bob Frey, club manager.

The fee for nine holes is $1, for 18 holes it is $1.50.

The reseeding of the golf course was begun in mid-September.

Civil Service Exams Are Set For Nov. 19

A written civil service examination to bolster the eligibility list for the Colorado Springs police department will be given 7 p.m. Nov. 19 in City Auditorium.

C. L. Heitman Jr., city personnel director, said subsequent physical and oral exams would be given to successful applicants.

Only a few names remain on the current civil service eligibility list, Heitman said, and some additional police are to be added to the department next year.

Starting salary for a police officer is $370 per month, with automatic raises to $510 per month to start the fourth year.

Applicants must be between 21 and 30 years of age, at least 5 feet 9 inches tall, weigh at least 140 pounds and have completed at least two years of high school, but GED certificates will be accepted in lieu of high school credits.

Applicants must be able to furnish the personnel director with a copy of his birth certificate, high school credits and military discharge if any. These will be returned.

Application forms and other information may be obtained at Heitman's office on the top floor of City Hall.

Bible Distribution Said Unconstitutional

DENVER (AP)— Distribution of Bibles through the public school system as offered by the Gideon Society would be a violation of both the Colorado and U.S. Constitutions, Atty. Gen. Duke W. Dunbar, said Friday in an informal opinion.

The controversial issue developed in Pueblo where the Gideon Society proposed to donate 15,000 Bibles.

Wesley Van Camp, president of the Pueblo School Board, challenged the action but another member, William M. Lewallan Jr., said "the nation is pretty sick when we have to keep the Bible out of the schools."

Dunbar referred to a decision from his office in 1956 for the State Board of Education.

He said then that distribution of Bibles in public schools would violate privisions of Article II, Section 4 of the Colorado Constitution relating to religious freedom.

Four Candidates Won Seats in Primary Battle

There is one group of local candidates that will not be worrying much about the results Tuesday night.

They are the ones who won victories in their own party in the Sept. 8 primary election and now have no opposition in the general election.

These are the candidates and their positions:

Robert L. Russel is Republican candidate for district attorney for the Fourth Judicial District.

Russel defeated Norman Walton in the primary. The Democrats did not put up a candidate this year, and so Russel only had to go through the motions of a general election campaign, like a baseball player jogging around the bases after swatting the ball out of the park. He presently is an assistant district attorney.

Patrick M. Hinton, Republican candidate for western division judge in the 4th Judicial District.

Hinton twice has had opposition in the race so far, but now has none.

Hinton is at this time the district attorney, being appointed to the post about two years ago when the elected DA, Don Higby, resigned from office.

When the political season opened and Hinton tossed his hat into the ring, he was opposed by another Republican, who later withdrew rather than contest with Hinton in the primary. So Hinton had no opposition in the party.

For a time it looked like he would be unopposed all the way — then the Democrats put up a candidate and Hinton got ready for a general election campaign.

However, the Democratic candidate withdrew and entered the eastern division race instead — just as the Republican candidate had done — and Hinton again had no opposition.

Robert E. Cole, and Jack Roeser, Republican candidates for county judge. Two are to be elected.

Three Republicans sought nomination earlier this year, but Cole and Roeser won the primary election and now are on the ballot and unopposed as the Democrats were unable to field any candidates.

LEGISLATOR DIES

BARRE, Vt. (UPI)—Charles A. Plumley, a former Norwich University president who served Vermont for 17 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, died Saturday. He was 89.

Elected to the state's lone seat in the House in a special election in 1934, Plumley was re-elected later that year and every two years thereafter through 1948. He sat in the House longer than any other Vermonter in history. He was assistant Republican when he retired in 1951.

Professor Silver Plans Lecture To Local Group

James W. Silver, professor of history at the University of Mississippi, will deliver the seventh annual Abbott Memorial Lecture at Colorado College Nov. 10.

The lectures were established in 1958 by the widow of the late Dr. W. Lewis Abbott, professor of business, economics and sociology at CC for three decades.

Professor Abbott, a native of Philadelphia, recived his Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1920, he came to CC as head of the department of economics and sociology. He previously taught at the University of Pennsylvania and at Hamline University, and in the summer schools of the University of Colorado, Colorado State College and Washington State College.

Professor Abbott authored two books, "Competition and Combination in the Wholesale Grocery Trade" and "Child Labor and Farm Life in the Arkansas Valley." He was killed in 1949.

Florence High Band Receives Superior Rating

The Florence High School Band received a Superior overall rating at the Band Conclave at Adams State College in Alamosa recently.

The band was directed by Cletus Hill, who was assisted on the trip by Guidance Director Frank Morelli and Mrs. Cecil Stainbrook.

The 21 bands, from over the state, held a mass rehearsal Saturday morning before they all participated in the college Homecoming parade. The rating of the bands took place downtown after the parade, points for judging being on spacing, playing and marching precision.

An election display was presented downtown by the 21 bands enmasse. They formed "Vote Nov. 3. U. S. A." in a most colorful extravaganza; the different instrument groups forming certain letters and parts in precision marching. This feat was performed a second time at the stadium, half-time of the football game, before a crowd of 7,000 people.

Women control the spending of up to 90 cents of every household dollar, according to economists.

Pikes Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

The autumn that I was 10 years old and going to Cheyenne school a small boy with a slate and pencil came to begin his first year at school. He was Harry Bruening He had no book so the teacher suggested that his father buy him a First Reader. He had fallen in love with the teacher Miss Mira Thomas and also with me.

We had to buy our books in those days and I think that because he came without any book at all was because his father did not know what books to get. So when the teacher suggested that his father buy him a book he, Bruening, smiled across the room at me and said to the teacher "Oh I can use Dora's book."

That was a compliment I have never forgotten nor one that suited me better. Teacher explained to him that since my book was a Third Reader he would have to have a First Reader of his own. Harry was a tiny little boy, with blond hair and blue eyes and everybody loved him.

One day Katie Buck with no reason at all, as we were getting ready to go home in the afternoon, put her hands on each side of his head and lifted him up from the floor. She let him stand again and poor little Harry cried. We said "Why, Katie, why did you do that?" She said "I don't know what made me do that. I did it without thinking." The next autumn, a year later because we changed teachers every year, Miss Lily Sweetland was our teacher. Harry was so brokenhearted at not having Miss Thomas again that he cried.

After I had finished High School and began my first year of teaching school at Cheyenne I found Harry Bruening was to be a pupil. He had grown in the meantime to a slender boy of 16, earnest, honest and as fine as they make them. In the school was his younger sister Emma who was about five years younger than he and whose principal idea seemed to be to take care of her two younger brothers who were also in school, Alvin and Arthur.

Arthur was a little boy, timid, and pretty as a picture. When I asked him his name, not knowing the child at all, he was so frightened that he had to say in a very low voice, after swallowing about twice, "I am 'Archie'."

I found in the meantime that the Bruening boys mother had died and that the children had been for some time living in Missouri and also at the home here with a different housekeeper as Mr. Bruening was anxious to give them a home here even though he had to have hired help. The family lived about a mile below the school house and the boys and Emma walked to school every day with such lunches in their dinner pails as the hired help took a notion to give them. There was one woman, a Mrs. Gibbs, a widow who stayed with them several years and they were very happy with her.

After a winter or two in California and Arizona in search of health Emma died. The boys felt that her mission in life had always been to look after her two younger brothers. She was 28 when she passed away. The three brothers all lived near the old home on Cheyenne Road which was number 222 Cheyenne Road and the house still stands. All three boys married and have several children apiece. At present Alvin is the only one living.

Their father, John H. Bruening, wondered several times if he should marry again but as he told me he was always afraid that the woman he might put into the home would think more of herself then of his children. He was always interested in the school and for a number of years was, with my father, a member of the school board whose business it was each year to select a good teacher even though it seemed unnecessary to have a different teacher each winter. Father said it seemed as if every teacher they hired came here from Kansas and got married as soon as possible.

Quite a number of acres, I do not know just how many, Mr Bruening gave to Mr. Stratton to allow him to run his new street car line across his fields. Like my father and John Wolfe they gave the land without any compensation what-so-ever. And for that reason it seems to me that road called Stratton Boulevard should have been named Bruening Boulevard. The word Bruening has always meant honesty, uprightness, and everything that stood for the best.

Alvin Bruening lives at 302 Cheyenne Boulevard. While in school Alvin seemed to be a leader among the younger children and organized a baseball team. One day Mrs. Wolfe was visiting the school and since it was the noon hour Alvin and his baseball team thundered into the school room with Alvin ahead of them I remember saying to him "Why are you, the captain of that team, coming in here and making such a noise?" He took the rebuke in his usual good nature and herded his team out of doors at once.

Just the other day, he brought up a little old book in which Emma had written a number of songs, some of which I had taught her as a child. We enjoyed looking over the book and trying what voices we had left in singing the songs again. Alvin said: "Maybe you think I am not enjoying this," and I agreed with him even though the music might have been entirely lacking I remember one song "Mill May" and the other one "The Birdies Ball" long since having given way to the more modern tunes on the radio and the television. Maybe Lawrence Welk had heard us he would have put us on his Pioneer Program. Let us hope that he never hears of us nor of our old time songs for fear it would run out all the modern music of the day.

Mr. Bruening was also a member of the Brookside water company and for years was called upon by every plumber who wanted to find a pipe whose location was in doubt. It seemed as if Mr. Bruening knew the location of every pipe almost to the inch. And whenever we saw the plumber digging for a pipe and saw Mr. Browning's Model T nearby we knew that the plumbers troubles were over. Sometimes it seems as if some of those old

Cadets From Two Schools to Meet In Near Future

Jesus Alfredo Arrisieno Goyenechea and Ken Crist differ in many ways — physical appearance, personal background, schooling etc. — but between Sunday and Wednesday the two young men will find they have a great deal in common.

Jesus is a cadet at the Argentine School of Military Aviation at Cordoba; Ken, a Second Classman at the U. S. Air Force Academy.

The two will room together in Vandenberg Hall, the cadet dormitory, during a four - day visit by students from the Argentine academy.

Host cadets are picked for their ability to speak Spanish.

The annual visit permits the Academy staff and Cadet Wing to return hospitality extended by the South American country and its school of aviation during summer field trips by Second Classmen.

A total of 89 Argentine cadets, 20 officers, a civilian faculty member, and a newspaper correspondent will arrive at Peterson Field about 4 p.m. Sunday. The Academy Band will play the Argentine National Anthem upon arrival of the visitors.

During their stay the cadets will attend a Planetarium show, tour the Chapel and Gym, receive briefings on the Dean of Faculty, Commandmant of Cadets, and Department of Athletics operations, attend classes with their hosts, and visit NORAD

Insurance companies estimate they will pay $17.5 million in claims for property damage caused by Hurricane Dora, not including automobile losses or damage to small crafts and yachts.

Viet Nam Admits Cambodia Intrusion

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam admitted today to a second aerial intrusion on the Cambodian village of Anlong Krey but denied that U.S. Air Force jets had strafed the border village.

A foreign ministry communique quoted by the official Viet Nam press blamed the attack a week ago on mapping errors. It added that the government accepted responsibility and pledged to pay compensation.

India Students Stage Leftist Rioting

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Student riots in India mushroomed today into a leftist-backed assault on Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's troubled government.

Reports from the eastern city of Bhubaneswar indicated at least half of Orissa State has been hit by looting and arson. Police stations, government buildings and the homes of officials have been attacked.

Communists and members of the opposition Samyukata Socialist party were reported to be actively supporting the agitation in at least six of the state's districts.

Four battalions of troops have been dispatched to support Orissa police. Soldiers are patrolling the streets in the city of Cuttack.

Reports reaching New Delhi put the death toll at three killed by police. But much of the rioting is in remote areas and there are fears the toll eventually may increase.

Judge Allows Defendant to Change Plea

Robert Levi Andrews also known as James Alonzo Daniel was allowed by District Court Judge William M. Calvert Friday to change his previous guilty plea to one of innocent.

Andrews, 21, Panama City, Fla. has been charged with forgery and is alleged to have issued a $47.53 check Aug. 17 with intent to defraud the J. C. Penney Co. It was signed "Charles R. Andrews."

On Sept. 11 he pleaded innocent and trial was set for Nov. 24 but on Oct. 9 he changed his plea to guilty.

Defense attorney Robert Dunlap told Judge Calvert Friday that Probation Officer Jack Livingston wanted Andrews to undergo a psychological evaluation before going on with the pre-sentence investigation.

Andrews did not want this and requested immediate sentencing, said Dunlap, "with no further assistance from the probation officer."

The judge refused to pass sentence under such circumstances so Dunlap then requested permission to change the plea back to innocent.

The attorney told the court Andrews insisted pleading guilty Oct. 9 and gave up any chance of acquital as he believed he could get an earlier disposition of his case. The plea was entered, said Dunlap despite the attorney's feelings that he had a good defense.

Judge Calvert then ordered the guilty plea to be set aside and the innocent plea re-entered. Trial date was re-instated for Nov. 24.

to John Frederick, superintendent of the Gas Division.

The new assistant water superintendent is a native of Colorado, spent most of his life in Colorado Springs. He was formerly associated with the Colorado Department of Public Health as a water specialist. He was graduated from the University of Colorado in 1959 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering and received his master of science degree in sanitary engineering and public health from the University of Minnesota in 1963.

Bailey holds a 1st Lieutenant's commission in the Army Reserves and was on active duty at Fort Riley, Kansas. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey reside at 402 Wilhelmia and have three children.

The new assistant gas superintendent is an native of Nebraska and was in the gas engineering section of Public Service of Colorado prior to accepting his present position. Young also was engaged in oil exploration in Wichita, Kansas, prior to his transfer to Colorado in 1954.

He was graduated from Kansas State University in 1949 with a bachelor of science degree in engineering geology.

Young served four years in the Air Force during World War II as a bomber pilot.

Mr. and Mrs. Young have four sons and the family will move to Colorado Springs in the near future.

Mental Health Group Plans For Observance

The Joint Colorado Association for Mental Health — Colorado State Hospital Operation Friendship Planning Committee have completed their plans for Operation Friendship, 1964. At a meeting in the offices of the El Paso County Mental Health Association a new format was decided upon — that of decentralizing Operation Friendship. Each geographical division of the hospital will host those Mental Health Association chapters located in the area which it serves. The public is invited and those from the Colorado Springs area will tour Central Psychiatric Institute and the Geriatrics Division on the north campus.

Luncheon will be served at 11 a.m. in the separate division cafeterias at a cost of $1 per person. Following the luncheon there will be a brief welcoming program. A tour of the area will be conducted.

Those interested in participating in Operation Friendship are asked to call the Mental Health Association at — 633-5306.

Three Sentenced for Slaying Instructor

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Edward A. Tamm Friday sentenced three young men to life prison terms for the slaying and robbery last year of Oberlin College English instructor Newell Ellison Jr., 27, who was shot and robbed of $31 near his home on the night of Aug. 25, 1963.

Sentenced were R.C. Earle, 19; William E Huff, 20; and James C. Long, 19, all of Washington.

A jury which heard the case recommended last June 24 that the three Negro defendants draw life sentences.

Red Cross Man Gets New Post But Same Tours

The American Red Cross has placed a new assistant field director, Marion White, at Ft. Carson. He is replacing John McGowan who is now at the University of Denver on a Red Cross scholarship.

White has been with the Red Cross since 1957 and has just finished a 4-year tour in Schweinfurt, Germany.

Originally from Memphis, Tenn., White is a graduate of LeMoyne College of that city. On a state grant scholarship he took a year of post - graduate work in the School of Social Work at Atlanta University.

During this time his work in the "field" was with Red Cross as a case worker trainee. In completion of that academic year, the Korean conflict was at its height and White was drafted into the Army.

He took his basic training at Ft. Riley and was then shipped to Germany. His first assignment stateside was at Ft. Carson where he remained until his discharge in 1957.

Once more a civilian, he joined the Red Cross national staff. Again he was sent to Ft. Riley for orientation and training. Again his first overseas tour was in Germany and, again, upon his return he was assigned to Ft. Carson.

Pedestrian Death Rate Goes Higher

Pedestrian deaths account for two-fifths of all urban deaths, about 42 per cent of all pedestrian deaths occur at intersections, 41 per cent between intersections. 17 per cent occur while walking, playing, or standing in roadway.

From Jan. 1, 1964 through Oct. 26, 1964, pedestrian violations contributed to 30 vehicle-pedestrian accidents and 30 pedestrian deaths.

As a pedestrian one should cross with the green light, or the "walk" signal, cross only on marked crosswalks, watch for turning cars, and carry or wear something white at night to help drivers see him.

As a driver, yield to the pedestrian in a crosswalk, stop behind the crosswalk, and slow down for all intersections.

Current Books

John Fetler, Book Editor

"D'Artagnan: The Ultimate Musketeer," by Geoffrey F. Hall and Joan Sanders (Houghton Mifflin $3.95): An assembly of the known facts about the principal character of Alexandre Dumas' "Musketeer" cycle, a real person whose experiences were nearly as exciting as those Dumas invented for him.

His real name was Charles M. de Batz-Castlemore. He followed the example of two older brothers in adopting their mother's maiden name of d'Artagnan, probably for reasons of euphony as much as because her family had a considerably more solid claim to nobility than the de Batz clan.

He was an able soldier, a resourceful spy and a loyal servant of Kings Louis XIII and XIV (and of Jules Cardinal Mazarin, who served as premier under both kings).

A substantial amount of documentary evidence, including official orders and private letters, proves the existence of this remarkable man.

An Anglo-American team collaborated to produce this book, which probably should be called a research report rather than a biography. Geoffrey M. Hall, an Englishman with a long time interest in 17th-century France, collected the facts and Joan Sanders an American, wrote the book.

"The Pretty Penny," by J D. Scott (Harcout, Brace & World $3.95): A civilized thriller offering a possible answer to an interesting question: What does an Organization Man do when his back is to the wall, not in the Executive Suite but in the middle of the Libyan Desert?

Philip Foster, a middle-aging civil engineer, had what seemed a solid position with a big corporation when he was suddenly packed off on a made-up mission by a hostile superiod and then advised that he might as well resign.

Foster was, however, a special case. He had assumed the middle-class coloration which is so important in Britain, but he had grown up in a tough working-class district of London and he was used to fighting on his feet.

When the bottom fell out of his mature life, he had two things going for him — a raffish ex-RAF ace named Kearns who had connections in the international smuggling set, and a load of submachine guns which were at least mildly warm if not exactly hot.

In the jungles of the chaotic Congo, the temperature of the tommy guns increased rapidly. And Capt. Malla Ljusdal, a beautiful Swedish army medic whose emergency U.N. mission threw her in with Foster and Kearns, wasn't as cool as she looked.

"The Pretty Penny" is an exciting adventure story, keyed to the headlines more closely than the author can have expected. It also has an unusual dimension of character development.

"Russia, My Native Land," by Gregory P. Tschebotarioff (McGraw-Hill, $6.95): The author is a civil engineer, Princeton professor, and expert on soil mechanics. Part of this book concerns his distinguished present-day career. He was chosen to visit the Soviet Union in 1959 as an exchange group member and his observations are balanced and wise. But the bulk of the book deals with Tschebotarioff's exciting past as an officer in a Don Cossack unit fighting the Red Army in the Russian civil war. As the well-educated son of a Tsarist officer, the author moved in the top circles of the Whites (his mother was a friend of the Tsar's daughters). He served as interpreter and staff officer to the Don Cossack Ataman or chieftain, Gen. P. N. Krassnov. But in the changing fortunes of the civil war, there was little rear-echelon duty, and Tschebotarioff's career included several close brushes with death, escapes in disguise, and other adventures. From all these accounts emerges a human story of the suffering and cost of the civil war.

"Anyone Got a Match?," by Max Shulman (Harper & Row $4.95): Shulman, one of America's leading exceptions to George Kaufman's rule that "Satire is what closes Saturday night," swings his slapstick in all directions in his new novel.

In addition to colleges and community life, subjects to which he has paid his respects before, the matters he lampoons here include television, interracial relations and the cigarettes-cancer controversy.

His pivotal character (though far from his hero) is 75-year-old Jefferson Tatum, the cigarette magnate who struck back by hiring an imposing stable of scientific experts to prove that food and water can cause cancer, too.

The characters revolving around Tatum include his son Virgil, who would like to transform the family university from a football factory into a seat of learning; Ira Shapian, the television executive who wishes he had the integrity to give up his $3,000-a-week salary; Shapian's sultry wife Polly, and his once-every-18-years mistress, "Boo" Cwens.

The technicians who thicken the plot include Dr. Clara Silenko, a crusader against pesticides, and Dr. Andrew McAndrews, a Nobel-prize physician who thinks a little adulteration is not necessarily a bad thing.

The diverse motives of these various people get all knotted up in a television show a week before Christmas which — under Shapian's deft direction — explodes in a number of unexpected directions.

"Anyone Got a Match?" is a very funny book, but it also makes some telling comments on current American life, as satire should.

Agrippa's Daughter," by Howard Fast (Doubleday, $4.95): Fast's literary fertility has been evident in many ways, most recently in the Hollywood spectacular Spartacus.

He has prodced another Spartacus of sorts in this historical novel built around Berenice Basagrippa, great-granddaughter of King Herod the Great and daughter of the last strong king of Israel.

Much will be made of Berenice, her loves, vices and passions, as it should be, for Fast has depicted her as a strong, vivid and human character.

But more should be made of Fast's outline of history in the Middle East.

Fast is a superb storyteller, a historian of mention. "Agrippa's Daughter" does him proud on both counts.

"Dallas Justice," by Melvin M. Belli with Maurice C. Carroll (McKay $5.50): What a congressman might call an "extension of remarks." — a fully detailed account of his unsuccessful defense of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee H. Oswald.

The Ruby case was a weird one to defend. Certainly, never in history had a murder been witnessed by so many people; and the emotional tension generated in Dallas by the assassination of President Kennedy inevitably affected the feelings of everyone concerned.

On the plus side, Belli — an old hand in the employment of medical evidence — can rarely have had as neat a medical case to present. It was one of those rare occasions when four doctors, a Ph.D. psychologist and three M.D.'s agreed right down the line about a defendant's condition.

"Dallas Justice" is an interesting exposition of trial strategy and tactics, buttressed by extensive excerpts from the court record. Appendices include a full autopsy report on Oswald and documents supporting the argument that Ruby probably killed him on an irrational impulse.

It is also, of course, an indictment of peculiar legal practices in the Texas city, but here Belli speaks more in sorrow than in the anger he displayed at the trial. He says he wrote of Dallas "in a spirit of constructive and sympathetic criticism."

"Not Under Oath," by John Kieran (Houghton Mifflin $5.00): John Kieran is known to millions from the days of Information Please, when, flanked by Franklin P. Adams and Oscar Levant, he astounded radio audiences week after week with the breath of his knowledge. This book, a rambling autobiography, written under the terms described in its title, does two things: it tells about aspects of Keeran's career that the average Information Please listener probably didn't know, and in this telling it helps explain why Kieran knew (and knows) so much about so many subjects. Son of the president of New York City's Hunter College, Kieran tried apple farming, running a boat concession in Central Park, ditch digging, and assorted other occupations before landing with the New York Times as a reporter. It was not long before he was the paper's sports columnist, and this job brought him in contact with the personalities as well as the facts and figures he would later recall. Kieran's other career began at about the same time he became an observer of nature and later, with study and coaching from experts, a writer on birds and plant life.

THESE ARE ALL THE ACCESSORIES YOU WILL NEED FOR YOUR SONY TV

If someone loves you enough, and you get a Sony TV for Christmas, we will furnish the chain and pad lock so you can keep it tied down.
If you don't you probably will never get to see it as it will end up on the kitchen sink with mother, or, up in the kids' room on the floor.
Sony has so many uses around the house it can be hard to find.
It even works on batteries, or in your car. So take it anywhere.
It's there when you need it and out of sight when you don't. When you've suffered a massive overdose of TV you can stick it in the drawer.
The Sony isn't a console with a handle. It weighs only 8 pounds. If you must have TV for dinner, you can just plop it right next to the mashed potatoes.
The Sony portable makes watching easier, and not watching easier.
Who knows? Someday it might even replace the portable dinner.

GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH

Your Freedom Newspaper

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Economic Future

Economic observers are almost universally in agreement at the moment. They say that we are in a period of balanced expansion and that things look real good on the economic horizon. The degree of agreement here is unusual. In ordinary years we are accustomed to a minority view as well as a majority outlook. Today, economic observers, professional and amateur, agree substantially that economic factors have never been better.

First of all, there is a note of optimism in respect to the recent tax cut. It was feared by a number of forecasters that the sudden retention of dollars that would have been wrested from consumers under prior tax laws, would go into the market to bid prices up.

The fact is that consumers used many of those dollars in general to pay off debts or to make new savings and investments.

Thus, U.S. consumer prices, although still rising slowly, are rising less rapidly than in most other countries.

Of course, inflation is still with us. The money supply is being expanded at a rather steady rate. As of June of this year something better than $155 billions was in ordinary circulation, the highest figure ever reached in this nation. A year ago at the same time, something just under $150 billions was changing hands.

Also, since 1959, total compensation per employe manhour continues to ride ahead of output per manhour, thus indicating a permanently invoked devaluation of the dollar and a shrinking productivity.

To offset this trend, certainly negative, is the fact that consumer demand remains high and production is still large enough in much of the economy to stimulate industrial expansion.

Viewed against other national economies in the world, our money supply, our prices and our wages have all risen less rapidly, leading toward balance and stability.

A most cheerful note is found in the fact that capital investment is continuing to move upward. It certainly has not reached the proportions that it had a decade earlier. But capital spending is up 21 per cent over the same kind of outlay in 1963.

At a national level, construction of new buildings is slackening. However, there are bright spots, such as Colorado Springs, where new construction is booming.

The view of economists respecting the future is invariably colored by predictions concerning the outcome of the election. With conditions reported as being favorable, there is normally a tendency for the electorate holding office.

We were enchanted, however, when the Chase Manhattan Bank, nothing if not conservative, commented that a review of the record shows amazingly little direct connection between the state of business and the outcome of elections.

We are inclined to agree. The economy is primary and political affairs invariably secondary. But many people do not know this and continue to imagine that it is the tail which wags the dog.

To quote from Chase Manhattan: "The odds since 1912 appear to favor slow growth or recession in the year following a presidential election. In eight of the 13 periods, growth was either below a normal 3 per cent or there was a recession. However, this is probably nothing more than a statistical oddity.

"Forces making for the business cycle have been so strong as generally to overwhelm political shifts. This is not to say that political factors are unimportant — have played a key role in shaping our economic history. But, in the short run, there appears to be little relationship between elections and the state of business."

We would suggest, both on the grounds of the observers at Chase, and on an examination of history, that economic conditions frequently inspire political reaction, not the reverse. Politicians do not lead in bringing in a desirable state of affairs. The state of affairs exists and the politicians do their best to take advantage of it to further their own ends and interests.

But it is always wise, and especially so in times when virtually all the indices are favorable, to be alert for signs of trouble. Market drops occur from heights, not from low spots. And there is a good deal of merit in a contrary view insofar as general economic trends are concerned.

When few are in a buying mood, is a good time to buy, generally. And when few are selling, a sale could be important and timely.

The Truth Shall Make You Free

By RUFUS L. PORTER

The founding fathers believed that in order for Americans to remain free they must be educated. They believed that if every person would learn to read and write (become literate), they would be in better position to recognize the truth and could not be so easily fooled by conniving demagogues. Thomas Jefferson was a great espouser of the cause of education for the masses. It is even claimed that he "fathered" the present educational (?) system in use in America today. And, indeed, he did found the state-supported University of Virginia.

My encyclopedia (Columbia) says of Jefferson: He had complete faith that a people enlightened by free education could under democratic-republican institutions govern themselves better than under any other system.

Now, I do not believe that Jefferson was fool enough to believe in "free" education. And he was not the father of our present system of so-called "free-compulsory" education, a paradox if ever there was one. That dubious honor goes to Horace Mann.

But let us examine the results of the almost 100 per cent literacy that has been attained in this country during the past century. 100 years ago, when there was a greater percentage of illiterates than literates in these United States, they enjoyed a greater amount of freedom than we have today. In fact, it isn't hard to prove that the curtailment of our liberties began after we became more than 90 per cent literate.

This would seem to disprove the axiom that "the truth shall make you free." It either means that, or it means that for all our education, we have not been learning the truth. But a man who is really educated is satisfied only with the truth and bends all his efforts toward finding it. That leaves us with the conclusion that we may have been trained in certain pursuits, but we certainly have not been educated. The truth shall make us free — but we won't find the truth in government schools.

I believe the founding fathers (educated men) were right in their belief that an educated people could, and would, remain a free people. The trouble is that the word education was perverted by the politicians to mean compulsory training in government schools supported by compulsion. Education was supplanted by indoctrination. Great care is exercised in these governmental halls of learning to protect the students and scholars from the truth. Isn't the government's role protection?

And yet it cannot be denied that reading is a boon to mankind, no matter how it was learned. And if a person has the ambition to pursue the truth after leaving the government schools, he may eventually become educated — at least enough to recognize that he is not free. And if enough people do follow knowledge to the edge of wisdom, enough of truth may be learned so that they may become free. That is, demand their freedom, and make their demand stick.

Many years ago, in a poem I am not proud of, I wrote a line that, I believe, is worth repeating. It goes like this:

"Freedom's a dream, remote as a star."

But I believe the remoteness can be overcome by truth. Freedom is attainable by man, but he will have to "know the truth" before he attains it. And we are presently a long, long way from that knowledge. And we will never find it under our present educational system.

It behooves us, then, to start laying the groundwork for a better one. The separation of school and state is the first step toward finding the truth. The longer we depend upon the state to educate our youth, the further from the truth will they be led — and the longer will be the uphill road back.

We have many excellent private educational institutions in the nation today, both parochial and secular, several of them right here in El Paso County, but they have allowed themselves to be dominated by the government. The politicians control the private schools and colleges to a lesser degree than the government ones, but they do insist on government-licensed teachers and on choosing certain parts of the curriculum.

And we have now the prospect of private schools, especially parochial ones, demanding government financial support, which means more government control to the extent of totalness.

Such is not the way to truth.

The Greatest

When living creatures abandon instinct and rely on reason, knowledge becomes precious, and wisdom, the greatest wealth of all the ages.

Where Do We Stand On Communism?

The current political campaign has brought forth a great many comments concerning communism, the danger of communism, the nature of communism, and so on.

There is a great deal of information and mis-information being circulated concerning communism. Therefore, we thought it might be helpful to summarize certain important features of communism so that our readers might again be reminded that the Gazette Telegraph has been and remains consistently opposed to communism at all levels and in all guises.

What is the central theme of communism?

It is the theme, carefully enunciated by all communist and most socialist writers and thinkers that men have no rights to own property and to manage it privately. The especial feature of communism, according to Marx in his Communist Manifesto, is that it does not oppose all private ownership or all private management of property; it opposes "bourgeoisie" property. That is, it is unalterably hostile to the idea that a private capitalistic system should exist.

It favors the abolition of private industry. It proposes to replace private industry with governmentally owned and operated industry.

Does communism favor the overthrow of government?

No, it does not. It favors the TAKING OVER of government by men who are committed to seizure of private property, on any pretext, so that that property can then be managed by the government.

Is communism a Russian device?

Again the answer is in the negative. Communism is an international doctrine, aimed at creating a world commune. Its purpose is to cause all the workers of the world to "unite" for a world movement which will transfer all capital goods into the hands of the state.

Production is to be in favor of "social service" rather than for profit.

Profits, rents and interest charges are viewed by communists and fellow travelers as inimical to the concept of a world commune.

To combat communism with foresight and intelligence requires not so much an attack on persons who may have accepted certain communist ideas without question, but primarily the putting forward of sound free market ideas in support of private property and private management of property.

Unfortunately, there are many men in government who do not understand the basic issue communism has raised. Thus, in their efforts to win popularity and to retain power, they constantly offer various panaceas to the public, every one of which, in order to be implemented, will require the seizure of someone's property. Thus, although men in government are not at all committed to communism as a doctrine, a goal or a method, they none the less further the communist advance in their various political activities.

Is a communist a person who belongs to the Communist Party?

Not necessarily. A person who belongs to the Communist Party is obviously a communist. But there are thousands of persons, perhaps millions, who favor communism as a doctrine to a greater or lesser extent. These people, unknowingly, are the greatest danger we have in the country. They are in favor of wiping out private capitalism, which has made this nation the greatest productive force for good in the world, and replacing it with governmental ownership and management. Nor do they view the emergence of a world commune as harmful. They actually favor Marx without ever having taken the trouble to read what he says or to understand what he is attempting.

The Gazette Telegraph has consistently through the years favored private property, private management of property and freedom of the individual out from under the tyrannous controls inflicted by governments at all levels which lead toward communism. We will continue to oppose communism totally.

PICK YOUR LEADER

To the Editor:

If someone were posed the question what the main abuse of our modern privileges is, he should answer citizens not utilizing their invaluable right to vote. If this is the case, why did men toil over writing our precious Declaration of Independence and Constitution? Why is so much money spent on campaigns and election propaganda? Why do big crowds gather to hear the speaker of their choice? Why, even, do we vote? Simple. Because our country is gifted with a democracy, that is, government by the people.

Not everyone has the opportunity to pick his own leader. We may take this privilege for granted. All recently conquered communist people know it for real. They know how it is to be given no liberties whatsoever, and to be treated almost as dark-age serfs. They know that countries grow and prosper only because of the individuals of that nation. But they also know how it is to be free, to work for themselves, to be considered a cause for progress, not just another mere possession of the Kremlin. We must remember that it is when the people of a land don't gave a darn as to how they are ruled that the well intentioned Communists move in. Our best defense is to vote as an individual on Election Day. My fellow Americans, let's arm up!

LAST WORD

To the Editor:

Those addicted to the marking of political X's await, with pounding pulse and bated breath, November 3 and the final tally; while Nature, in wisdom infinite and smiling softly — just waits. Methinks, Mr. Richardson heard her secret chuckle, last night in Open Parliament.

For we know, don't we, Ed, that the final say will be said, not in the count of crosses marked on bits of paper, but in the economic logic of natural law.

And Emerson heard her laughter roar, when he observed and noted thusly: "Republics abound in young civilians who believe that the laws make the city; that grave modifications of the policy and modes of living and employments of the population, that commerce, education, and religion may be voted in or out; and that any measure, though it were absurd, may be imposed on a people if only you can get sufficient voices to make it a law. But the wise know that foolish legislation is a rope of sand which perishes in the twisting; that the state must follow and not lead the character and progress of the citizen; the strongest usurper is quickly got rid of; and they only who build on Ideas, build for eternity; and that the form of government which prevails is the expression of what civilization exists in the population which permits it."

SUPERINTENDENTS

To the Editor:

What bit of idiocy will the enemies of freedom get on the ballot next?

There was the consolidation of the school districts, doing away with JP courts, etc., etc. Now it's doing away with the offices of county superintendents of schools.

It seems unbelievable but it seems more unbelievabie that almost everyone I talk to is going to vote "Yes" on the amendment. They say the county superintendents don't have anything to do since the school districts were consolidated. That is all I've heard for it, but all I heard in favor of doing away with JP courts was that they didn't have much to do and a salary could be saved by voting these courts out.

Much was written regarding cases held long periods of time because the higher courts had too much to do to hear them, yet when some (Un) American said a salary could be saved, the JP courts were voted out.

This is one example of the reasoning of the descendants of the thousands who died for the cause of freedom.

I have received a lot of assistance from county superintendents so when I heard we might lose them I called the local office and asked the secretary who was doing the work of the superintendents since "consolidation" and to make a long answer short she said, "The superintendents."

I hope every voter finds out what the superintendents do, not only because I don't want to take my problems to Denver (and eventually Washington) but just so they will know what they are voting on.

Now if the majority wants to give up our individual representation, I'll try to be a good enough sport to not complain—too much; however, I think freedom is worth the effort of a little research and thought. So many people have given their lives that we might have it that I feel very fortunate, indeed, to only have the responsibility of keeping it.

CAMPAIGN RUMOR

To the Editor:

In fairness to William O. Lennox, Republican candidate for the State Senate from the 12th District, I should like to set straight a vicious rumor being circulated against him during this campaign. The purpose of the rumor is to dissuade retired military personnel from voting for Mr. Lennox. According to the rumor, Mr. Lennox was "the only member of the State legislature to vote against a $2000 tax exemption for retired military in Colorado." This is utter nonsense. Such a proposal was never even before the State legislature. An exemption was granted, through administrative action, by former Governor Steve McNichols. Mr. Lennox, as well as many other legislators and attorneys, questioned the constitutionality of the method used. He did not oppose the exemption but did insist, as was his duty, that such action be taken through the constitutionally established procedures required to be followed in matters concerning state income taxation. In short, he said, "Let's do it in accordance with the regulations so that later no one will get burned" which, as we all know, is a long established military approach to the problem.

This letter is not intended to imply that Mr. Lennox's opponent, a retired military man, started or abetted the rumor.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISE

To the Editor:

This nation under God hopes to maintain freedom in the world. Can we find freedom unless religious tolerance and other forms of this attribute in conscience are exercised at home and in our schools? The U.S. Supreme Court has banned the saying of prayers to God, the Divine Being, and the reading of the Bible in public schools. What kind of perverted legal mind can ban one of the best books ever written and do nothing effectively about certain comic books and pornography made available to children and to youth? Is there any need to look further into our moral decay?

Do we doubt that our forefathers came to seek and establish religious freedom, and in Christian charity provide freedom of conscience? Did they not so legally bind and establish this country? And how can the legality of such establishment be effectuated except by education? Isn't there anything we older people and our forebears did right? How can the legality of an established country be legally questioned and reversed by Supreme Justices? Has the intent of law changed? If you and I believe that this nation and its Constitution to all intents and purposes was established under God, the Creator, then why can't you and I do something about it? If intent is the basis of law, how can our best legal minds undermine our Constitution and what has been established by law as the basis of law?

How can President Johnson, with tears in his eyes, plead for more and better education without first maintaining the moral fibre of our educational process? Doesn't he believe that all that we have, because of or in spite of hard work, came from God; or as Commander-in-Chief of our military forces is he merely calling on God for Divine Protection in any course he elects to follow overseas?

Here in Colorado Springs, at the U.S. Air Force Academy, we have the beautiful chapel built with millions of public funds, and with Catholic, Protestant and Jewish chapels under one roof, all dedicated to God.

It brings some memories of my days back in public schools. We pledged daily allegiance to the American flag and at graduation were thankful for the minister of God, of whatever denomination, who came and offered a prayer for our guidance and success. Our teachers paid special attention to any exceptional religious requirements necessitating leave for their pupils, and of course all of us wanted the holiday too. Perhaps some of us learned a little of others even though we didn't get in on the ceremonies or festivities, and I thought all this had now been broadened by cultural and student exchange.

Why can't our own country be more tolerant with us and with our children? We have neither sought to foster nor to eliminate atheism and existentialism from those who hold either in mind or in conscience. Perhaps our mistake, too, was that of supposed peaceful coexistence.

At least in our hearts we know that we did what God would have us do, and may we always be tolerant of those who play havoc with our souls.

I sincerely hope that a resolution to have prayer and Bible reading in public schools passes in the Congress, without any necessity for America's shame in once denying her God having to come to public ballot.

After just reading the article "The Johnson Touch" in the current Saturday Evening Post, I have now written the editors of the Post: "Since President Johnson can always 'get' Billy Graham's job I would certainly appreciate hearing from Billy Graham if it's 'corn and schmaltz' he gives them and how they like it."

RECENT DISCOVERY

To the Editor:

A recent discovery worth remembering came over the radio on the World of Science program from the California Institute of Technology. The speaker mentioned that it is not only animal or heated fats that are a contributing factor to heart failure. It has been discovered that white flour and refined sugar are even a greater cause for heart disease which is soon to be announced. With tobacco being a contributing factor in causing cancer; white flour, sugar, grease, separate or in combination, contributing to heart failure, some questioning soul may wonder what to eat. The answer to this question is simple — eat real food, making it more digestible when freshly homogenized in a home blender, without using extreme heat or no heat at all.

CRITICIZES SOLDIER

To the Editor:

The letter to the editor of Sgt. R. A. Sandberg printed in last night's (October 28) Gazette Telegraph deserves some response, I think, and I have written the Sgt. I enclose a copy of my letter which you may be interested in running in the letters column.

Dear Sgt. Sandberg:

Through a fellow sergeant of yours, your article in last night's Gazette Telegraph has been called to my attention. I note that you do not like the trend which your country is taking; that you feel it is socialistic. I note you feel "the Democratic party and some in the Republican party are determined socialists." I presume that by socialism you mean those efforts of our country directed toward what a majority of our citizens conceive to be their common good and welfare insofar as such efforts require participation by the United States government.

Sergeant, who do you think pays your salary? Who do you think is responsible for the military establishment of the United States of America? It is the United States government. It is a necessary effort for our common good and our common protection.

There are also other necessary efforts for our common good and our common protection. Many of them do involve participation or direction by the Federal Government. Most Americans feel these programs are necessary for our common welfare. Do you really feel that you are personally participating in the only Federal program (our national defense) which is not socialistic?

Do you really feel that the majority of your fellow citizens (the Democratic party and some in the Republican party) are determined socialists? Who do you think should decide our national destiny and policies if not the majority of our citizens and voters?

OBSERVATIONS

To the Editor:

I have been observing on television the politicians with a great deal of interest. Now Johnson has sponsored what they call urban renewal in Texas where one time was a booming oil town and now most of the buildings are decayed and abandoned. Now they have a project to build some skyscrapers that will be as useful as a rain coat on the desert. I have heard that a project is planned for Victor and Cripple Creek, another waste of taxpayers' money.

Johnson is harping for more money for what he calls foreign aid — actually aid to help the foreigners fight among themselves.

Breaking the speed limits in Texas must be only for presidents as I feel quite sure that if I did, I would wind up in jail.

He calls it civil rights, which is only a scheme leading the Negroes up a blind alley to get their vote.

His unemployment scheme will only result in some bureaucrats being employed at high salaries at taxpayers' expense, and his poverty scheme of a minimum wage of $3.00 which will include most taxpayers when conditions get so bad that the taxpayers must go to the bank to borrow money to pay these ridiculous high taxes. I feel what we need is more democracy and less of Johnson's communistic schemes that have been growing like weeds since he has been president.

Johnson says he will not tolerate murder in this country so he is shipping the youth of this country to some foreign country to be slaughtered to satisfy some foolish whim. Hauling children from one side of town at taxpayers' expense to the other side of town to bring integration to what is called in balance according to percentage.

I notice that Chenoweth has not mentioned anything about raising his salary to $30,000, which is ten times the income of his employer, the taxpayer, nor has he mentioned anything about him helping Johnson put over his so-called civil rights, a scheme leading the Negro up a blind alley to get their vote.

As for commissioner Smith I have not heard him mention anything about him having the gall to take the taxpayers' money to buy a new high-priced car to sport around.

I am not plugging for Goldwater but his conscience must be clear as when he speaks he looks his audience square in the face.

MAURICE HANSON
89 Vessey Dr.

P.S.: If Johnson was sincere about his civil rights scheme, he would close up the White House and move into a Negro community. Then the Negroes could hear his dogs squeal when he dragged them around by the ears.

CONSIDER

To the Editor:

Attention, all servicemen and veterans: Before voting consider: 1. Your military records (administrative and medical) are supposed to be utilized ONLY for legitimate government purpose. Yet, the Democratic regime has "leaked" according to the press, items of derogatory allegation to a senator and a columnist for what CAN ONLY be considered POLITICAL purpose.

2. The Democratic regime has consistently opposed recomputation of military retired pay, a traditional privilege of retired personnel. According to the press, national Republican headquarters endorses the restoration of retired pay recomputation for the military.

3. Also, according to the press, national Republican headquarters endorses the passage of new legislation to provide survivor benefits for dependents of career officers and men, when the deceased died subsequent to retirement. This is NOT in the program of the Democratic regime. In fact, according to the press, the Department of Defense under the Democrats is studying the further reduction if not elimination of medical care in military facilities for the dependents of retired military personnel.

4. One civil service employe (a lady) and one former general were arbitrarily "booby hatched" at the direction of Democratic regime officialdom without being properly medically evaluated prior to their confinement. They were not released by the government until anti-government action was taken to effect their freedom. The press carried detailed accounts of such examples of raw use of naked federal power.

Drug Store Cashier Has Revolver, Too

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A man entered a drugstore, placed a revolver on the check-cashing counter, and said to cashier Nathan Levitt, 68, "give me what you got."

Levitt reached under the counter and came up with a .32 caliber pistol of his own.

The two men faced each other for a moment. Then the intruder put his revolver back in his pocket and fled.

Child Welfare Experts Planning Denver Meeting

The University of Denver Graduate School of Social Work will sponsor a three-day regional child welfare institute for policy makers in children's institutions Wednesday through Friday in Denver's Albany Hotel.

Attending the institute will be approximately 5 board presidents, board members, and executives of selected children's institutions in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico and Wyoming. Theme for the parley will be "Today's Child and Yesterday's Institution: Some Considerations at the Policy-Making Level."

Keynote speaker for the institute will be Dr. Susanne Schulze, professor emeritus of the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration and author of "Creative Group Living in a Children's Institution."

An internationally-ranked authority on child welfare, Dr. Schulze's services as adviser, teacher and speaker are sought by schools of social service, welfare agencies and child care centers throughout the world.

Born in Weimar, Germany, in 1897, Dr. Schulze was graduated from that city's Teacher's College, and then attended the Universities of Berlin and Cologne, earning a doctor's degree in social administration from the latter in 1928. For the next five years, she worked in various German social agencies devoted to the welfare of children.

In 1934, she and her husband (then the mayor of Leipzig) fled the terrors of Naziism and went to Turkey where she became educational director of the American Social Service Center in Istanbul.

The Schulzes emigrated to the U.S. in 1937, settling in Cleveland. After working with private agencies for 18 months, Dr. Schulze joined the faculty of the Western Reserve University School of Applied Social Sciences.

In 1948, after a year as professor of child welfare at the University of Connecticut School of Social Work, Dr. Schulze joined the faculty of the University of Chicago.

The social worker went back to Germany in 1953 to teach for one year at the University of Nuremburg and in 1957 she helped reorganize the Berlin School of Social Work, abandoned during the war.

Dr. Schulze retired from the University of Chicago faculty this year and currently is serving as a research consultant to the Center for Urban Studies of the University of Chicago.

The DU institute is aided by a grant from the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Coordinator of the institute is Dr. Edith M. Davis DU professor of social work.

Florence Council Plans Discussion Of City Streets

The vacation of a portion of East Third Street will top the agenda of the Florence City Council meeting Monday night. The area lies between Tanner and Gumaer avenues.

Also on the agenda will be a report on the city's bid to have the Soriano property at Third and Santa Fe condemned as a threat to public health, welfare, and safety.

Commenting on the vacation of Third street; city manager Frank Carochi noted that for a four-block stretch, East Third street is now only 65 feet wide instead of the required 80 feet. The council, by resolution, is expected to vacate the additional 15 feet to unify the width of Third Street to the city limits.

The city manager also reported that sealing of city streets is currently well under way with the county crews cooperating in the venture. A total of 60 blocks will be seal coated as long as weather permits. Cost of the project to the city will be about $3,000.

OFFICIAL SAMPLE BALLOT

GENERAL ELECTION

COUNTY OF EL PASO

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1964

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTER

MARK BALLOT AND LEAVE [X] MARKS SHOWING

(Your [X] marks must be showing for vote to register)

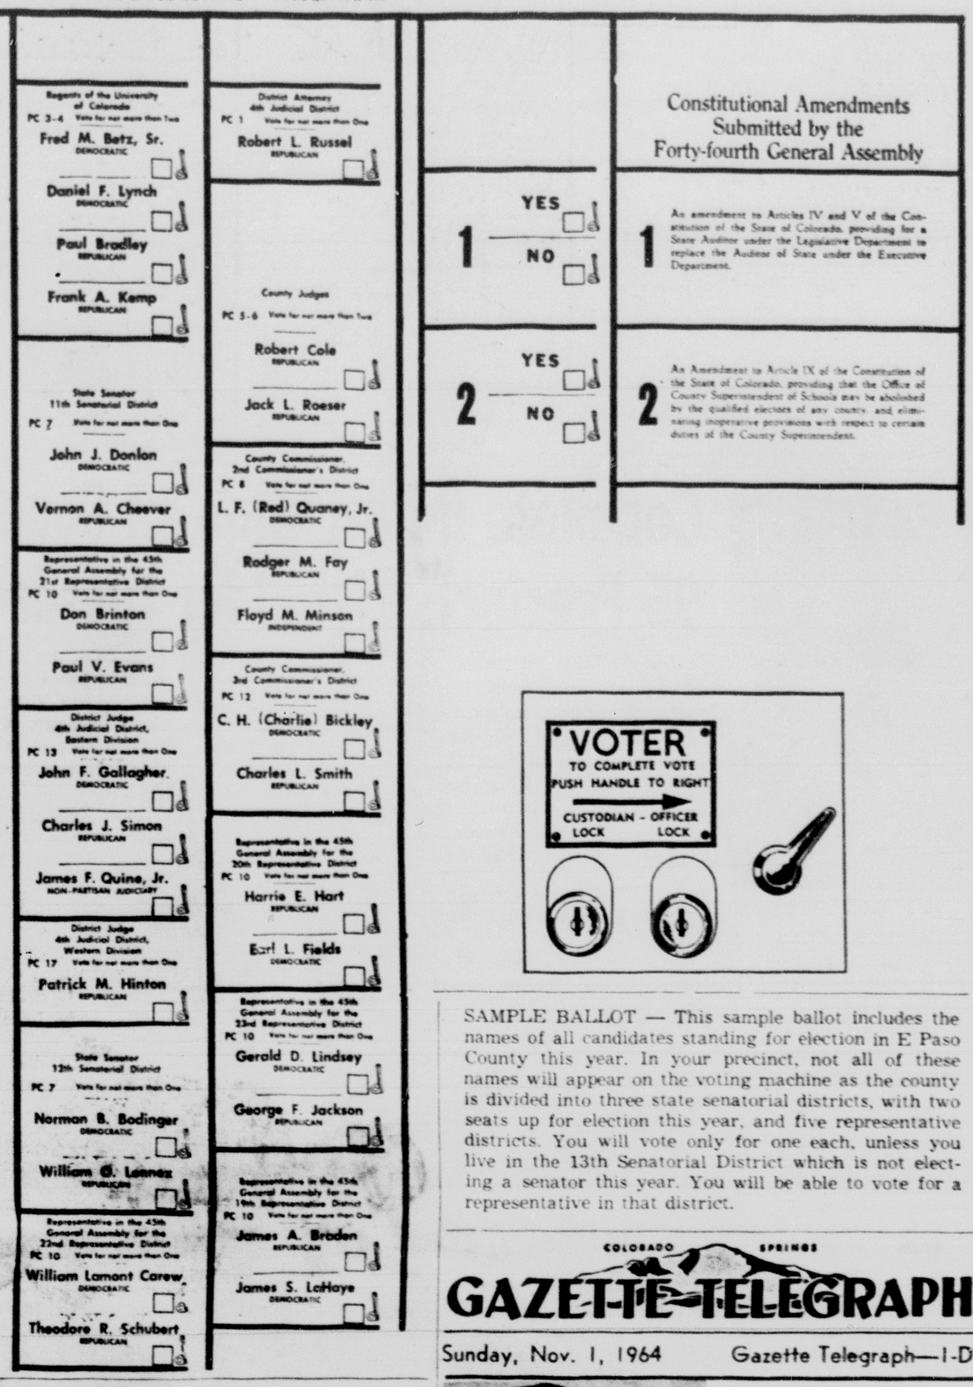
THEN TURN RED VOTER'S SWITCH TO RECORD VOTE

(Switch is located at lower right)

VOTING MACHINES ARE VERY EASY TO OPERATE. JUST FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE INSTRUCTIONS.

1. Step inside the curtains. Once inside, the election official will shape a switch closing the curtains behind you. You will see your ballot listed on the machine.
2. Turn the large dials to the candidates of your choice. A big "X" will show to remind you who you are voting for. If the ballot says "Vote for 3 or 5" you may turn only that many levers.
3. If you turn a lever in error or change your mind, return that lever to its normal position and vote for the candidate of your choice.
4. There are spaces on the side for write-in candidates, numbered to match each office.
5. When you're satisfied with your choice of candidates, just turn the red voter's switch at lower right. This records your vote, erases the "X" marks and opens the curtains.

To vote for a person not on the ballot open the slot below numbered the same as the office number, and write in his name.



SAMPLE BALLOT — This sample ballot includes the names of all candidates standing for election in E Paso County this year. In your precinct, not all of these names will appear on the voting machine as the county is divided into three state senatorial districts, with two seats up for election this year, and five representative districts. You will vote only for one each, unless you live in the 13th Senatorial District which is not electing a senator this year. You will be able to vote for a representative in that district.

County Voters Expected to Go To the Polls in Record Numbers

By GLENN URBAN
Gazette Telegraph
Political Writer

About 60,000 citizens of El Paso County are expected to vote Tuesday in the general election.

In this county, total registration was reported at 60, 435, broken down this way: 17,624 Republicans, 14.139 Democrats, and the remaining 28,672 unaffiliated.

This is the breakdown in neighboring counties:

TELLER COUNTY — About 1,600 total registration, with about 1,800 Democrats, 400 Republicans, and 400 unaffiliated.

KIT CARSON COUNTY —Total registration is 3,852 with 1,930 Republicans, 1,716 Democrats, and 746 unaffiliated.

FREMONT COUNTY — Total registration is 11,139 with 3,945 Democrats, 3,493 Republicans, and 3,701 unaffiliated.

LINCOLN COUNTY — A total of 2,940 registered with the breakdown estimated at about 35 per cent Republican from 30 to 32 per cent Democratic.

Total estimated registrations in the state are 927,144, and total estimated vote is put at 735,000 to 740,000.

The political year generally begins about the time the last one ended, and it is difficult to determine exactly when a given campaign began.

In El Paso County, the presidential election year began about a year ago when Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith visited the Air Force Academy. It had been reported in the east prior to her visit that the lady senator intended to become a candidate.

While here she declined to comment on the reports thus giving them more strength and said that she believed Pres. John F. Kennedy "could be beaten."

There was much speculation about the Democratic ticket for this year although most political students believed that Kennedy would seek a second term, even though he had not stated so in exact terms.

Much of the speculation was on what the president would do about the vice president candidate — keep Lyndon B. Johnson or replace him.

Then the president was slain by Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas on Nov. 22 and the speculation on the Democratic ticket turned to the question, "Will Johnson run for the presidency?"

It wasn't much in the way of speculation for most of the people who follow politics closely were of the opinion that Johnson would run. Soon enough the speculation turned to who Johnso would name as vice presidential candidate.

Eventually he chose Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

In the Republican Party things got more complicated.

The Republicans had about as many candidates or reported candidates as you could want and some people said they had too many.

In addition to Mrs. Smith who did eventually declare her candidacy the party had:

— Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller of New York, who was figured to be the front runner at that time although there was a considerable talk about his divorce and re-marriage.

— Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona, who had been placed in nomination at the 1960 convention and then had withdraw his name. He had been busy through the four intervening years as the party's most traveled and most heard speaker.

— Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, who kept insisting he was not a candidate until almost the very eve of the convention in July.

— Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who had run against Kennedy in 1960 and lost, and then lost again in 1962 when he ran for governor of California. By this time he had moved to New York to enter a law firm.

— Harold Stassen, one-time governor of Minnesota who had sought the nomination at other conventions and served as disarmament adviser for Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

— Henry Cabot Lodge, former U. S. senator who had served for eight years as ambassador to the United Nations. ministrations. At the time, he was ambassador to South Viet Nam.

— Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who was completing his first term. He is a Mormon and some people were wondering what that would do to his chances.

— Retired Army Gen. Lucius Clay, then a New York banker, was mentioned.

— Thruston Morton senator from Kentucky and former national GOP chairman was mentioned.

Lodge won the first primary vote — in New Hamshire and a battle royale began.

Eventually Goldwater won the big battle in California against his last real primary opponent, Gov. Rockefeller, and then it was just a matter of time until the national convention named him on the first ballot.

Goldwater selected National Chairman William Miller, a U. S. representative from New York, as his running mate.

At the national convention, Colorado cast all but two of its 21 votes for Goldwater. Gov. John A. Love of here and Delegate Robert Haver of Pueblo voted for Scranton.

The question here now is "How will the local counties go on the big race?"

Within the state it has been a duller campaign.

Colorado is not electing a senator, and the only two statewide races are for two seats on the Colorado University Board of Regents and for one 10-year seat on the bench of the state Supreme Court.

Both parties quickly chose their candidates for those spots.

The Republicans named Frank Kemp of Denver and Paul Bradley of here as regent candidates. The GOP had a short scrap at the state convention over one of the regent candidacies but that was settled when one withdrew so that he could work for the Goldwater forces in the state.

The Democrats named Fred Betz of Lamar and Daniel Lynch of Boulder.

There were no contests in the parties for the supreme court seat.

For the Republicans Ranger Rogers of Littleton, minority leader and then majority leader in the Colorado Senate, was designated with no opposition.

For the Democrats, in incumbent Leonard Sutton, former El Paso County Democratic chairman was given designation to seek reelection. He is just now completing his first full eight-year term.

On the local scene, things were less orderly. The Goldwater forces were driving toward their eventual victory, early in the seson, and there was the uncertainty of the suit before the U. S. Supreme Court on the reapportionment adopted the legislature.

Sure enough, in June the court said the Colorado apportionment plan was unconstitutional, and so the governor had to call a special session of the legislature to once more apportion the state.

In the new apportionment, El Paso gained two seats in the House and one in the Senate, making the total five representative seats and three senatorial seats. Two senatorial seats are up for election this year.

Both parties had a primary contest in one representative district and each now has a ful ballot for the state assembly.

The legislature also had adopted a new Judicial Reform Bill which added two new district court judges, for a total of six, and one county court judge, making a total of two.

The Republicans had more than enough candidates, while the Democrats came up with one district court candidate and no candidates for county judge.

The Republicans also had two men seeking nomination for district attorney, and the Democrats had none.

The Republicans additionally came up with a handful of county commissioner candidates for the 2nd district and now three men are listed on the ballot and a fourth is campaigning as a write-in candidate. While only one is officially designated as write-in candidate. While only one is officially designated a Republican, the Independent and the write-in were registered as Republicans.

Congressmen are elected every two years, and the political scrap in the Third Congressional District has come to be one of the features of election years.

The Republican candidate this year is J. Edgar Chenoweth, as it has been since 1940. Except for one term, Chenoweth has served continuously in the U. S. House and the Democrats have attempted to knock him out every two years.

This time, the Democrats had a Pueblo attorney, Frank Evans, and former El Paso county commissioner, Hugh J. Ross, as prime contenders.

Henry John Olshaw of Rye made a run for the nomination but failed to get any place. Evans swamped Ross in the district assembly.

Chenoweth had no opposition in the party.

Both men had to work new territory in the district.

Part of the reapportionment of the state had shifted boundaries of the congressional district, taking off some counties in the San Louis Valley area and adding others northeast of El Paso County.

Both men have worked hard in El Paso County.

Two Seats on CU Board of Regents Open

Colorado citizens will elect two members to the board of regents for the University of Colorado in the general election Tuesday.

These are the candidates:

Republican — Paul Bradley of Colorado Springs, and Frank A. Kemp of Denver.

Democratic — Fred M. Betz of Lamar, and Daniel F. Lynch of Boulder.

The terms are for six years and there is no pay. Following are answers supplied by the candidates to questions of the Colorado League of Women Voters, as reported by the league:

Question — "Please list the particular education, training and experience which qualify you for this particular office."

Betz — "For the past 15 years I have been a member of the State Board for Vocational Education and Dec. 1963 received the Award of Merit of the American Vocational Association. I have just been named a member of the National Advisory Council for Vocational Education, a 12-man council to aid in implementing the Vocational Education Act of 1963."

Bradley — "For 16 years a high school coach, teacher and principal, and for 15 years a successful businessman."

Kemp — "Residence in Herfanco, Boulder and Denver Counties, more than 40 years of active and responsible business experience, including a member of U.S. delegations to international conferences, some lecturing in Graduate School at Cornell.

Lynch — "Teaching at Regis College. Teaching real estate and running a private real estate school."

Question — 'How can tuition best be set to maintain high quality education and at the same time give adequate educational opportunity to the young people of Colorado."

BETZ — "There must be a proper balance between state support and the tuition rate Every effort must be made to make the advantages of higher education available to all who can meet the qualification standards. I am opposed to 'pricing higher education out of the market' for questionable tax savings. A well-educated citizenry is to be sought rather than alleged tax reductions."

BRADLEY — "At present the universities in the United States get their current fund income from three main sources: 22.9 per cent from state governments; 20.7 per cent from student fees and tuition, and 18.9 per cent from the federal government. The balance between these sources must be maintained as closely as possible. Tuition should be increased when it is not in proper relationship with the other two principal sources of income."

KEMP — "Through a thorough and sympathetic study by authorities in these fields of (1) the tax structure of the state, (2) the amount of money available which can be assigned to educational duties, (3) the costs and expenses necessary to maintain first class educational institutions, and (4) the effect of tuition charges upon prospective students."

LYNCH — "Resident tuition fees at Colorado University cost $215 per semester — the national public university median is $268 per year. A great university cannot be built from tuition. Other sources — private, corporate, federal and state must be fully used to keep costs within reach of those with average income. Our whole state economy benefits from the skills of its citizens.

Fremont Has 11,139 Voters Registered for Tuesday

CANON CITY — A total of 11,139 eligible voters in Fremont county have been registered for the election including 3,945 Democrats, 3,493 Republicans, and 3,701 independents.

Also included in the total registration are 539 who cost absentee ballots.

The election Tuesday will feature three bitterly contested posts including that of state representative and two county commissioner offices. Not so bitterly contested are races for county judge and district judge in the newly-created northern division of the 11th judicial district.

Focus of attention is on the race between Incumbent State Representative Harold McCormick (R) and T. Everett Cook (D), a former state senator, both seeking the post now held by McCormick.

The posts of county commissioner in district 1 (Canon City) and district 3 (Cotopaxi) are being hotly contested by two Democrats seeking to oust incumbent Republicans. Denzel Goodwin (D) is out to unseat longtime GOP incumbent, Finis Parks, who has represented the third district for 32 years. William T. (Bill) Berry, represented the third district for 32 years. William T. (Bill) Berry, Canon City auto dealer and Democratic candidate, is waging an all-out effort to unseat Charlie McDaniel, Republican chairman of the board of county commissioners who is seeking his second term of office.

In the race for the office of county judge are Bryan Whitehead, (D), and Mrs. Frances Schalow, (R), both Canon City attorneys.

Howard Purdy, Democratic candidate for district judge, resigned the post of county attorney to seek the higher office. He is being opposed by Robert Nevens, Salida Republican, who resigned the office of district attorney to run for the judgeship.

Ray Harward, Canon City lawyer, is running unopposed on the Republican ticket for the office of district attorney vacated by Nevens.

In closing stages of the Fremont county campaigns, both Republicans and Democrats have brought in state political figures to help bolster their candidates.

The Democrats enlisted the aid of Big Ed Johnson, former U. S. Senator and governor, while the Republicans entertained U. S. Sen. Peter Dominick (R-Colo.) and State Speaker of the House Howard Vanderhoof.

Late last week an additional fire was lighted by county Republicans in a surprise move on County Clerk Mary McDonough, long-time Democratic incumbent, who was accused of irregularities in connection with the delivery of absentee ballots for the forthcoming general election.

Last Thursday a temporary cease and desist order, signed by District Judge G. Russell Miller of the Fourth Judicial district in Colorado Springs, was served on Miss McDonough by order of the court.

The Republicans, led by County Chairman William Stinemeyer and Attorney Ray Harward, have alleged that Miss McDonough, among other things, assisted Commissioner Candidates Berry and Goodwin with the mailing of campaign literature to absentee voters.

A hearing was in progress this week to determine the validity of the allegations.

Of prime interest to the Fremont-Custer county area and other counties within the Third congressional district, is the race between Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth, long-time Republican incumbent, and Democratic Candidate Frank Evans of Pueblo.

Both candidates for the congressional post have maoe recent visits to the county. Evans breezed through Florence and Canon City with a colorful motorcade last week and Representative Chenoweth spoke to Republicans at a Canon City rally.

Since the competition for political offices in the county have become so fierce and so personal in the final stages, a large vote is expected to turn out when the polls open at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the 30 precinct polls in the county.

Traditional Democratic strongholds are Precincts No. 1-7-8 in Canon City, No. 16 at Hillhurst, No. 18 at Brookside, No. 22 at Rockvale, Nos. 25-26-27-28-29 at Florence, and No. 31 at Penrose.

The Republicans will be counitng on strength from Nos. 2-4-5-9a-10-in Canon City; Nos. 14 in South Canon; and No.37 at Cotopaxi. The remaining precincts are fairly evenly divided in voter strength.

Voters Can Change State Constitution Tuesday

Voters in Colorado will have two chances to change the Colorado Constitution in the general election Tuesday.

Both proposed amendments were referred to the electorate by the state assembly.

The first, No. 1, carries the ballot title, "An amendment to Articles IV and V of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, providing for a state auditor under the legislative department to replace the auditor of the state under the executive department."

What this would do is allow the state assembly to appoint the state auditor to a five year term, but limit his stay in office to not more than two terms.

This takes selection of the auditor out of the hands of the political parties and the general public of the state.

At this time, the auditor is elected to a four - year term by a vote of the people. How the assembly would chose the auditor has not been explained.

The second, No. 2, carries the ballot title, "An Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Colorado providing that the office of county superintendent of schools may be abolished by the qualified electors of any county, and eliminating inoperative provision with respect to certain duties of the county superintendent."

This allows county option for doing away with the office — if a given county wanted to keep the office, it would be allowed to do so.

Each proposed constitutional amendment must have a majority of votes cast in favor before it becomes effective.

If a proposed amendment is adopted by a vote of the people, the general assembly must then write and adopt the necessary laws to put the amendment into effect.

Five President Tickets on Tuesday Ballot

You can vote against "likker" this year in the presidential election — if that's the way you feel.

Five parties have slates on the Colorado ballot for the general election Tuesday, although the odds are the only two slates you can name are the Democratic and Republican ones.

Here are the five parties and their candidates:

Democratic — Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Republican — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller.

Socialist Workers Party — Clifton DeBerry and Edward Shaw.

Socialist Labor Party — Eric Hass and Henning A. Blomen.

Prohibition Party — Earle Harold Munn Sr. and Mark R. Shaw.

The Conservative Party that you sometimes read about? It has done a certain amount of mailing in this state to boost its cause, but it failed to put a slate of candidates on the ballot.

Another party that has spent a fair amount of money sending out campaign literature in this state that failed to get on the ballot is the Constitution Parties of the United States.

Billy Won't Endorse Political Candidates

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham reportedly does not plan to endorse either candidate in the presidential election.

A source close to Graham, who lives in Montreat, N.C., said in Asheville, N.C. Friday that Graham feels that "his task is to preach the Gospel."

Two Contesting For Seat on Supreme Court

One of the quietest races in the state this election year is that for the 10-year term as justice of the Colorado Supreme Court. The job pays $18,000 a year.

The two men contending are the incumbent, Leonard Sutton, Democrat, and Ranger Rogers, Republican.

Sutton is a local attorney and one-time chairman of the El Paso Democratic Central Committee. He has been a member of the court since 1955.

Rogers is at this time a member of the state senate and has served as minority and majority floor leader.

Sutton is a graduate of Colorado Springs High School, now known as Palmer High. He graduated from Colorado College with a major in political science and received his law degree from the University of Denver Law School.

He was practicing law here when he was appointed to the high court bench in 1955 by Gov. Edwin A. Johnson.

In 1956, Sutton was elected to the court for an eight-year term, and now seeks reelection.

Following is his statement of qualifications as reported by the Colorado League of Women Voters:

"Chief Justice of State Supreme Court in 1960.

"Experienced in trial work, general practice, administrative and military law as a partner in Colorado Springs law firm for 15 years.

"Many civic assignments (Junior Bar Association chairman, Rotary president, past national president of College Alumni Association).

Rogers attended the Denver and Public schools, received his bachelor degree from the University of Colorado and continued on there to earn his law degree. He later attended Yale University Law school as a graduate law student until he was admitted to the Colorado Bar in 1938.

JOSEPH A. GORDON SR.

Gordon Running For Office As Write-in

Joseph A. Gordon Sr., constable for the two justice of the peace courts in Colorado Springs, is an independent, write-in candidate for county commissioner from the 2nd Commissioner's District.

Gordon was one of three Republican candidates seeking party designation when the political year began.

He finished third at the county assembly without enough votes to be put on the primary ballot.

However, he petitioned onto the ballot and lost the primary race 3,419 to his 2,539. Gordon then decided to run as an independent write-in candidate.

His name will not be on the ballot, but Gordon's campaign literature urges voters to take a pencil into the machine voting booth and to write his name in on line eight.

Gordon was born in Kaiser, but has lived in Colorado Springs for the past 35 years. For seven years he was self-employed working out of the Ross Auction House.

He is chief of the Knob Hill Fire Department, president of the Pikes Peak Fire Fighters Association, a member of the Dad Bruce International Footprinters Association and a member of the Quarterback Club.

He served in the Marine Corps from 1946 to 1950, with duty in the Pacific.

Two Education Board Members Elected Tuesday

Two members of the state board of education are to be elected this year — but El Paso county residents will not participate in that vote.

Two of the state's four congressional districts will elect members to the board this year — the Second and the Fourth Districts. The terms are for six years and there is no pay for the job.

While El Paso county residents will not vote on those candidates it will have an interest in them since they will help set policy and make decisions that will affect this area.

These are the candidates involved:

Second District— Mrs. Jeanne Wilson Bender of Denver, 32, a housewife, graduate of Loretta Heights College and a part-time music therapist at Beacon Development Center, Denver, Democrat, and Robert G. Wilson, 43, graduate of Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, and Westminster College of Law, Denver; now an attorney, House Counsel, and assistant secretary of the Gates Rubber Company, Republican.

Fourth District — Hugh E. Chastain, 47, of Durango, graduate of the University of Colorado and manager of the La-Plata Electric Association, Democrat, seeking re-election having been on the board since 1958, and William F. Stevens, 50, graduate of Yale University and school of law of the University of Colorado, rancher and attorney, and member of the Colorado House during the past two years, Republican.

Paul V. Evans Candidate for Representative

Paul V. Evans, of 3007 Hudson St., is Republican candidate for state representative from the 21st Representative District.

Evans was born in Fountain, school in Widefield and graduated from Fountain High School in 1944.

He served two years in the Navy and was a sales representative for a Dallas firm from 1946 until 1950.

Returning here in 1950, Evans enrolled in Colorado College and was graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1953, winning a law scholarship to Duke University. He graduated from Duke in 1956 and returned here to practice law.

Evans now is a member of the firm of Goodbar, Evans and Goodbar.

He is a member of the El Paso County Bar Association, and the Colorado and American Bar Associations. He has been active with the El Paso County Young Republicans, the Jaycees and the VFW.

Mild Flu Epidemic Reported in Colorado

DENVER (AP) — The State Health Department said today some sections of Colorado have been hit by a mild eipdemic of influenza.

While only a few cases have been reported to the department, Dr. C. S. Mollohan said it appears the infection is of Type B but this has not been confirmed by laboratory analysis.

Dr. Mollohan, chief epidemiologist, said a hard freeze or a heavy snow would help in killing the virus believed responsible for the outbreak.

He said reports from Pueblo indicate the number of flu cases there is up 25 to 30 a ewek more than usual.

Denver school officials said absences have not been abnormal.

One-Third of Voters Don't Belong to Party

DENVER (AP)—An estimated one-third of Colorado voters are not identified with any political party, Ken Russell, election administrator in the secretary of state's office, said today.

His figures were based on information from 54 of the state's 63 counties, including Denver.

Russell said it was the first real cross-section of registration developed in the state.

He said the total registration for the election next week is a record 933,312. The previous record was 882,422 for the presidential election four years ago.

Russell reported the Democratic registration was 267,532 and the Republican registration 243,751. The total of unaffiliated voters was 249,433.

FRANK E. EVANS

Evans Offers Challenge to Rep. Chenoweth

Frank E. Evans, Pueblo, is the Democratic nominee for representative to Congress from the Third Congressional District.

The candidate is a member of a law firm in Pueblo and chairman of the board of the Arkansas Valley Bank, a state-chartered bank in Pueblo.

He was first elected to public office in 1960 as a state representative from Pueblo County and was reelected in 1962. During the past general assembly he was minority floor whip. In 1960, he was elected as the outstanding freshman legislator.

He believes the issues of the day to be:

1. The present business - government structure should not be tampered with except for adjustments needed.

2. America must continue to place emphasis on education to keep up with the fast-changing world.

3. Need to develop all water resources of the country.

4. Support of the Kennedy - Johnson programs for development of the nation.

Locally, Evans listed these issues:

1. Continued growth of the area through business additions that will depend on these things which in one way or another are tied into the national picture:

a. Sufficient water supply for the technical industries the area wants and for the people who will live here. This depends on development of other water sources so that Colorado can use its own water.

b. further development of this area as an educational center. The area needs a first class library that could be the foundation for such educational growth.

c. Retention of the military installations in the area.

Lindsey is a veteran of the Korean Conflict and also was recalled to active duty during the Berlin Crisis of 1960-62.

The candidate has been active in the Young Democrats of El Paso County and was chairman of the advertising committee for the recent state convention of that organization that was held here.

Chenoweth Seeks His 12th Term As Congressman

J. Edgar Chenoweth of Trinidad is the Republican candidate for representative from the Third Congressional District.

Chenoweth is seeking election to his 12th term. He first went to Congress in 1940, missed one term, and has been in the House of Representatives ever since.

The congressman is a former county judge in Las Animas county, former state chairman of the Republican Party in Colorado and an active worker in the founding of the organization that now is the Colorado Young Republicans League.

Chenoweth has always considered El Paso County his second home. He can be counted upon to show up in this county almost every time he returns from Washington.

In his kickoff speeches for the present campaign, Chenoweth listed these two major issues:

J. EDGAR CHENOWETH

1. The U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1962 that banned prayers from classrooms as part of the official school day.

2. The U.S. Supreme Court decision on June 15 that forced reapportionment of the Colorado state assembly, as well as forcing many other states to reapportion.

He also introduced a third issue in a major talk at a rally in Woodland Park.

There Chenoweth pointed out that he is in favor of a subsidy for gold at twice the present subsidy. He would increase the price paid by the government for newly-mined domestc gold to $70 an ounce.

John Gallagher Is Running for Judicial Seat

chief and currently serves as assistant chief.

Fay is one of the veterans of the school board of School District 3 — Widefield- Security — having served on the board for seven years. He also is a member of the library board of Security.

Fay was one of three Republicans seeking the party nomination earlier this year. He was given second designation at the party assembly behind Commissioner Fred H. Monk.

Monk died during the summer and Gov. John A. Love named Fay to fill the unexpired term. Fay won a primary election to get on the GOP ballot.

Fay is a charter member of the Security Lions Club, of the Fountain Valley Chamber of Commerce, the Pikes Peak Fire Fighters Association and the Southeastern Fire Fighters Association.

Vernon Cheever To Run Again For State Sen.

Vernon A. Cheever, the senior Republican in the state legislature, seeks another term as state senator from the 11th Senatorial District.

Cheever is a veteran of 26 years in the state legislature. He lives at 1106 Forest Rd.

In the legislature, he has been minority and majority floor leader, caucus chairman and at present is president protem of the senate. In the latter capacity, he was governor two times this year when Gov. John Love was out of the state.

Cheever is chairman of the Colorado Commission on Interstate Cooperation and a member of the executive committee on the Western Regional Council of state governments.

He served overseas in World War I with the Air Corps and is past state commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — Democratic hopes for a Presidential election victory equaling or surpassing FDR's amazing sweep of 46 states in 1936 are far less solid than they admit publicly.

The Democrats think that LBJ can win big only if the vote is big. By this they mean a popular turnout to the polls for Presidential balloting of at least 71 million voters compared with the previous record of 68,833,000 in 1960.

The basic reason for believing that only a record outpouring of voters can give President Johnson and FDR-type of landslide is because of the kind of hard core strength that the Goldwater-Miller ticket has.

Those voters who are for Goldwater, or inclined his way, are almost certain to vote on Election Day. Barry's organization, packed full of energetic zealots, operates right down to the precinct level and, the Democrats admit, can be counted on to get out the for-Goldwater vote.

The Democratic problem concerns whether all those voters who are against Goldwater are for Lyndon. How many for example may be disinclined to vote at all? Do they constitute millions of voters, disillusioned by the campaign and so, out of protest, decline to mark the Presidential ballot?

None of the pollsters has been able to answer this question. But it is on the possibility of a small vote in the nation that Republican hopes of a respectable showing for Goldwater definitely depend.

What for example is the basic strategy behind the purple political prose emanating from Goldwater in this climactic week of the campaign: Such as in his Bristol, Tenn., speech today when he called Johnson a President who "will stoop even to political lies" and "will cover up corruption."

BIG IMPONDERABLE FOR ELECTION DAY

This type of attack on White House morals is shrewd if gutty politics. If it does not win votes for Barry it could well keep votes from Lyndon by increasing the number of stay-at-homes on Election Day.

The extent of such disenchantment is the big imponderable of the election. It explains why Johnson and his party leaders are wary of the private and other polls that indicate on a state-by-state basis that a mammoth landslide is in the works.

Their latest tip sheet on Tennessee is a case in point. It shows Johnson with 47 per cent, Goldwater 41 per cent and 12 per cent undecided. But it does not show how many of those polled with an intention to vote for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket will end up by voting on Nov. 3. There is no such uncertainty about Goldwater's poll showing. There is a positive quality about a Goldwater backer. He is for his candidate in a never-say-die way.

So there is Democratic caution in translating the favorable polls in close states into a big election sweep except on the basis of a record popular vote generally.

This does not mean that LBJ and Party National Chairman John Bailey are not confident of victory. Only that the extent of the sweep depends on whether there is a big vote or a small vote.

DEMOCRATS LOOK AT 15 CRITICAL STATES

If it is fairly big — say two million or more than in 1960 — then Johnson has a chance of equaling FDR's record for states carried. At least that is the way Bailey seems to figure it, giving Goldwater only Alabama and Mississippi and possibly one other state which he declines to name.

Yet even on the basis of a big vote, it is admitted that four other Southern states are definitely gambles. These are Florida, Geogia, South Carolina and Louisiana. In addition, on the basis of the poll data the Democrats are studying, there is no hard certainty about Ohio, Kansas, Arizona, Wyoming, Utah, South Dakota, Nebraska, Maine and Vermont.

That makes a total of 15 states where the Democratic dope sheet concedes Goldwater could win, particularly if the over-all vote is close to the 1960 total of less than 69 million.

It is primarily with the aim of getting out a big vote that LBJ is campaigning so strenuously in this last week before the election. He is not coasting as John F. Kennedy did in those comparable last days before the 1960 election.

Kennedy at the time knew, as Nixon did also, that the issues of that election had stirred the nation. A record vote was taken for granted. Kennedy's error was in accepting the estimates of the alleged experts that he had the election in the bag, and so should spark no new controversies in the home stretch.

RECALLING NIXON'S FINAL-PHASE TACTICS

Johnson is taking no such chances. He is far from convinced that there will be a record national vote, and knows he needs it to win real big, as he wants to.

The intense drive Goldwater is now making to win votes, or if not, deprive Johnson of them, follows somewhat Nixon's tactics in the 1960 campaign's final phase.

Nixon was not quite so outspoken in tearing his opponent apart as Barry is, but he did his best to make lukewarm Kennedy supporters veer away.

Speaking at Spokane, Wash., five days before the 1960 election he accused Kennedy of "the cruelest hoax any politician has ever tried to foist on the American people" in promising vast new spending programs without higher taxes.

He called his opponent a "jumping jack," a "pied piper," a "medicine man," and said that "whether the polls have caught up with him or not, the public has caught up with him."

Those were pretty harsh cracks, but neither Kennedy nor Lyndon Johnson, his running mate were personally upset. This year it is different. When Goldwater uses the same technique he is accused of smears.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED — Mrs. Francis Murray, widow of the late City Public Works Director, presented the first annual James J. Murray Memorial Scholarship Award Friday night at the Broadmoor Hotel. Hartnett Gets First Murray Memorial Award

Lawrence Hartnett received the first annual James J. Murray Memorial Scholarship Award Friday night during the fall meeting of the Colorado Chapter of the American Public Works Association

Mrs. Francis Murray, widow of the late city public works director, presented the $200 award. The scholarship fund was created by the Colorado Chapter of the APWA after the death of Mr. Murray early last year. The annual scholarship award is made to an engineering student attending any college or university in Colorado.

M. R. Pearce, present Colorado Springs director of public works, said the fund is supported by donations from people throughout the state, with major donations to date coming from local subdividers and builders.

Contributions to the fund will be accepted by William J. Kottra, APWA, administrative assistant, City Engineers Office, City and County Building, Denver. Checks should be made payable to the James J. Murray Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The day-long meeting of the public works officials started at 9 a.m. with registrations in the Pomar Room, with morning and afternoon sessions centered on the main theme of the meeting — maintenance. Roy Morse of Seattle, Wash., National APWA president, attended. The award was presented furing the banquet in the Green Room, which began at 7 p.m.

An estimated 100 public works officials from Colorado were expected to attend. Mrs. M. R. Pearce was hostess for the program for the wives

Roaring Fork Stream Pollution Is Probed

DENVER (AP)—An investigation of possible stream pollution from gravel pits above the Ruedi Dam site on the Roaring Fork River has been ordered by Gov. John A. Love.

The governor ordered the investigation by the Game, Fish and Parks Department after a report by State Sen. Ed Lamm, R-Grand Junction.

Lamm said tailings from gravel pits are being dumped into the stream, endangering fish and flora. The gravel is being processed for use in building the Ruedi Dam and the processing is expected to be completed within four or five weeks.

Lamm, Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, said the gravel pits are on land owned by Orest Gerbaz, a member of the Game, Fish and Parks Commission.

Register at Pam Pam Is Reported Stolen

The cash register in the Pam-Pam Restaurant, Cascade, was stolen between Thursday afternoon and 5 p.m. Friday, the Sheriff's Office reported.

The burglar entered the restaurant through a kitchen window. The cash register, with no money in it, was behind a bar. There was an unsuccessful attempt to rifle the cigarette machine.

Bombers Join Anti-Red Fight In Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI) — Bombers of the Venezuelan air force, including both jets and propeller-driven planes, have joined the fight against Castro-Communist guerrillas hiding out in the hills of Trujillo state, it was reported today.

U. S. built B-25S, of World War II vintage, and British-built Canberra jets were believed leading the attack against the Reds.

A military spokesman said Army and police units are posted to cut off the escape of any guerrillas who seek to flee the bombardment.

An air force scout plane dropped thousands of leaflets over the proposed target area before the attack began.

"People of Trujillo, the bandits who are holed up in your territory have obliged the armed forces to bombard the zones where they are lurking," the leaflets said. "Do not be afraid, but you must collaborate so that these misfits may be brought to justice."

The military spokesman said loyal residents of the area have agreed to abandon their farms "to facilitate the work of bombardment."

Military helicopters have been assigned to spot targets for the bombers.

Accused Slayer Is Ruled as Sane

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Frederick L. Rhodes, 22, an accused slayer from Willimantic, Conn., was ruled sane Friday by a District Court jury.

Rhodes will have to stand trial on a murder charge resulting from the shooting of Paul L. Oliver, 22, of Coquille, Ore., June 24. The trial date has been set.

Rhodes and Oliver came to Colorado as door-to-door magazine salesmen.

Officers said Oliver was shot to death and his body set afire before it was buried in a shallow grave on a farm north of Denver.

PROFILE OF A NON-COM

(This is another in a series of articles portraying Non-Commissioned Officers of the Army Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs. As in other Army outfits, ARADCOM looks to its cadre of NCOs to play an important part in providing experience and leadership vital to fulfillment of the command's mission.)

By S. SGT. VINCE NAYLOR
ARADCOM

An expert rifleman, part-time author, and a qualified instructor in the art of rifle marksmanship is one way of describing 1st Sgt. John D. Martin, first sergeant of Headquarters Battery, ARADCOM, the unit to which enlisted members of the Army Air Defense Command headquarters are assigned. He is first sergeant in a major Army headquarters which has more than 230 enlisted members, of whom nearly 100 are non-commissioned officers themselves. A large number of the NCOs are career soldiers in the upper three grades.

A Marine veteran of World War II, seeing combat duty in the South Pacific, Sergeant Martin entered Ball State Teachers in Muncie, Ind., after leaving the Corps in 1945. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree in education in 1949. It was while at Ball State that he first became a rifle and firing instructor. During this time he made a project of teaching Boy Scouts the uses of the rifle.

Sergeant Martin's Army career began in 1949 following his graduation from Ball State. He entered the Army as a second lieutenant. His first major assignment was to Austria.

While stationed in Austria he became the Austrian high-powered, small-bore rifle champion and held the title for two consecutive years. Assigned to a post near Seyr, Austria, the home of the huge Steyr Works, manufacturers of the world famous Mannlicher-Schoener sporting rifle, he became familiar with the plant and in 1953 wrote an article about the firm which was published in the "American Rifleman" magazine.

On return to the U. S. Sergeant Martin, then a first lieutenant, was made a company commander with the 5th Armored Division at Camp Chaffee, Ark. In 1954 he reverted to enlisted status and was assigned to Arkansas Polytechnic Training Corps (ROTC) program as an instructor in military science and tactics. During his tour of duty at Arkansas Tech he took part in a number of rifle matches and received several medals and trophies for his efforts. The most important award he received during this period was the Distinguished Marksmanship Badge, awarded by the Adjutant General in Washington, D. C.

Sergeant Martin's exploits as a competitive rifleman have been highly rewarding over the years. In 1952 he missed qualifying by only places for the U. S. team that fired in the International World Championship Shooting Match which was held in Venezuela. In that same year he was invited to tryout for the 1952 Olympic team, but his overseas military duties prevented him from doing so. In 1953 he was a member of the National Rifle Match team and won second place in the Scott Trophy Match and placed sixth in the President's "100" Match. Since leaving Arkansas Tech in 1956, Sergeant Martin has seen duty at Fort Benning, Ga. with the All-Army Rifle team as a member of the units original cadre. At Fort Benning during the off season he acted as an instructor in the Infantry School, teaching optical instruments and ballistics.

The Army Air Defense School at Ft. Bliss, Tex. came next, followed by an assignment to the ARDCOM Advanced Marksmanship Unit, which conducts its training at Fort Carson, as head coach. 1961 found Sergeant Martin in Korea with the Eighth U. S. Army Advanced Marksmanship Unit.

The sergeant's present assignment in this area began in 1962 when he returned from Korea. He spent a year with the ARADCOM Advanced Marksmanship Unit before taking on his present job as Headquarters Battery first sergeant.

Sergeant Martin is almost as fond of hunting as he is shooting in competitive competition. He stated that this is one of the many attractions in the Pikes Peak region that have brought about the decision for the family to make this their home after his retirement from the Army.

A prize possession in Sergeant Martin's collection of trophies is the mounted head of a Chamois which he bagged while on duty in Austria. The Chamois is found on the lofty ridges of the Bavarian-Austrian Alps. This particular catch was brought down at a range of about 300 yards at an altitude of 9000 feet.

Sergeant Martin has been interested in marksmanship since before he enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1942. He feels that both rifle marksmanship and safety cannot be stressed too much, especially in this day of high-powered rifles. He says, "It is a sport that teaches coordination, alertness, sportsmanship, responsibility and awareness of the dangers that can come from a gun in the hands of an inexperienced person. And besides its a lot of fun."

The sergeant goes on to say, "You only have to read the papers to see the number of hunting accidents caused by guns in inexperienced or careless hands."

Included among Sergeant Martin's individual marksmanship accomplishments are the winning of the Cavalry Cup Match at the 1955 National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio; the Texas State rifle championship in 1957; and the National Rifle Association Southwestern Regional title in 1959. He also placed among the top 100 shooters of some 3,500 shooters competing in the "Presidnt's 100 Match" at the Nationals, every year from 1953 through 1959, except 1958. He was not entered that year.

Sergeant Martin and his wife, Dorothy, have four children, Mary, 16, a junior at Wasson High School and a member of the Rocky Mountain Ballet School, Gary 14, Patty 12, Paula, 10. The Martins own their home at 123 Arrawanna St.

TRUE LEADERSHIP ALWAYS HAS a BIG FOLLOWING

WE HAVE SET FORTH in previous messages AMPLE EVIDENCE — in Congressman Chenoweth's record, and in the many names of our COMMUNITY LEADERS — both men and women — who support his campaign for RE-ELECTION, that Congressman J. EDGAR CHENOWETH not only has always expressed TRUE LEADERSHIP as our Representative in Congress, but that he has a tremendous FOLLOWING here in Colorado Springs and in El Paso County, (the most populous county in the District).

WHAT of his FOLLOWING in other parts of the 3rd Congressional District and in the State, and the Nation? The great majority of the newspapers in the District endorse Chenoweth.

IN PUEBLO, the second most-populous county in the District (and the home of his opponent), its newspapers, THE PUEBLO CHIEFTAIN and THE PUEBLO STAR-JOURNAL (OWNED BY THE IMMEDIATE FAMILY OF CHENOWETH'S OPPONENT) in a long editorial on Friday, Oct. 23, said, under the heading,

"RE-ELECT CONGRESSMAN J. EDGAR CHENOWETH":

"As much as persons aspire to represent the constituents of their election districts, for whatever office it may be, and are good American citizens, there must be some sound reasons for rejecting an incumbent who has for many years served those same constituents faithfully, and who has helped bring to them outstanding developments, as well as having represented them for the best interests of the area.

"Such is the record of Congressman J. Edgar Chenoweth who is seeking re-election to Congress . . . It is our recommendation that the voters of the Third Congressional District cast their votes to re-elect Congressman Chenoweth to Congress on Nov. 3. WE COULD NOT DO BETTER."

THE DENVER POST, in again endorsing Chenoweth for Re-election, said in an editorial Sunday, Oct. 25:

"We cannot ignore the fact that the veteran Republican legislator is in a position to use considerable influence for the state. He is 18th in seniority among all House Republicans . . . we'll string along with Chenoweth and those 22 years of experience in Washington."

(Note: "string along with" is defined in Webster's New World Dictionary: "to follow faithfully; adhere to; be faithful to; have confidence in.")

THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS (Denver), in a news dispatch under a picture of Chenoweth Oct. 29 from Colorado Springs said:

"Colorado Springs is destined to become one of the nation's leading electronics centers, Congressman J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo.) said here Wednesday . . . Chenoweth spoke of the importance of the military to the Pikes Peak region — whose installations he helped secure — and added, "I see a new day on the horizon. Colorado Springs is becoming one of the important electronics centers and its importance will increase" . . . He recalled that it was only three weeks after he first went to Congress in 1941 that a Colorado Springs committee met with him and asked his aid in securing Camp Carson."

FORMER PRESIDENT EISENHOWER, in a telegram Oct. 2 to Chenoweth, said: "YOUR LEADERSHIP IS NEEDED IN CONGRESS."

DAVID PACKARD, Chairman of the Board of HEWLETT-PACKARD, nationally-known Electronics firm, with a new branch here, said in his own paid advertisement in both the GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH and THE FREE PRESS Friday, Oct. 30:

"Congressman Chenoweth has been both helpful and very effective in dealing with problems related to the military and space programs in Washington. Because of his seniority in Congress and the respect which his colleagues there have for him, it is very important for our industry that he be re-elected."

DOWELL PATTERSON, Superintendent of the Union Printers Home, who describes himself as a life-long Democrat, presided at a luncheon for Chenoweth in the Alamo Hotel Oct. 28, and in introducing him said (FREE PRESS, Oct. 29):

"No one worked harder, got into the right places and saw the right people, than Chenoweth."

BURNT-OUT BUSINESS

CHICAGO (AP) — It only takes one fire to burn up most businesses for good, according to Chemetron Corp.'s Cardox division, a leading manufacturer of carbon dioxide industrial fire-protection systems. National studies show that 43 per cent of plants hit by a serious fire never get back into production and another 28 per cent go out of business in three years, a total of 71 per cent that close their doors forever after one bad fire.

Boost in Wheat Production, Support Seen

GOODLAND, Kan. (UPI) — Lud Strnad, former member of the National Advisory Commission on Agriculture, Friday urged a national policy aimed at a 30 per cent increase in wheat production and a 30 per cent increase in government support prices.

"This increase is necessitated by the cost - price squeeze on the farmer," he said. "No time should be wasted in turning U. S. farmers loose from production controls to grow the food the world so badly needs."

He said wheat acreage in the United States has been held down for the past several seasons to two - thirds of capacity "while our market has been stolen by other countries."

Strnad of Brewster, Kan., said both parties have ignored the pressing problems of the farmer in the present campaign.

He said Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman "could bring immediate relief to wheat farmers by picking up the telephone on his desk and telling his Commodity Credit Corporation wrecking crews to stop dumping wheat on the markets."

Strnad criticized Freeman for allowing the Commodity Credit Corporation to sell wheat at prices that depress the farmer's income.

"The United States must change its policy of restricted cron productions to one of increased planting," he said.

Mrs. Kennedy Named Legal Guardian

BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has been named the legal guardian of her two children, Caroline, 5, and John, 3. The court action Friday was a routine step toward putting into effect the provisions of the will of her husband, the late president.

The will left most of his estate in trust for his widow and children. The amount of the estate was not listed.

New Books Line Racks on Local Library Shelves

"John Birch Society," by J. A. Broyles, is among the new books now available at the Pikes Peak Regional District Library here. The book is an account of the society's history, tenets, attitudes and goals.

Other new books available are:

"F. Scott Fitzgerald," by James E. Miller. The author appraises Fitzgerald's fluctuation excellence and search for control and discipline as a writer.

"Hong Kong Surgeon," by Shu-Fan Li. The dramatic life story of a Chinese doctor.

"All the Best in Switzerland," by Sydney Clark. An up-to-date guide to Switzerland, one of the world's greatest playgrounds.

"I Just Happen to Have Some Pictures," by Willia Snow Ethridge. A grandmother's fond recollections of her sometimes trying adventure with her 12 irrepressible grandchildren.

"Along the Ridge," by Edward Streeter. A narrative of a motor trip taken by the author from northwest Spain, through the mountain country, to southern Yugoslavia.

"Under a Lilac-bleeding Star," by Lesley Blach. The author writes about the pleasures of traveling and the excitement of life on the move.

The Greeks," by H. D. F. Kitto. A study of the Greek classical period with a view of the Greek mind, myths, character, and religion.

"But Will It Sell," by Marya Mannes. Articles in prose and verse challenging present-day values — commerce, art, communication, crime, and love.

"The Esdaile Notebook," by Percy Bysshe Shelley. A volume of Shelley's early poem many of which have not been previously printed.

"Shakespeare's Politics," by Allan Bloom. Delineates Shakespeare's political philosophy as revealed in four of his major plays.

"Downstream," by John Bardach. The story of mountain brooks and waterfalls, of aquatic plants, fishes, and streamside birds and mammals.

"An Easy Guide to Artificial-light Gardening for Pleasure and Profit," by Vernon Johnston.

"The Mad Doctor's Drive," by Ralph N. Hill. An account of the first auto trip across the U.S.A. from San Francisco to New York in 1903.

"Johns Hopkins University Conference on Drugs in Our Society." Papers presented at a conference of American and British participants composed of historians, legislators, drug manufacturers, physicians, etc., all concerned with making safe and effective drugs available to those who need them.

"A Look Down the Lonesome Road," by Ralph Creger. A racial liberal living in the the South tells us what a man like himself, living among segregationists, can do and say to promote a Christian solution to America's racial crisis.

"The Great Design," by Cornelia Meigs. Men and events in the United Nations from 1945 to 1963.

"The Founders of Freedom in America," by David C. Whitney. Lives of the men who signed the Declaration of Independence and so helped to establish the United States of America.

"Justice Holmes on Legal History," by James Willard Hurst. Essays taken from a series of lectures sponsored by the Oliver Wendell Holmes Devise.

"The Futile Crusade," by Sidney Lens. Contends that this country's preoccupation with the cold war has had a disastrous effect on our position in the world and effectiveness in foreign relations.

"Observer in Rome," by Robert McAfee Brown. The author, an official observer from the World Alliance of Reformed and Presbyterian Churches, reports on Vatican Council.

"Psychiatry and Religious Faith," by Robert G. (S. J.) Gassert. The author, both a Jesuit and a psychiatrist, explains simply, the nature of mental illness and the methods of treatment and then relates the whole subject to the religious life.

"Science: the Glorious Entertainment," by Jacques Barzun. Surveys of the mind of man, what it can be and what it can do.

Any of these books may be requested at any regional library service area.

103 Gambling Arrests Are Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Internal Revenue Service (IRS) agents have made 103 gambling arrests and seized more than $33,000 in a series of lightning raids in a 30-state area.

The operation Friday was one conducted periodically by the IRS' intelligence division. The agents fanned out simultaneously, went into 49 locations and caught suspected gamblers by surprise.

Among states covered in the raids were Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Missouri, Ohio, Colorado Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Kansas.

Cities included in the dragnet were Miami, Fla.; Nashville, Tenn.; New York; Buffalo, N.Y., and a number of smaller communities.

In addition to the cash seized, an IRS spokesman said the agents also confiscated six automobiles and four pinball machines. He said most of the arrested persons would be charged with failure to purchase a federal gambling tax stamp.

The operation was the biggest since a series of raids last June in which hundreds of persons were arrested in 49 cities.

VOTE REPUBLICAN Nov. 3rd!

REPUBLICAN TEAM SAMPLE BALLOT

★ ★ G.O.P. PRINCIPLES ★ ★

REPUBLICANS Reject the theory of the centralization of power in a vast Federal super-government, stripping authority and responsibility from State and local governments. They believe the best decisions are those made closest to the people, while the Federal role is to safeguard the public interest wherever necessary, and to provide justifiable assistance when local resources cannot meet the need.

REPUBLICANS hold firmly to the Constitutional concept of the maximum of opportunity and liberty for the individual. They believe that liberty is personal; that it is an endowment of the Creator which no government can deny, and upon which neither economic nor political power should be permitted to encroach.

REPUBLICANS have long recognized the peril of inflation and have sought successfully to slow the erosion of cheaper dollars and ever-rising costs on income and savings.

REPUBLICANS believe that Government should neither favor labor nor management and should intervene in bargaining disputes only when the public welfare is threatened. They have long championed labor's right to organize and bargain collectively, but they have fought for measures designed to protect union funds and to eliminate the communist and labor racketeer from the industrial scene.

REPUBLICANS regard private business, large and small as a dynamic force for growth and prosperity which should ever be fostered and encouraged. American free-enterprise has provided our Nation with comforts, economic security and living standards which are the marvel of the civilized world.

REPUBLICANS traitionally favor lower taxes and economic administration of Goverment. They have sponsored seven of the 10 reductions in the history of income tax law, including the record reduction of 1954—worth $33 billion to date —which went primarily (63 per cent) to individuals.

REPUBLICANS have expanded both foreign and domestic markets for American farm products to the highest level in history. Market expansion, not controls, is the key to the farm prosperity.

REPUBLICANS believe in a positive foreign policy based on strength and moral principles. They will not trim these principles in the face of Communist bluster.

NOW LET'S SEE — Geri Lyn Eiden, Handicapper of the Month for November, concentrates as she works on customer Karen Maez, 112 N. Wahsatch. Geri Lyn has worn the brace on her leg since she was three years old.

Polio May Handicap Some, But Not Geri Lyn Eiden

By SHARON ERVIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Geri Lyn Eiden tossed the curlers in a plastic box and took out her brush and comb. A slight frown of concentration crossed her face as she started to work on her customer.

She is 4'9" tall, weights 97 pounds, has bright blue eyes and seems to have limitless energy and enthusiasm. In fact, at first one doesn't even notice the brace on her left leg.

Geri Lyn has been chosen Handicapper of the Month of November by the Stalwarts and Pals group of handicapped adults. She is not a member of the club. Presently, Geri Lyn is a student at the Academy of Hair Design.

Hit by a car when she was a toddler, Geri Lyn was stricken with polio two weeks later. She was 21 months old. The disease attacked both legs but the left leg, resistance lowered by the car accident, was the one permanently effected.

"I went to a school for the handicapped from kindergarten to the fifth grade," Geri Lyn said. "I think that probably did me more personal harm than good because I was a pet. When I started to regular public school, I didn't like it at all. I had no study habits and there were too many of us for me to be a pet. The only thing I liked was making so many new friends.

"I finally quit school. I had always loved working with hair. Now I'm on my feet all day and it doesn't bother me a bit. In fact, I like my work and it keeps me so busy that there's no time to think about myself"

"As most people with handicaps know, you have a choice all the time. When you're blue, you can sit and dwell on it and drown in the valley of tears you shed for yourself. But when you are feeling good, you forget yourself so much that you even catch yourself feeling sorry for the handicapped person you see on the street."

"Handicapped people have stronger emotions than normal people I think. We have a very strong hope feeling. Research and science are making so many advances today that we can't help believing they will come up with something to help us."

"I have a couple of good things going for me too. One thing is that I'm awfully conceited. That keeps me from being so self-conscious. Another thing is that in about the past year-and-a-half I've started taking my handicap for granted more. It used to bother me a lot. Of course, many of my customers ask about my leg the second or third time they come to me. I guess it's finally getting to be old stuff."

Geri Lyn hopes to earn her beauty license in February. She is planning to be a bride in June. She became engaged to Loren Garlets on Sept. 29.

"We met when he was working on a popsicle truck," Geri Lyn explained. "I went out to get a popsicle one day and from then on he started coming over almost every evening."

"We got to know each other pretty well before he asked me about my leg. We talked about it but it really doesn't seem to be very important to our relationship or to either one of us."

C. P. Snow May Be Created Peer

LONDON (AP) — C. P. Snow, the British novelist-scientist, has been made a life peer so he could join the Labor government and speak for it in the House of Lords.

He took the title of Baron Snow of Leicester, his home town, Friday. He had been named parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Technology.

Florence School Children Given Reading Awards

Certificates for the summer reading program at the Florence Public Library will be distributed to local school children during National Book Week Sunday through Saturday it was announced this week by Mrs. Vivian Jansen, librarian.

Over 200 children took part in the reading program during the period June 1 - Aug. 31. The certificates were prepared by Susan Spicer, local Girl Scout, who is working on the project for a Girl Scout merit badge.

Mrs. Jansen also noted that Mrs. Jean Briskey, area supervisor and director, recently visited with the local library board and discussed the state grant program with the board. The local board is again seeking state aid to assist its annual projects.

During September, the library collected $16 in fines, issued 21 new cards, counted a total of 840 visitors, and loaned 769 books. Of the books borrowed, 158 were non-fiction.

Stamp Club to Meet At YMCA on Tuesday

The Colorado Springs Stamp Club will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at the YMCA.

In keeping with the atmosphere of "Election Night" a special "straw vote" for national and local candidates will be taken. The rest of the evening's program will consist of a "Swap Session" and general discussion. A change to the By-Laws will be voted on.

The public is invited to attend any of the regular meetings of the Colorado Springs Stamp Club which are held twice monthly on the first and third Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the YMCA.

...WHEN YOU VISIT THE Red Carpet HOME

2404 MARLBOROUGH

Turn off North Circle Drive on Sturgis at the San Luis Estates sign. Then, follow the "Red Carpet" guides to one of the Pikes Peak Region's most practical and most attractive new homes.

The generous use of beautifully grained woods throughout this 3-bedroom home, make it warm and inviting. It rambles over a select corner lot in exclusive San Luis Estates at the foot of Austin Bluffs, only minutes from schools and shopping. Built for EASY LIVING, a sunny family room opens right off the kitchen and entrance hall. From it, you step down into the basement recreation room. There's a wood burning fireplace there and another in the handsome living room. Delightful decorator touches are evident everywhere. The "Red Carpet" home is open today from 12:00.

*YES, the red carpet is out for you! And, every 5th couple to sign our guest book today will be Sunday dinner guests of the Pike Realty Company at the Red Carpet Restaurant and Lounge's Famous Family Foodarama Buffet.

'WORKER' CLERGY

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—A Protestant version of the now-disbanded French "worker priest" movement is going on here.

Three young Protestant pastors have left their pulpits to become assembly line workers in an auto factory in order to gain a closer understanding of working men's problems and provide a better ministry to them.

Air Academy Graduate Died Doing What He Liked Best

First Lt. Valmore W. Bourque liked his job. It was a tough job but, according to his superiors and those with whom he worked, he did it well!

Lt. Bourque's duty as pilot of a C-123 differed in one major way from the duties of hundreds of other Air Force officers.

He was flying combat missions in a combat zone.

In June 1955 Valmore Bourque had been the first cadet to enroll in the Air Force Academy.

Saturday, Oct. 24, Lt. Bourque became the first Air Force Academy graduate to be killed in action.

The danger of combat was one her husband accepted as part of his job, according to Lt. Bourque's widow, Linda.

"He was a career Air Force officer," Mrs. Bourque said, "ready to do what came his way."

"We discussed the possibility of his death, but we felt combat experience was a valuable part of the training of a career officer. The risks were part of the job."

The Academy meant a great deal to her husband, Mrs. Bourque added. He felt it gave him the best possible education for the career he wished to follow.

Value of that training was stressed in the words of a Viet Nam based officer who reported. "Lt. Bourque's Academy training was reflected in the manner in which he did his job. He made a favorable impression on all those who worked with him."

Mrs. Bourque feels the words of a letter written to her by a relative best reflect her feeling (and she is sure her husband's feeling) on his loss.

LT. V. W. BOURQUE

"He had chosen to fly for his country," the letter said, "and he was doing well what he wanted most to do in his life."

Lt. Bourque's dedication to duty is reflected in the manner with which he fulfilled the duties of a combat support pilot.

He was the First Lieutenant in his squadron to be upped to aircraft commander. On a mission just prior to his death he was named mission commander — a position not usually entrusted to an officer of his rank.

Utilizing his French language ability, Lt. Bourque developed a communication system which enabled U.S. personnel and French speaking Vietnamese to clearly exchange information even under the most difficult conditions.

Funeral arrangements are still tentative. Services will be at the Chapel of Our Savior in the Broadmoor with interment at Academy Cemetery. Full military honors will be given.

TOMATO-FRUIT OR VEGETABLE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legally, tomato is a vegetable.

In 1893, the Supreme Court of the U. S. rendered this decision. An importer had argued that tomatoes were fruit and hence, at that time, not subject to duty. The court held the tomato to be a vegeable because it "was usually served at dinner — with or after the soup, or with fish or meats that constitute the main part of the meal."

X-RAY PREPARATION — Diane Dunn, left, student in radiological technology, and Joan Jacobson, a radiological technologist, discuss with Dr. James W. McMullen, Penrose Hospital radiologist, one of the films to be used November 7 by the 450 guests at th ePenrose Cancer Seminar. Copies of films of 16 test cases have already been mailed to the guests for study prior to the seminar.

AFA Sergeant Receives Award As Career Ends

A veteran of combat in Italy and Korea ended a 24-year career of active and reserve service this week at the Air Force Academy.

T. Sgt. Dave J. Miller, NCOIC of the Materiels Facilities Division, received the Commendation Medal from the Commandant of Cadets Brig. Gen. Robert W. Strong upon his retirement.

Sgt. Miller entered the Army July 23, 1940. As a member of the 85th Division he took part in the Italian campaign. Seven years later the sergeant was assigned to the 49th Fighter Wing then operationally engaged in Korea.

The sergeant joined the Air Force in March 1948 and was first assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill. He has also served at Holloman AFB, N.M., Robins AFB, Ga., Erding AB, Germany, and McDill AFB, Fla.

Sgt. Miller was transferred to the Academy July 24, 1960.

During award of the Commendation Medal he was cited for his part in "establishing and maintaining the high degree of efficiency in processing of incoming property that has consistently been noted by the prompt and timely receipt of required equipment for all functions of the Academy."

There are more than 8,500 species of birds, ranging in size from the bee hummingbird of Cuba, which weighs about one-tenth of an ounce, to the ostrich of Africa, which weighs 300 pounds.

Fairplay Launches Drive To Replace Old Hospital

The Park County Hospital Board Auxiliary Inc. in Fairplay has started a campaign to raise money to replace the 60-year old Park County Hospital.

The organization's application for Hill-Burton Federal Aid has received an A-1 priority rating, and the auxiliary will receive a grant this year if they can prove that the county can supply the remainder of the funds required for the building, which will cost $300,000 including equipment.

Almost 50 per cent of this amount will be given to Park County from federal funds; if residents can raise the rest of the money required through their fund drive, the auxiliary feels it can supply a new building and keep the hospital in Park County with no raise in property taxes, bond issues, etc. for this purpose.

The auxiliary has set a goal of $50,000, and is appealing to the nearly 6,500 taxpayers in the county for aid, as well as companies who do business in Park County, or citizens who have other interests there.

All proceeds will be held in trust by The Bank of Fairplay; in the event the fund drive is not successful, donations will be returned.

The building housing the present hospital was a rooming house before it was converted to a hospital in 1929. Of stucco on frame construction, it has been rebuilt numerous times. It has an open stairway, a serious fire hazard, and no fire protection such as overhead sprinkler systems, and is uninsulated.

The halls are so narrow that when a stretcher is in use, a person cannot walk beside it. Patients cannot be wheeled on stretchers into their rooms because of the narrow doors, and must be carried from the halls to their beds. The two-story building does not have an elevator, so patients unable to walk must be carried up and downstairs for surgery or the delivery room.

The kitchen is dark and small, and is outfitted with a dining room table and a small kitchen table as work surfaces.

In 1962, the hospital had 72 in-patients and 281 emergency room patients. Through September 1964, there were 118 in-patients and 665 emergency room patients. On two recent occasions, there were 17 patients in the hospital which is licensed for 15.

The proposed hospital will meet all requirements of the Colorado Board of Health and will comply with State Building Codes.

Architectural plans call for a modern concrete block building with redwood trim, situated on a low hill overlooking U.S. Highway 285 in Fairplay.

The Park County Hospital Board Auxiliary Inc. has a membership of 70 women, who have undertaken this drive in an all-out community effort. Checks may be donated to the drive by sending to the following address: Park County Hospital Building Fund, P.O. Box 86, Fairplay, Colo.

Registration Passes 450 for Cancer Seminar

Registrations for the 16th annual Penrose Cancer Seminar, slated for all day Saturday, at the Broadmoor International Center, have passed the 450 mark.

Surgeons, pathologists, radiologists and other interested cancer specialists from all over the nation will join in the discussion of "tumors of the urological system."

The invited guests will spend approximately five hours discussing the 16 test cases submitted a year ago and prepared in detail over the year by the staffs of the Penrose Hospital here. Each of the distinguished cancer specialists who attends has already received from Colorado Springs (1) a copy of the diagnosis of the doctor who submitted the suspect case, (2) a copy of the X-ray film of the suspect and a set of 16 microscopic slides, each one showing some tissue from the suspect area.

Preparation of these kits has been directed by Dr. James W. McMullen, chief radiologist for the Penrose Hospitals here, and by Dr. Morgan Berthong, chief pathologist for the Penrose Hospitals. Residents in pathology and in therapeutic radiology, plus the full-time staffs of the hospital have assisted.

The visitors will be led in the discussion by three distinguished specialists—Dr. John A. Evans, radiologist-in-chief at the New York Hospital; Dr. L. M. Franks, research pathologist at the University of London; and Dr. W. F. Whitmore, surgery professor at Cornell University. Discussion from the floor follows and proceedings of the seminar are then compiled and mailed to each participant.

Director of the seminar is its originator—Dr. J. A. Del Regato, who is also director of Penrose Cancer Hospital here.

Artists Donate Work for Demo Art Auction have donated original works of art to the Colorado Artists for Johnson and Humphrey auction in Denver Sunday to financially assist the national Democratic ticket.

The auction, open to the public, will be at the Jean Dichter Gallery, 232 Fillmore St., in the Cherry Creek Shopping Center area, from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

The local artists who have contributed time and talent to aid the election of Johnson-Humphrey are: Bernard Arnest, Earle Gardner, Archie Musick, Vincent O'Brien, Herman Snyder and James Trissell. Sculptor Edgar Britton, formerly of Colorado Springs and now of Denver will also participate.

Some 80 artists from Aspen, Boulder, Castle Rock, Denver, Durango, Fort Collins and Greeley also have contributed to the auction.

PARIS — French food stores plan to carry larger lines to specialty items.

La Salle Apartments Set For Grand Opening Today

The La Salle Garden Apartments are now complete and ready for a Grand opening today.

The new, brick - veneered apartments, built at a cost of $250,000, are located at 1802 E. La Salle St., off the intersection of Union Boulevard and Constitution Avenue.

The construction contains 18 one bedroom and 12 two bedroom apartments. The units are sound proof and fire-proof and feature all masonry structure with six-inch concrete floors walls of three - fourth - inch celotex board and installation batting between gypsum board walls.

Located within walking distance of East Junior, Horace Mann Junior and Wasson Senior High Schools, the apartments afford an unobstructed view of the Patty Jewett Golf Course, the front range of the Rockies between Pikes and Cheyenne Mountain, and an excellent view of the city lights by night.

Interior wise the units feature heavy continuous filament in beige or meadow green nylon carpet over heavy rubber padding, plus acousit plaster on the ceilings. Lined drapes, plastered walls, ceramic tile baths and window sills, formica counter tops and sheet vinyl floors in kitchens and bathrooms, and overall baseboard heating.

Constructed by F. L. Davis, feature spacious living areas and extensive closet space, including separate dining areas and 17 running feet of closet space in the one bedroom unit and 22 feet in the two bedroom apartments.

Inside furnishings include Mastercraft birch cabinets and stainless steel sinks in the kitchens; also G. E. coppertone appliances, 12 cubic foot refrigerators with freezer, and 30 inch electric ranges with two speed Air-o-Hoods, and disposals.

The apartments will be furnished with Danish modern furniture on request. Total living space in the two bedroom units is listed at 780 square feet and 650 square feet for the one bedroom apartments.

Also provided are laundry facilities.

Completing the exterior picture of the apartments are six balconies facing the mountains and a paved, off street parking area.

The units, 14 of which are now rented, rent for $120 for the one bedroom and $140 for the two bedroom units. The cost of all utilities, heat, water and electricity, are included in the rent.

Owners of the apartment are Don E. Ackerman, Fren H. Ackerman and Ward Babbitt.

APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Community Facilities Administration in Washington announced today approval of $1.895 for Grand County, Colo., for planning a sewage collection system and disposal plant.

Death Payments Confirm '64 as Most Tragic Year

Life insurance death payments confirm that 1964 may turn out to be the most tragic year in history on the nation's streets and highways.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that death payments to families of traffic victims rose 15 per cent during the first half of the year — apparently due mainly to a much higher motor vehicle death rate. By comparison, total death payments from all causes ran only 7 per cent above the first half of 1963.

Life insurance companies paid a record $99 million during the first half of 1964 as a result of motor vehicle deaths—or $13 million more than in the same period last year. If the upward trend of traffic deaths continues, payments for the full year of 1964 may exceed $210 million. The toll normally runs heavier in the latter half of the year.

The National Safety Council reports that the motor vehicle fatality rate climbed to 25.5 deaths per 100,000 Americans during the first half of 1964, compared with 22.8 for the same period last year. There were 21,280 persons killed this year, compared with 19,040 in the first half of 1963.

Life companies paid death claims on 28,000 policies as a result of motor vehicle accidents, or about 5,000 more than in the first half of 1963. More 60-Unit Apartment Complex To Go Up on Fountain Blvd.

A 60-unit apartment complex will be built at an estimated cost of $500,000 on the new eastward extension of Fountain Boulevard in the burgeoning Southeast part of the city. The owner is Roy C. McClurg, a retailer in Indiana and Ohio.

Mowry Gilbert, architect for the project, announced that Godwin Bevers Co. Inc., general contractors, are builders of the complex.

Construction is scheduled to start late this fall and the building is to be completed by early spring.

The new apartments will command an excellent view of the mountains from most of the units and are cited to look over open spaces instead of neighboring walls, Gilbert said.

The exterior of the buildings will feature a rustic Mansart roof, reminiscent of French Renaissance castles in Europe.

The apartments are being planned for studio, one, two and three bedrooms and will be finished complete with carpet and drapes. Each apartment wil have individual heating and ventilating control.

The two bedroom units will contain 800 square feet of living space including a separate dining area. The one bedroom units will contain 600 square feet and the studio 300 square feet including a snack bar area. Ample closet space has been provided for all units, Gilbert said.

Kitchens will be completed with GE ranges refrigerators, and disposal units, formica counter tops, vinyl floors and natural pecan finish hardwood cabinets.

The bathrooms will contain vinyl floors, exhaust fans and showers and bath tubs.

Walls and floors between the units will be sound proofed.

Th building will be constructed of brick veneer and trimmed in rough wood. Landscapping will be composed of lawn trees, grass, natural rock arrangements and small evergreen shrubbery. An asphalted parking area adjacent to the apartments will be provided.

Future plans at the cite include the construction of a swimming pool complete with fence and patio furniture.

Central laundry facilities will be provided on each floor, Gilbert said.

Scandaliato Co. Pays Extra Share Dividend

Owners, at the recent annual stockholders meeting of the Scandaliats Building Co., voted to pay the fourth annual dividend of $1.00 per share.

The company, a closed corporation also voted to pay an additional $1.00 per share special divident to all stockholders of record.

Casa Allegra Is Now Open For Business

One of the new restaurants in the Colorado Springs area to have opened its doors in the past few months is the Casa Allegra, located at 118 N. Cascade Ave.

Situated in what used to be the coffee shop of the old Alta Vista Hotel, the Casa Allegra specializes in traditional Italian cooking.

According to Charles Morreale, owner of the new eating place, the restaurant caters to the family clientele.

All Italian food, but especially traditional pizza with Italian sausage made in the kitchen of the Casa Allegra, is the house specialty.

Morreale and his wife came to Colorado Springs in August of this year from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and opened the restaurant on Aug. 6, 1964.

Serving luncheons from 11 a. m. until 2 p.m. and dinners from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m., the Casa Allegra also caters to phoned reservations for special parties according to Morreale.

VOTES NEW CABINET

SAN MARINO (UPI) — The newly-elected Grand and Central Council of this postage-stamp republic voted a new anti-Communist coalition cabinet into office Friday night. Most members of the outgoing government retained their posts.

Business Reported Tops, New Record May Be Set

Business is excellent as the current expansion continues to behave as a fairly robust old man. Purchasing executives indicate that new records will be set in many areas during 1964.

Nevertheless, all indicators show some leveling off or slowing in rate of improvement this month, except prices which reflect added pressure upward. This situation is not uncommon in the late stages of an expansion.

Both new order and production figures reveal a definite slowing in rate of improvement. The 35 per cent showing better new orders is the lowest to so note since last December. However, it should be pointed out that the number reporting better new orders has dropped from September to October in every year since 1955 except 1959.

It is too early to tell if the changes in rate are signs of old age or reflect specific and explainable conditions. Many factors are bearing on the situation, the most important being the unexpected length of the auto strike. A strike in a major packing house, a fall off in some areas of construction and allocation of certain commodities also are reflected.

September revealed a sharp pickup in rate of inventory accumulation, reversing a trend in effect since April. The pickup was short-lived as October notes a sharp slowing in rate of accumulation. However, modest accumulation continues as 24 per cent down from 29 per cent show increases; and 19 per cent up from 16 per cent, show decreases.

A special question shows that 37 per cent of our members plan to add to inventory because of a potential steel work stoppage. In fact, 13 per cent have already started adding. One wonders what the inventory accumulation figures above might be today if there were no additions because of steel negotiations.

There is more concern expressed in members' remarks for lengthening lead time and the developing need to extend commitments than in the cold statistics. The percentages show little change during October.

A broader look at the figures does, however, reaffirm that a mild extension has occured during the past 12 months in the production material and capital areas. A year ago, 53 per cent were buyng production materials on a 60-day - or-longer basis and this month the figure is 60 per cent. Similarly, capital expenditures in this same period moved from 67 per cent in the 90-day-and-over category to 74 per cent.

An October special question was aimed at checking out production levels. A huge 96 per cent up from 93 per cent last April, report that they are at 75 per cent or more of normal capacity, and 70 per cent up from 61 per cent in April, are producing at 90 per cent or more of that level. The gradual push toward full capacity operations has, of course, affected commitments as discussed above.

The slowing in rate of improvement in employment levels noted since July continues this month, with a drop in those reporting larger payrolls. In August, those telling of more employees outnumbered those with less by 3 to 1. This month, higher levels are noted by 18 per cent, down from 24 per cent in September; and 11 per cent, up from 10 per cent, call for fewer employees. The 71 per cent telling of "no change" is the largest per cent to so note since 1956.

Prices took another step upward in October, as 41 per cent of our members disclose boosts in the items they buy. A scant 3 per cent report lower prices. In September, the figures were 34 per cent "higher" and 2 per cent "lower."

In hitting the 41 per cent prices "up" has reached the second highest level in 6 years. In October, 1963, those noting increased prices spurted to 56 per cent but steadily dropped to 21 per cent with the subsequent 4 months. The current price picture continues to command the attention of every purchasing executive, and this concern is again reflected in the comments of our committee.

Nonferrous metals continue to top the list of commodities being higher price tags. Fuel oil advanced seasonally. Buyers have little at which to point as a counterbalance as, for the first time since last January, not one item is reported to have turned downward.

Uniform Shop To Operate Under New Owners

The Region's professional "women in white" will be especially interested to learn that the Cheryl Lynne Uniform Shop, 8 N. Nevada Ave., has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. J P. Hammonds, and will operate under the new name, The Uniform Center of Colorado Springs.

The new management extends a cordial invitation to the public to their open house all this week.

Hammonds received his training and experience as a junior salesman on the staff of the former owner, Robert Anderson, who was affiliated with the Frances G. Garment Co., uniform wholesalers.

He has also been associated with his mother, Mrs. Willie Mohrendweiser, in the ownership and management of the Rambling Rose Motel, 1618 S. Nevada Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammonds and 9-month old daughter, Patricia Kay, live at 429 Ponderosa Drive in Security.

The Hammonds plan to enlarge the stock of The uniform center with many additional models and styles for both men and women.

Their inventory will include both white and colored uniforms for nurses, beauticians, dietitians and laboratory technicians as well as coats and smocks for doctors, dentists, pharmacists and barbers.

The former owners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and young daughter, Cheryl, will leave soon for Los Angeles to make their home.

Anderson, who is employed by the Brehm-Crossland Co., 1228 E. Filmore St., has been transferred to California as company representative of Brehm-Crossland's office at Los Angles. They have been living at 107 Widefield Blvd., Security.

Local Electronic Expert Has Unique Stereo System

Music lovers who want hi-fi stereo systems that sound full, rich, deep, reverberant and brilliant will do well to contact William L. Evans, local electronic expert.

Evans, who operates his hsop at 11 E. Mill St., has developed, during his years of experience, a hi-fi system that possesses a superior degree of the elusive quality known to the trade as "presence".

Evans, who has studied the problem of maintaining and developing a system to reproduce music with a high degree of faithfulness for more than 30 years, noted that the weak link in an electronic music system is the loudspeaer and its enclosure.

He has discovered high fidelity performance that will meet the needs of the most critical listener can be achieved through the proper design of loudspeakers and enclosures.

"The trend in louspeaker system design today is the use of four or more small, inexpensive loudspear units mounted in a cabinet not acoustically correct or matched to the base loudspeaker units enclosed within the particular system," Evans said.

"The problem of overcoming these difficulties lies in developing a loudspeaker system and enclosure that eliminates the loss of true music qualities so much in demand by music lovers," he added.

Evans has achieved considerable success with the design of special louspeaker systems. He has designed and installed more than 100 custom music systems in the Colorado Springs area and more than 200 special systems for do-it-yourself fans.

All of the Evans' loudspeaker systems embody sound engineering practices known for many years. The innovations developed by Evans and incorporated into his designs have been developed through experience and his personal research.

Evans' most recent achievement in loudspeaker-systems design is a 3-way free-standing system with a volume of three cubic feet, and a 2-way bookshelf system with a volume of one cubic foot.

These loudspeaker systems, which have been named Stentoronic and Stentoronic Jr. respectively, are outprforming all loudspeaker systems in their respective size and price ranges.

The name Stentoronic is derived from Greek mythology, and it means: "The little loudspeaker with the big voice."

Since these systems are custom built locally, they are available in all wood finishes and a choice of grill cloths. The systems are of the high efficiency type that can be driven by a low-power amplifier. They are designed to handle 25 watts of program material.

Evans occupies a unique position in the local electronics industry for he is the only man in this area who designs and builds acoustically matched loudspeaker systems, where the enclosure is matched to the bass loudspeaker unit of the proper kind.

He was the first man in this area to design and install custom music systems of distinction for the home, and also the first electronics instructor in School District No. 11, a position he held for seven years.

He was an instructor in and a director of the pre-war Labor College, the predecessor of the present Adult Evening School in District No. 11. He has taugh a number of specialized electronics couses in the Adult Evening School. He has to his credit a number of important "firsts" in local public address designs and installations.

Evans has been in the highly specialized business of hi - fi stereo kits and components sales and service, with emphasis on the technical aspects of the business, for the past 15 years. During this time he also has been a technical consultant to the do-it-yourself hi-fi stereo hobbyists who delight in building their own music systems. He has the best equipped service laboratory in this area.

Vehicle Output Set at 108,483 Units for Week

Motor vehicle production in the U. S. last week totaled 108,483 units, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today.

The week's output included 89,534 cars and 17,954 commercial vehicles were produced, the AMA said.

Cumulative output in 1964 through October 24 totaled 7,349,330 units, including 6,078,885 cars and 1,270,445 commercial vehicles. In the same period last year 7,188,443 trucks and motor coaches.

A major development during the week was an announcement by the industry that the 1964 model year passenger car production set a new record of 7,892,090 units. This is more than 550,000 units higher than the previous all-time record established in 1963.

REVOLUTION IN MISSIONS

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — "The missionary era as we have known it is gone and will never return," the Rev. Albert J. Nevins, editor of Maryknoll magazine, told a convention of Roman Catholic mission - sending societies here. He said:

"Certainly the missioner as the 'great white father', the administrator and guardian, can no longer exist except in a few isolated pockets of the world, and the sooner he disappears there, the better. But there is room for a new type missioner . . . The lesson is obvious: change and you can survive; fail to change and your effectiveness is ended."

Welcoming Service Names Newcomer of the Month

Mrs. Edward S. Hinton, 1228 Chelton Rd., chosen as "Newcomer of the Month" by the Hi Neighbor Welcoming Service, toured the Gazette Telegraph plant last week.

The Gazette Telegraph, one of the 33 merchant sponsors of the service, was represented during the tour by Preston Trower, Gazette circulation department manager.

Mrs. Hinton, whose husband is a captain assigned to Ent Air Force base as a part of the Cheyenne Mountain project, was escorted through the various departments of the newspaper plant where each of the numerous operations necessary to the publising of a newspaper were explained to her.

Mr. William K. Henderson, owner of the welcoming service with offices at 202 N. Weber St., provided a brief history of the Hinton family.

Mrs. Hinton is the mother of three children and a member of the Reorganized CHurch of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. She and her husband are graduates of the University of Michigan. Hinton at present is working on his master degree in electrical engineering at the CU extension school.

Mrs. Hinton is a registered nurse and a member of the Ent Officer Wives Club. A native of Michigan, she moved here with her family from Boston, Mass.

"After living in various parts of the country, we find that this is by far the friendliest," she said.

Activities of the family include music appreciation and camping. The family arrived in Colorado Springs three weeks before their house was finished so they camped in a camping area north of the city for the three weeks. They reported they enjoyed the outdoor living and would like to do it again sometime.

Mrs. Hinton added that this is the first place we have ever lived where we feel the merchants were sincerely happy to met us and have our business.

The welcoming services has been in operation since April of this year, and at present calls on 125 to 150 newcomers per month. During the summer months this number is increased to approximately 300 per month, Mrs. Henderson said.

Helping her in the work are seven hostesses supplemented by 33 merchants some of which are all city sposors and some of specific city areas only.

"A hostess calls on a newcomer after making an appointment," Mrs. Henderson said. "She welcomes the newcomer and provides her information about the area compiled by public schools, the library, YM and YWCA, post office, United Council of Churces, Air Force Academy and other service institutions.

NEWCOMER OF THE MONTH TOUR—Mrs. Edward S. Hinton learns the intricacies of the newspaper business as she tours the Gazette Telegraph plant with Preston Trower, the paper's circulation manager. Mrs. Hinton was selected for the honor by the Hi Neighbor Welcoming Service of which the Gazette Telegraph is a sponsor. Mrs. Hinton was also entertained for the day and taken out to lunch. In addition she received gifts from merchants and the welcoming service. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

The hostess also gives the newcomer a map of the city and points out the merchants and services that sponsor the Hi Neighbor welcoming calls. The hostess represents and recommends only one of a kind of business or service," Mrs. Henderson said.

"The newcomer is often hesitant about the sincerity of our friendliness but after receiving all the information and meeting our sponsors, she becomes grateful to the hostess, the sponsors and the city in general she added.

Each sponsor gives the newcomer a gift or a gift certificate from his business and also provides her with a tour of that particular business. There are also gifts for the husband and children of the selected newcomer.

The Hendersons are members of the First Methodist Church, the Chamber of Commerce and the Republican party.

Mrs. Henderson is a graduate of Southern Methodist University with a BA degree in advertising and retail merchandising. She is a member of the Junior League of Colorado Springs and the Zeta Tau Alpha National Sorority.

Henderson is a graduate of the University of Texas with a BS in political science. He is a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity, VFW and the Army Reserve Officers.

He served in Korea and was in the Military Government Division of the army in Japan for two and one half years.

The Hendersons have three young children.

Hostesses working for the service are, Mrs. Robert Clark, 3923 Applewood Dr; Mrs. Jack Burou, 2318 Chelton Rd.; Mrs. E. L. Stokes, 115 N. Brentwood Dr; Mrs. Grace Hindman, Mrs. Alston Sharp, 1218 Adams, Dr; Mrs. Tom Peace, 3004 Adams Circle; Mrs. Keith Harris, 2218 Mesa Rd.

THREE SETS OF BROTHERS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—When third basemen Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and Clete Boyer of the Yankees opposed each other in the World Series they made it the third brother act in the fall classic.

The last brothers to play on rival teams in a Series were outfielders Emil (Irish) Meusel of the Giants and Bob Meusel of the Yankees. They were rivals in 1921, 22, 23, 24.

McKesson Co. Shows Net Income Raise

Consolidated net earnings after taxes of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1964, were $2,880,632 compared to $2,618,834 for the corresponding period of 1963. Per share earnings in the two periods were 63 cents and 62 cents respectively on 4,237,890 and 4,220,858 common shares outstanding, according to unaudited figures announced today (Wednesday) by Herman C. Nolen, Chairman.

Total sales in the September, 1964, quarter were $205,090,691 against $192,304,489 in the same quarter of 1963. The Company's fast-growing chemical distribution business made the major contribution to the Company's improved earnings, Mr. Nolen noted.

For the six months ended Sept. 30, 1964, consolidated net income was $5,302,445, equivalent to $1.25 per share on the 4,237,890 common shares outstanding on that date. In the corresponding period last year, net income was $4,644,939, equivalent to $1.10 per share on 4,220,858 shares. Sales in the 1964 six-month period rose to $402,248,073 compared to $374,718,256 in the same period of 1963.

Walker & Co. To Serve Ute Pass Area

firm, indicated that demands for mountain property are approaching an all time high and the remarkable growth of the general Ute Pass area is such that a branch office was needed to provide better service in this area.

The local realtor firm presently represents Colorado Mountain Estates, Trout Haven Ranch and Westcreek Lake subdivision and offers a complete realtor service on all mountain properties including Realtors Multiple Listing Service.

D. R. (Tony) Fay, a resident of the Woodland Park area for several years will manage the branch office and will specialize exclusively in Mountain Properties. Fay is a realtor and has been associated with Walker & Co., Inc., realtors since October 1963.

The branch office is conveniently located in the center of town on Highway US 24 in the new Midland Professional Building.

Exchange Club Hears Estate Expert Speak

Frank Golbey, trust officer of the First National Bank, spoke to Exchange Club members Thursday on the subject of estates and estate planning.

When death occurs many heirs are ignorant of the numerouh details connected with the settlement of an estate as a consequence heirs are surprised when they received less than the total amount the deceased expected to leave, Golbey said.

"Property transfer is the natural right of every person, but under the law it is a privilege granted to you by the state," Golbey said.

Court supervision with or without a will will occur, and during this period or probation estate shrinkages happen, Golbey said.

In explaining what occurs to an estate during this time, Golbey listed such costly procedures as burial costs, court costs, document examination, assembly of assets, insurance, survey, attorney and executors fees, etc.

Such costs in estates comprised of $50,000 to $500,000 can run as high as 4 to 5 per cent. All obligations at death become liens against an estate while during the life of the owner such liens were paid out of estate income.

Ways of reducing shrinkage during tne probate period were listed by Golbey as having a proper will drawn for efficient execution. This eliminates much costly red tape, Golbey said. Such a will can also eliminate the bonding of an executor, and can provide for children care, guardians, insurance trusts to save on taxation both future and present.

"In fact," Golbey said, "the drawing of proper trusts can avoid probate costs."

Golbey, a native of New Jersey, came to Colorado Springs in 1955. He is a graduate of Rutgers University and previous to his arrival here, was employed in Phiadelphia as a state planner and underwriter with an insurance company.

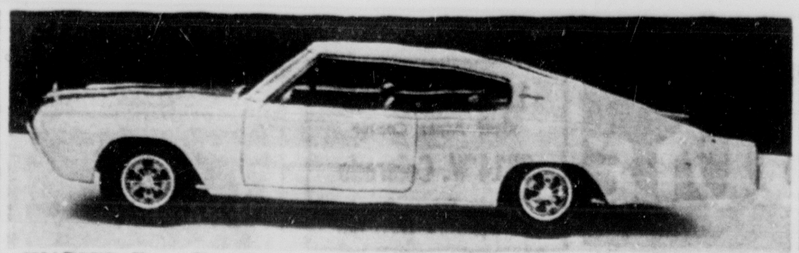
Dodge Features 'Idea' Car at Current Shows

A new "idea" car which incorporates the sporty appeal of fastback styling with the latest in interior innovations will be shown by Dodge at major automobile shows during the current season.

This newest of Dodge designs is being shown initially at auto show in Los Angeles, Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore.

Named "Charger II," the one-of-its-kind automobile has a sleek, ultra-modern appearance but not a "way-out," car-of-the-future design. Some of its features it might well be a car of tomorrow.

Unlike its forerunner, the "Charger" — a customized competition roadster featured in Dodge auto show exhibits last year — "Charger II" is a brand new car from the ground up.



CHARGER II — This name has been given by Dodge to this sporty fastback model. The car, which is customized, is being featured in Dodge exhibits at maor automobile shows this season. Its appearance is distinctive from all other cars on the road today.

Whereas the first "Charger" was developed from a standard Dodge convertible, "Charger II" owes its appearance to no vehicle now on the highway.

"Though new and youthful in design, the car has a style which should appeal to people of all ages," said Burton H. Bouwkamp, Dodge chief engineer and manager of car product planning.

"The 'Charger II' is comfortable and has an extremely versatile interior. With true bucket seats in the rear, a luxury ride is provided for four passengers."

SET SAIL

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Three hundred and two American students and teachers sailed Friday night for Barcelona, Spain, aboard the floating university "Seven Seas." Barcelona is the second stop on their world cruise.

TYPICAL PROBLEM

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A big hunk of decorative cornice broke loose from the roof of San Francisco's historic mint Friday and plummeted 50 feet onto the roof of a car below.

The car belonged to the building's maintenance chief, Steve Jackson Jr.

"That's pretty typical of the problems I've got keeping that place together," Jackson sighed.

LESSON OF TRAGEDY

NEW YORK (AP) — Commending the Warren Commission report as a "masterful document," Archbishop Iakovos, head of Greek Orthodoxy in the Americas, says the events it describes should serve as a continuing reminder that there "are fierce forces, unfortunately almost irresistably prevalent today, which must be combatted with every ounce of our will and strength, vigilantly and with every resource of spiritual faith."

Why Buy Label Without Checking Package Inside?

By SAM CAMELL

Anybody can tell you the difference between a case of mumps and a case of beer.

Out how many are discerning enough to see the difference between schooling and education?

Or how about the difference between government and government?

The point is—in this wonderful English language of ours—some words are used to mean different things and different words are used to mean things that seem like the same.

The science that deals with such confusion is called semantics. More exactly this science is defied as the science that deals with words and symbols in relation to those things to which they refer. Oh, it is a tangled subject!

For there are words that refer only to abstractions, and there are actually words that refer to nothing at all. Yet semantics is a useful tool. The businessman uses a built - in sense of semantic every day. A carload of lumber, for intance, is a carload of lumber to most of us, but not to a lumberman; he knows that the lumber in that car could be either two - by - fours or plywood, pine siding or oak flooring etc. For the lumberman deals in specifics.

Because he deals in specifics the lumberman is able to make a profit on lumber whereas most of the rest of us would go broke trying to do the same thing. Other businessmen also deal in specifics and make successes in their particular lines of work.

However, once a man steps outside his own field of knowledge, he is more likely to go by the word rather than to inquire into that to which the word refers. That is he tends to rely on the label rather than to look at the content.

Now as to the difference between a case of mumps and a case of beer, no one needs to be informed. His own experience is enough. But that same person might easily become confused on other words.

Take a school bond issue, for example. The businessman is told the money will go for education. And he easily swallows the implied idea that schooling and education are one and the same.

The fact is, however, that a man might become educated without ever going to school. And it is also true that a man might pursue schooling unit he had a PhD, and yet would remain uneducated.

Schooling is the process of being instructed by someone else; education is the inner enlightment. This country had many great men in the days of the American Revolution when it had few instructors. Today it has many instructors, but few great men. Obviously then, schooling and education are not one and the same.

This brings us to a more difficult aspect of semantics—the case where one word is used to refer to two or more different things. Example: the word "government" to some persons means law and order (good things); to others "govern - ment" means bureaucracy (a bad thing). And these two persons argue strongly. If each understood what the other was referring to, they might even agree.

DASSAULT CHARGED

PARIS (UPI) — A Corsican, Jean-Jacques Casanova, was charged formally Friday with the kidnapping in May of Mrs. Marcel Dassault, wife of a millionaire French airplane builder.

Court officials said the 36-year-old suspect had confessed he was the mastermind behind the abduction. Mrs. Dassault was found by police before payment of a demanded $2 million ransom.

Local Insurance Man Sees Aid By Automation

"Our business is expanding so rapidly that the company is installating the largest IBM 7010 in this country to speed up policyholder service and allow for continued growth," said Rollie Paulson, local district manager of Farmers Insurance Group.

Paulson has just returned from attending the organization's Presidents Council in Los Angeles.

"With its 200,000 positions of memory, the IBM 7010 will make it possible to give our policyholders more rapid service because we shall be processing accounts on a daily rather than monthly cycle," said Paulson.

Under the new plan, policy service will remain on a decentralized basis in the nine regional offices in the company's 25-state operating territory. Centralized data processing will link the regions to the Los Angeles Home Office by telephone lines. Each region will have small computer feeding data to the big Home Office computer.

Paulson explained that under this plan, a transaction that reaches the regional office one day will go into its computer for transmission to the Home Office IBM 7010 the same day.

The Home Office computer will work all night and transmit the completed translations to the regional computer next morning. Information was transmitted previously by air mail. The new program will mean the addition of light shift of data processing personnel in the Home Office.

"Mountains of paper work are a part of the insurance business," explained Paulson. "The new procedure will make it possible for the company to complete this paper work more rapidly so that it can give quicker service to the policyholder and at the same time take care of the additional work that comes with rapid expansion of its business."

The Presidents Council is made up of 61 of the company's foremost agents and district managers from among some 7,900 who meet annually with company officials to discuss ways of improving policyholder service and planning the next year's sales program.

Kaman Nuclear Service Center Increases Staff

The Computer Service Center at Kaman Nuclear has announced the addition of Joseph Aliano to its staff. Aliano has had over 10 years experience in the data processing field developing systems for tabulating equipment and medium and large scale computers.

He has had considerable experience in all phases of manutory control, payrool and other accounting applications.

Aliano is a member fo the Data Processing Management Association and is a graduate of the Bently School of Accounting and Finance in Boston and has a BS degree in finance from the University of Hartford. He was employed by the Kaman Aircraft Corporation in Bloomfield, Connecticut, for 11 years before moving to Colorado Springs.

J. R. Galvin, Data Processing Representative, says, "The background and experience brought to Kaman Nuclear by Mr. Aliano is in keeping with our plans to continue to provide our customers with the best computer service available by expanding our staff with highly qualified analysts and programmers as well as providing the most modern, up-to-date, high-speed computing equipment."

Kaman Nuclear has offered computer services to businessmen in Colorado for several years. General accounting, accontrol, production control, sales analysis and payroll are just a few of the applications offered by Kaman Nuclear on its large scale, high-speed computer. Total or partial systems are available to process data for any size business.

Campaign Will Tell State Trucking Story

The Board of Directors of the Colorado Motor Carriers' Association has approved an expanded statewide educational campaign to tell the Colorado trucking industry story, it was announced today.

CMCA Managing Director William Cormack said the expanded educational program will continue through 1965. It will include, he said, both internal and external information bulletins — with heavy emphasis on the essential nature of truck transportation to Colorado's economy, as well as factual material on state truck taxation.

The CMCA managing director said all association activities, including conferences and meetings, will be coordinated with the educational campaign.

"Overall intent of the program is to coordinate private interests with the public interest and tell the 'straight story' of the importance of the trucking industry in Colorado," said Cormack.

Target of the educational program: citizens and citizen groups, civic leaders, newspaper editors, legislators, and the trucking industry itself.

In connection with the educational campaign, the CMCA Board of Directors reaffirmed unanimously a long-standing policy — adoption of a two-structure truck tax policy in Colorado.

Cormack said CMCA's advertising-public relations agency — R. D. Lodders & Associates of Denver — is currently compiling data for the educational program on Colorado trucking. Lodders also is editor of the CMCA magazine, Colorado Motor Carrier.

Transportation leaders of Colorado's major industries are being contacted, Cormack said, in compilation of data on the significant import of highway transport in the state's economy.

Finance Company Names Chicago Man as Manager

J. Reid Pearson has been named manager of the newly formed Pikes Peak Finance Company, 20 E. Bijou St. This new firm will be open for business Monday, making small loans on signature, household goods and automobiles.

Pearson is not new in this business as he started in the finance field in Chicago many years ago and has been active ever since until his retirement last February.

Pearson was born in Chicago where his family has lived since 1886. He was educated in Chicago schools. He is well known in Colorado Springs, having been a resident here since 1947. He is married and his wife Ruth is a co-partner in the Peak Chemical Laboratory, 283 Willamette Street.

The Pearsons reside at 28 Cypress L., Broadmoor, and attend the Broadmoor Community Church of which Pearson is a deacon. He belongs to Masonic Lodge No. 13, Consistory No. 1, Denver and Al Kaly Shrine. He is also a member of Downtown Lions Club, El Paso Club and the Garden of the Gods Club.

Rebel Miners Call Off Bolivian Strike

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—The rebellious miners federation Saturday called off a strike in this riot-torn nation.

Radio Huanuni, one of several stations owned by the federation, ordered all miners to return to their posts at 8 a.m. today. The strike was called during the height of anti-government rioting this week by leftist students, miners and other workers.

An uneasy peace settled over the cities which have been the main battleground, but there was no indication that the nation's political problems had been permanently solved.

Pershing Missile Test Firing Slated

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (UPI) —A missile unit from Ft. Sill, Okla., will travel to the Hueco range at Ft. Bliss, Tex., next week for a series of test firings of the Army's Pershing missile.

Each of the four firing batteries of the 3rd Missile Battalion of the 84th Artillery will fire one of the solid-fueled Pershings. The missiles are to be fired from the Hueco range at the southernmost end of White Sands Missile Range to another point on the range.

The unit will travel in a 150-vehicle convoy from Ft. Sill to Ft. Bliss. The convoy is to leave Ft. Sill Thursday and make one overnight stop at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, Tex.

The Pershing, a two-stage rocket with a range of from 100 to 400 miles, has been in the hands of American troops for more than a year.

World War II Fighter Ace Is Now at Ent

Twin engine, twin tailed fury stalked somber skies over Germany during World War II. Lt. Col. Joseph E. Miller (then Captain Miller) and his P-38 Lightning aircraft were credited with five kills in the air which qualified him to be listed as a "Fighter Ace."

Add this to his piloting C-47s and B-26s during the Korean Conflict and you have one of the most distinguished records in the history of the U. S. Air Force. Among his ribbons, you'll find the Distinguished Flying Cross and 16 Air Medals.

Colonel Miller, today, is acting chief, Long Range Plans Branch, Plans and Policy Division, DCS-Plans, Air Defense Command.

He is an Alabaman from Montgomery. His wife comes from a neighboring southern community, Athens, Ga. They and their children, Joseph E. III, 17, and Sinclair, 15, live at 1235 Baylor Drive in Colorado Springs.

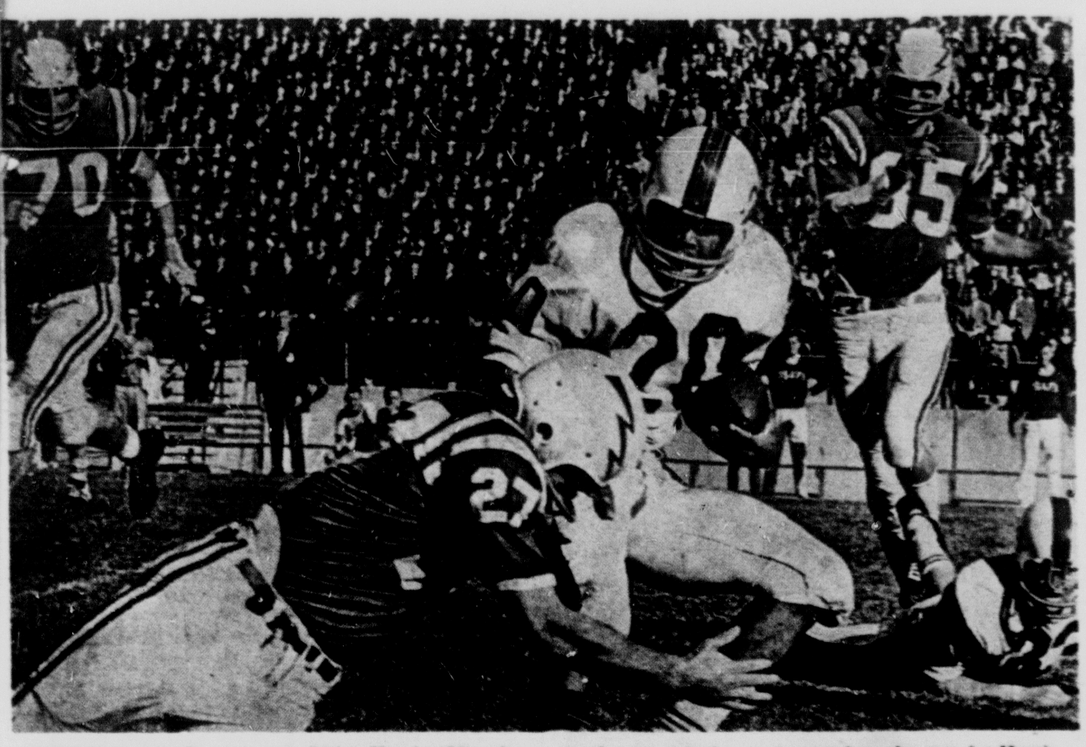
Air Force Bombs Arizona With Long Pass Play, 7-0



SKINNING A CAT—Arizona's Rickie Harris (20) tries in vain to get away from a tackle by Air Force halfback Dick Czarnota (27) as the two teams met for a third time and the Falcons continued to keep a clean slate against the Wildcats. Floyd Hudlow (33) is on the ground after trying to clear the way for Harris. Coming up to help out are Phil Bacigalupo (70) and Jim Greth (85) of the Air Force. The Falcons connected on a 49-yard pass play with less than three minutes remaining in the game to pull out a 7-0 decision.

Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Executing a perfectly timed pass half the distance of the football field with less than three minutes remaining in the contest, the Air Force Academy bombed the University of Arizona with a 7-0 decision Saturday afternoon before a crowd of 32,325 fans in Falcon Stadium.

The pulsating pass from southpaw quarterback Tim Murphy to track sprinter Fritz Greenlee deep in the fourth period changed quickly what appeared to be a probable scoreless tie between the two teams bent on a defensive standoff.

The victory ended a three-game losing streak for the Falcons and gave Coach Ben Martin's Cadets a third triumph in seven games this season. It was also a third straight win over Arizona in their series. The loss evened the Wildcats record for the season at 3-3 and was their third loss in the last four games with only a 15-7 upset of future AFA opponent Wyoming interrupting the skein last week.

Greenlee's dash down to sideline after catching a 20-yard Murphy aerial soothed the frustrations that have typified this Falcon team. Again the AFA was able to score only once, as they have done in all but one of their seven games, but it was enough this time as a determined defense threw back each Arizona threat.

The game was a flip-flop during the two halfs with Arizona twice getting into Air Force territory during the second quarter, but the final two periods the Falcons dominated throughout. Arizona was able to run but fourplays (including a punt) in the third stanza, and had the ball for but 15 running plays in the fourth period.

The Air Force came within inches of scoring again in the third quarter and it was only up to the referee's decision that the suspense remained to the final minutes. After the second half kickoff the Falcons drove right down field for 67½ yards in 16 plays but a gallant goal line stand by the Wildcats kept them at bay.

They had four cracks from point-blank range after getting a first down at the Arizona two yard line, but two shots by halfback Dick Czarnota gained but one yard, and then quarterback Paul Stein got to the six-inch line and then to the two-inch mark on sneaks but was thrown back by the aroused Cat defense.

That was the closest either team came to the end zone chalk, with the exception of Greenlee's fine effort on the winning TD pass, but the Air Force attempted two field goals in vain during the second half and Arizona passed its way to the AFA 12 before an interception by Johnny Puster ended the threat in the second period.

Air Force continued to ring up good yardage via the passing route, with Murphy hitting on eight of 11 attempts for 133 yards and his alternate Stein true on four of six for another 40 yards. But it was the balanced offense provided by the Falcon runners that brought approval from Martin as his team picked up 120 yards on the ground. Other than in the win over Colorado State University, that was the only time this season they have surpassed the century mark in rushing.

Leader in this running was AF fullback Steve Amdor with 47 yards in 15 carries, but he was ably assisted with 40 yards from Czarnota and 38 by Stein. Fullback Preston Davis was Arizona's top rusher with 36 yards on 11 sorties, and next best was sub quarterback Lou White with 15 yards.

Although the running was improved over performances against the defensive giants like Notre Dame, Missouri, Michigan and Washington, it was still the Air Force passing that paid off. Not only did the lone score come via Murphy's left arm, but the slightly-built Irishman also was responsible for working his team deep into Arizona territory with passes in the final two periods.

Credit should go to the Falcons for the way they threw off the disappointment of not scoring on their first long drive of the second half and still coming on later to completely dominate the latter part of the contest. A large part of the comeback effort was due to the improved play of the winner's line which pushed the Wildcats around repeatedly after the halftime intermission.

Oddly enough, this was only the second time this season the Air Force has been able to score in the second half. The other time was against CSU in the narrow 14-6 victory. The only other win came on a first period field goal in the 3-2 game against Washington in the opener.

The stalemate that was to unfold was evident in the first period as the two teams traded punts four times with neither working up much of a threat. Air Force did move to the Arizona 27 after a short kick by the Cats to midfield, but that died when a fourth down play came up two yards short at the 26.

The kicking game continued to rule the game well into the second period, but then the Wildcats started to march for the first time with quarterback Gene Dahlquist hitting two fine passes to end John Fouse. They moved from their own 28 for 60 yards in but seven plays to the AFA 12, with Dahlquist connecting to Fouse for 20 and 19 yarders, but the passing game backfired with an interception.

Dahlquist dropped back 20 yards behind the line at the furtherest penetration, but the AFA's Puster swiped the ball at the 19 and returned it to the 27 on a fine display of running.

Still another interception, this one by guard Jim Soulek, stopped another Arizona threat just before halftime after Dahlquist had moved his team past midfield.

The Air Force roared out of the dressing room and put together its longest drive of the game to open the second half. Murphy hit Greenlee twice for passes good for 13 yards each in the series and most of the running was by Amdor. But they were denied the score by the goal line stand by Arizona's line after getting the first down at the two.

Arizona kicked out of danger on second down and the AFA came right back from their 49. Stein took over at quarterback and ripped off runs of 17 and 9 yards with scrambling efforts, and the Falcons were knocking again when the 187-pound junior from Lansing, Mich., hit on a swig pass to Jaggers for a first down at the eight.

But Stein was forced to "eat" the ball on a nine yard loss, and after connecting with Jaggers again to the 10, they missed on a first field goal try from the 18 by Bart Holaday which fell weakly short.

Murphy came in following a quick punting dual in the fourth period and promptly found Greenlee open on short passes to start the Falcons moving again. Greenlee, who ended up with six receptions for 111 yards, caught aerials of 15, 11 and 11 yards to get the Cadets as far as the 25. There, however, the drive stalled with two running plays and an incomplete pass and Dan Radtke missed a field goal try from the 34 which was short.

It definitely looked like a scoreless tie as the Air Force got the ball again with little over three minutes to go. Czarnota got a first down at the AFA 44 and after losing five yards Murphy sailed one to Bill Landes off the shotgun formation to set up a third-and-four situation.

From the Arizona 49, Murphy sent Greenlee to the left sideline and he sent a bullseye to the big hurdler. Defensive back Larry Fairholm was sticking tight to Greenlee, but he gathered in the ball, shouldered Fairholm out of the way, and sprinted down the chalk line to the goal for the 49-yard touchdown. Holaday added the placement and the AFA held the 7-0 lead.

Arizona tried five passes in the closing two minutes of play, completing one for eight yards, but gave up the ball on downs at their 35 and the Air Force ate up the remaining time with quarterback sneaks.

A big factor in the victory was the AFA's ability to keep the ball away from Arizona's ace punt return expert, Floyd Hudlow. Jaggers kicked for a 40-yard average, including one 55-yard quick kick and several out of bounds. Hudlow was unable to return a one (he averaged 41 yards on returns in early games) and he was held to but three yards net in rushing after leading his team with over a six yard average in previous contests.

GROUND GAINER

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jimmy Brown, 230-pound fullback of the Cleveland Brons and former Syracuse University All-American, set a National Football League record by winning the ground - gaining championship five consecutive seasons.

TWO-TIMING A WILDCAT—Air Force defenders Ken Jaggers (40) and linebacker Larry Tollstam (36) combine to stop Arizona fllback Preston Davis (32) during this action in Saturday's contest. Waiting to help out is Arizona's Ivan Leeper (73 but he never got the chance to throw a block. This was typical of the rugged defensive play from both teams as they had a scoreless tie until within the last three minutes of the game.

DIDN'T QUITE SCORE — Air Force halfback Dick Czarnota (27) leaps high over a stacked line in the third quarter of Saturday's game with Arizona, but was a yard short of the goal line. Later, the AFA made two stabs at the touchdown from a yard away, but was ruled short of paydirt on both attempts in a great stand by the Wildcats. Blocking for the Falcons is Bill Nemeth (54) while quarterback Paul Stein (10) watches after handing off. In on the tackle are John Briscoe (69) and Brian Hart (25) of Arizona. Win Builds Ego for Air Force

NO PLACE TO GO—Air Force quarterback Paul Stein (10) attempts to run through the Arizona line during this action in Saturday's game in Falcon Stadium, but finds the way blocked by several of the Wildcat defenders. They needed no sign over the door to tell which was the dressing room of the victorious team after Saturday's game in Falcon Stadium. The end of a three-game drought was written on the wide grins worn by the Cadets in the Air Force Academy's abode as they stripped their pads following the 7-0 decision.

It was obviously an ego-building victory for the Falcons after stumbling through the first six games with only two wins. It renewed hope for a winning season that could come with triumphs in their last three — with two on the road starting with a trip to Los Angeles and UCLA next Saturday.

The margin may have been slim, but from the attitude of the Cadets one could tell they had rebuilt confidence in their own play. They had come back after a frustrating experience in the third period when judged inches short of the touchdown, and it was a great individual play that finally brought home the winner before a crowd of 32,325 and a western regional television audience.

Perhaps typical of this was the way the AFA's alternating quarterbacks, Tim Murphy and Paul Stein, joked with each other and slapped one another on the back as they dressed side-by-side.

Stein was insisting that he had reached the goal line on the third period drive that went 67½ yards after the kickoff, but was foiled by the referee's decision that he was held some two inches from the line. The officials failed to signal as the waited to unpile the entire two teams to see where Stein ended up in the stack of players.

"I'm sure I went over both times (third and fourth downs) but someone grabbed me by the neck and pulled me back," Stein said. He was making no alibi, but just stating what he felt.

The disappointment of that series was erased in the fourth period when Murphy combined with swift end Fritz Greenlee on a 49-yard pass for the only touchdown of the game, however. Murphy described the play as "a flare out pattern that worked well for us early in the season, but hasn't been used for the last couple games."

Greenlee said he "was a little concerned about the first guy (Larry Fairholm of Arizona) that got to me, but I got by him with a stiff arm. The second guy wasn't coming up fast enough and I knew I could outrun him."

Greenlee, a sprinter and hurdler with the AFA track team who has been timed in 9.7 seconds for the 100, did out run the last defender. And the seven points was all they needed.

"We didn't want to make the mistakes that have been hurting us in other games," Coach Ben Martin said of the game strategy. "And I guess maybe we were a little too cautious sometimes when we got into fair position.

"The defense was real stout from both teams, though," Martin continued. "We worked hard for field position and finally got it in the second half and kept the pressure on them."

As for Greelee's great catch and run for the touchdown, Martin said it came as no big surprise to him, although he certainly was elated.

"Fritz can beat just about anybody on one-man coverage. But I was afraid at that stage in the game that he might be too tired. He proved he still had strength left with that run after he caught the ball," Martin said.

He explained that the Falcons played extra wide most of the game in his split end position, to keep him open. Arizona attempted to cover him with one defender, and Greenlee ended up with six receptions for 111 yards.

Martin also praised the kicking of halfback Ken Jaggers, who had to aim the ball away from Arizona's great return expert Floyd Hudlow. Hudlow had averaged 41 yards on puunt returns and had brought three all the way back for touchdowns. Saturday he never got the chance and Jaggers still averaged 40 yards on punts, kicking several out of bounds.

The AFA coach said he reverted to playing his Falcons on both offense and defense in the first half "as a means to building their confidence. But we found that one team was playing much more than the other on defense in the second wise, so we went back to playing one unit on offense and another on defense i the second half."

The results were pretty obvious as the Air Force dominated the second half after a stalemate and kicking dual during the first 30 minutes.

Across the hall, Coach Jim LaRue of Arizona was looking rather despondent after his team had held the Falcons at bay for all but the last three minutes of the game.

DAZZLING HALFTIME SHOW — The University of Arizona band, some 170 pieces strong and the prancing seven baton twirlers gave a brilliant halftime show at the Air Force-Arizona football game in Falcon Stadium, Saturday afternoon. Here, the Twirling Circus girls lead the band across the field during one act, which features a Halloween theme replete with ghosts and a gun fight and a scene from Boot Hill in Tombstone, Ariz. Also on hand for the halftime show, and during the game, was a group of pom-pon girls who performed throughout the afternoon.

Cheyenne Mountain Clinches Will Rodgers League Crown

Greg Cramblit Leads Tribe Over Canon City, 34-13

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Cheyenne Mountain won history's first Will Rogers League title Saturday in its first year of Class AAA ball and moved for the second year into the state football playoffs.

The Indians, behind the 30-point outburst of fullback Greg Cramblit, scalped Canon City's game Tigers, 34-13, in the Cheyenne stadium. Cheyenne will meet Southern League champion La Junta Nov. 7 at La Junita in a playoff for the eight state berth.

Cheyenne won the AA Pikes Peak League title last year and went on to take the state championship before moving up a classification.

The Indians and Cramblit got off to a slow first quarter and watched helplessly as the Tigers rolled to a touchdown 58 seconds after the opening kickoff and put across another four minutes later.

But Cheyenne overcame its early inertia and plowed over 13 points to knot the intermission score, 13-13.

It was all Cheyenne in the third period as Canon City ran five plays from scrimmage, fumbling once, punting once and having a pass fall incomplete. The Indians ran across two more TDs and in the fourth mopped up with a final score.

Speedy halfback Dennis Meese got the Tigers rolling after the opening kickoff as he spurted 77 yards around his left end to score, the play coming on the third down ox of the game. Larry Slater kicked the extra point.

Mickey Gann intercepted a Ted Garcia pass on Cheyenne's first series and the Tigers clawed 37 yards with Dan Scavarda passing to end Dave Eslick for the TD.

Then Cheyenne snapped out of apparent doldrums and went back to work. The Indians capped a 57-yard drive with Cramblit's first touchdown, a one-yard run. Canon City was forced to punt following and Cheyenne bulled from its own 27 to the Canon City 14, where Tiger coach Don Stimack vigorously protested a pass interference call against Canon City. The officials ruled unsportsmanlike conduct and finally placed the ball on the three.

Cramblit bounced off several defenders before crossing up the middle for TD No. 2. Garcia missed his only conversion boot and jubilant fans watched Homecoming ceremonies with a bit more relief.

The Indians took the second half kickoff and belted the Tigers back to the Canon City four, from which point Cramblit was programmed for a course to the right corner of the end zone and hit the spot as surely as an intermediate range ballistic missle.

Canon City fumbled on the first play after the kicoff and Cheyenne again marched 37 yards. This time Cramblit slid to the left corner from eight yards out and the TD iced the game.

Canon City stiffended for a time after that, once causing Cramblit to fumble on another TD jaunt inside the 20. But the Indians swarmed back and finally snatched the ball away as George Stowell intercepted a pass in the end zone for a touchback.

The Indians drove from their own 20 to the Canon City three in nine plays. From the three with 17 seconds left, Cramblit slanted for his 30th point.

Cramblit gained 85 yards during the game, raising his nine-game season total to 1,019 yards. He has scored 20 touchdowns this year, one more than he tallied last season.

Meese, largely because of his long scoring run, gained 126 yards on the ground for rushing honors. But Garcia, normally not a passing quarterback, earned honors as the passing star.

Garcia completed 10 of 13 passes for 129 yards. Cramblit and Gary Teats added three more completions to bring the total to 13 completions in 16 attempth for 171 yards. End Bill Massarand grabbed six passes, three from Garcia, two from Teats and one from Cramblit for 136 yards.

Cheyenne ended the regular season with a 7-2 overall record and an unblemished 4-0 WRL mark. Canon City has a 3-5 season mark and finished 1-3 in league play.

Birds Crush Terrors, 33-7

THUNDERBIRD STAR ON THE RUN — Jim Smith (42), Wasson's electrifying senior quarterback, sprints around the flank during the Thunderbirds' 33-7 victory over rival Palmer before 7,500 fans at Wasson Stadium Saturday afternoon. Smith passed for two touchdowns and ran another in sparking the 'Birds to the triumph that clinched them a tie for the Sout Central League title (Gazette Telegrap Photo)

Victory Clinches Tie for SCL Title

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Rugged Wasson exploded beneath a stunned Palmer team like an overdue time bomb Saturday afternoon as Gib Funk's Thunderbirds rolled to a smashing 33-7 victory before a crowd of 7,500 at Wasson Stadium and moved to the brink of the school's second South Central League football championship.

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Teleraph Sports Writer

With phenomenal Jim Smith taking to the airlanes for the clutch yardage and junior swifty Bruce Meade, contributing a pair of electrifying runs, the quick third - quarter shockers T-Birds streaked to a 21-0 halftime margin, added a pair of and then coasted in behind the reserves.

The triumph solidified Wasson's position at the top of the South Central League standings, enabling the 'Birds to clinch at least a tie for the crown, and elimination all other contenders with the exception of Pueblo East. The Eagles were to host Trinidad in Pueblo Saturday night and an upset by the Miners would hand the title to Wasson outright. The Thunderbirds conclude their schedule at Trinidad next week while East will travel to Palmer for its wrapup contest.

The win, the sixth straight for the T-Birds in this series, was also one of the most decisive. Wasson won by a 31-0 score in 1961 and added a 27-0 triumph a year ago, but on neither of those occasions did the northside school take command with such authority at such an early stage of the battle.

Smith, one of the most feared performers in southern Colorado throughout the season, was the big difference once again Saturday. With Palmer's tough defenses stacked to take away his darting runs around the flanks, the 142 pound T-Bird great quickly went to the overhead route, completing six of his first eight attempts, including two for touchdowns.

Meade, a 139 pound halfback who only recently moved into the starting backfield, provided the zip overland with two sizzling third quarter springs that completely put the game out of reach. The first, a 75 yard shot on a trap up the middle, was the longest run from scrimmage in Wasson history. Meade then came back with a 29 yard scamper for the final Thunderbird points just three minutes later.

Sharing the glory was the Wasson line which effectively choked off Palmer's bruising running game and gave harried quarterback, Larry Williams, very little opportunity to do much through the air. Charlie Steel, 170 pound senior end, was especially outstanding both ways, contributing several crunching tackles and adding two key pass receptions, one for 31 yards and a touchdown.

Smith ignited the fireworks on the opening kickoff. After fumbling the ball near the five yard line, he finally grabbed the handle and slipped through the Palmer defense to break clear, only to be hauled down at the Wasson 47 on a clutch tackle. The 'Birds then rammed downfield, shaking off the ill-effects of two offsides penalites, to smash across in 13 plays with Smith flipping over guard from the one for the score.

On the extra point attempt, Wasson was called for holding, moving the ball back to the 17 from where Smith fired to Steel on the right side from where the latter slipped into the end zone.

Misfortune struck the Terrors immediately following the kickoff, for the first of several times during the afternoon. A fumble at the Palmer 35 was captured by the 'Birds and after a pair of rushing attempts had gained only to the 31, Smith flicked a jump pass to Steel who shook off two tacklers and rambled across the goal. Steel then kicked the extra point.

Palmer launched its only drive of the afternoon midway through the second period, moving from its own 38 to Wasson 53 where a fourth down play failed to come up with the necessary yardage. With Smith passing out of seemingly impossible situations, the Thunderbirds then whipped back downfield to score again with 1:18 left in the half. Three Smith completions were the big plays in moving the ball to the four and after an offsides penalty had set the T-Birds back to the nine, the Wasson quarterback danced to his right and caught Rod Wells with a throw in the end zone. Wells had receptions for 25 and 24 yards earlier in the drive.

After halftime, it was mostly Meade. Palmer's first series of downs failed to gain and the Claude Spears, whose punting was exceptional all afternoon, boomed one 42 yards to the Wasson 23. Smith gained to the 25 and Meade then shot through a trap hole in the center of the line, turned toward the east sidelines, and outran the Palmer defense on a 75 yard trip to paydirt. Three minutes later, after Wasson had recovered a fumble at the Palmer 29, the T-Bird speedster was off again on the first play following.

The Terrors' touchdown came in the fourth quarter when a fumble in the Wasson backfield was claimed by Frank Wilson. The big Palmer end grabbed the ball on a bounce and lugged it 37 yards into the end zone.

The final score does not indicate the effectiveness of much of the Terrors' line play. Wasson was less successful than usual on many of its pet scampers over and outside the tackles and Smith's running attempts were generally contained extremely well. Tops among the Tribe sockers was guard John Van Druff, who drew considerable praise from the winners for his hard-hitting defensive work.

PUEBLO EAST WINS

Pueblo East stayed within reach of the South Central League pace-setter Wasson with a decisive 26-7 triumph over Trinidad, Saturday night at the Steel City's Public School Stadium.

The victory put the East team within grasp of Wasson.

ALWAYS A WINNER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Man O'War was an odds on favorite in the first race in which he ran, an overnight purse at Belmont Park on June 6, 1919.

'Mental Flatness Proves Costly' -- Bill Westbay

By DICK FOSTER

"We just didn't have a whole lot going for us," stated a somber Bill Westbay. And he was right, for his Palmer Terrors had just finished taking a 33-7 shellacking from Wasson's Thunderbirds, who dished out large portions of frustration to the Tribe all afternoon.

Probably the biggest thing to hit the Terrors in the face was the aerial attack which the T-Birds launched. "We knew they had a passing attack, stated the Tribe's chief, "but we weren't expecting as much of it as they gave us."

Westbay further said that his gridders reacted slowly in most phases of the game, but that in pass defense it was poorest. "We just waited too long," he concluded.

Westbay's assistant, Bill Gordon stated that the Terrors were more concerned with slowing down Wasson's ground game. So a pass defense could have been pushed aside somewhat, although Westbay said it had been drilled.

As far as the Tribe's strategy went, Gordon stated that they were planning nothing new. "We were just going for ball control, and heads up play." But in both mentors opinions, it was mental lapses that caused the poor Terror performance. "We weren't reacting nearly fast enough," stated Westbay. "A few times we hit pretty good on offense," he said, "but most of the time we made mistakes just because of mental flatness."

The Terrors undoubtedly were functioning too slowly in the game to do any good, while it looked like Wasson had adopted the Palmer ball control and heads up thinking. Tribe timing looked to be off, and four fumbles were costly—two of them went for Wasson touchdowns.

Jim Smith seemed a lot more than the Terrors could handle. At the head of the Wasson aerial bombing, he passed for 115 yards on key pinpoint throws. He ran for an additional 43 yards. "Smith was undoutedly the outstanding player of the game," commented Gordon.

Palmer picked up only 14 yards in the first half, and although their total for the afternoon was a little better —97 yards—Wasson rolled up 362 yards.

By halftime the T-Birds had it, 21-0. "It's awfully hard to regain any momentum when it's been stopped," stated Westbay. But there was little momentum on Palmer's part to begin with. When the Terrors finally did come around late in the fourth quarter, it was about 33 points too late.

Gordon praised the efforts of back, Bob Wake and tackle Gary Stockdale who performed well for the Tribe. Both have been hampered by injuries, and Wake did some good running regardless of an ailing knee that has kept him sidelined for all but two contests this year.

"The boys still have their sights on second place," stated Gordon, but they will have to do some better than they did Saturday to get anywhere near that second rung in the South Central League ladder.

Purdue Stings Illinois

By RON GILBER T
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, INd. (AP) — Sophomore Bob Griese of Purdue laced Illinois into a straightjacket with needle-sharp passes in the first half and the Boilermakers hung on to beat the Illini Saturday 26-14.

Purdue stayed at the top of the Big Ten football standings on a 4-0 record and virtually rubbed out Illini hopes for a second straight conference title by taggin them with their second loss.

Purdue scored three touchdowns in the first 18 minutes of play. Two came in the first quarter on marches of 60 and 55 yards during which Griese hit seven passes without a miss.

Illinois forged back on the passing of Fred Custardo and running of Jim Grabowski and Ron Acks and made it a battle in the second half.

Purdue got the clincher with 91 seconds left after Illinois punter George Donnelly threw a short pass on a fourth-and-10 from his own end zone.

'Can't Win Playing Just One-Half Game', Stimack

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

"We couldn't stop that big bull (Greg Cramblit) and when they scored that touchdown just before the half it broke our backs," related Canon City's grid boss Don Stimack after his Tigers dropped a 34-13 hard-fought decision to the host team Cheyenne Mountain.

The victory sewed up the first Will Rogers League championship for the Cheyenne footballers and a chance to compete for state honors.

Stimack called the Indians a good team and had special praise for Cramblit, who scored all five touchdowns and rushed for 80 yards. Cramblit ended the regular season with 20 touchdowns and 1,019 yards rushing in nine games.

But the Canon City coach told his gridders that the third WRL loss was again attributed to playing just one-half of all-out football when he stated, "Nice game boys! But you can't whip a team like Cheyenne playing just a half-game of heads up football."

Meanwhile, in the Cheyenne dressing room the winning team's coach Guy Barickman, who last year coached under Eldon Helm and saw the Indians win the state Double-A crown, was busy trying to count the injuries.

Going into Saturday's outing with Canon City, the Cheyenne team had two injuries in the line including guards Bill Kiner and Mike Keplinger and end Mike Conley. All three lads viewed the game from the sideline and their services were missed, especially in the first half when the Tigers dominated the ground attack.

But the big factor was Cramblit. The lumbering 198-pounder all-state fullback was injured in the Widefield game and developed a blood clot. Cramblit was told to stay off his feet and thus, the big fullback came into Saturday's game against Canon City without the benefit of conditioning and contact during the week.

Although Cramblit wasn't alone responsible for the victory, he made the difference and his bone-crushing runs allowed the Indians to pass with striking authority; something they haven't been able to do all year.

Funk Terms Ability to Hit Passes As Big Factor in Win Over Tribe

"The difference out there today was 'Smitty' (Jim Smith) rifling that ball," Wasson's Gib Funk told a swarm of well-wishers in the Thunderbird dressing room following his team's 33-7 victory over rival Palmer Saturday.

"Our ability to complete those key passes did the job," the veteran Thunderbird coach said. "Smitty just seems to be able to see all over the field. He did an outstanding job of finding the receivers."

Funk said that his team, which is basically a ground club, had not necessarily planned to go to the air so quickly, or so frequently. "Palmer's line is real strong," he said. "We didn't run off tackle as well as I thought we would and they did a good job stopping us outside. We just got into situations where we had to pass."

The Wasson coach did admit that the T-Birds had a little aerial tricery ready for the first play, one of which Smith threw a pass that barely missed clicking to Rick Donalson on the east sidelines. "We had hoped to score on that first play," Funk said. "The pass was a little behind Donalson and at a difficult angle or I think maybe we could have."

Funk had ready praise for Palmer guard John Van Druff, who was a touch foe for the Thunderbird linemen. "Steel (Charlie) was opposite him most of the time," the Wasson coach said, "and he was as good a kid as Charlie's had to block all year. That includes the Lakewood boy."

The Wasson mentor' also praised his own team for what he called "an improved effort. We were blocking better downfield today and we did several other things better too," he said.

Asked about the variety of formations the Thunderbirds used, Funk said this year's personnel makes some of them more successful than in the past. "For instance, Smith is the first kid I've ever had who can run off the single wing," he said. "But then, of course, he can do about everything."

Funk also was pleased with the running of halfback Bruce Meade who broke away twice during the afternoon. "If he could see, he'd be a heck of a ball player. The way it is he has to kind of feel his way," the Wasson coach laughed.

Asked about the league situation, Funk was understandingly pleased with his team's present situation which finds only Pueblo East with a chance to tie for the title. "I wouldn't mind having East lose tonight, before we have to go down to Trinidad," The Wasson coach said. "But, then, I think we can do it by ourselves now."

Zeno Paces UCLA Win Over Bears

By RON BERGMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Larry Zeno, UCLA's all-purpose quarterback passed 30 yards for a touchdown to end Kurt Altenberg with slightly more than one minute left Saturday, bringing the Bruins a 25-21 victory over California in a Pacific Athletic Conference up-set.

The scoring toss up the middle, Zeno's second of the game, wiped out a fine performance by California quarterback Craig Morton, who also passed for two touchdowns.

Both men also ran for a touchdown each.

Morton completed 24 of 43 for 288 yards in in the game. Zeno connected on 10 of 16 passes for 187 yards and carried the ball for another 54 yards.

Stanford Tumbles Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Stanford dominated from the opening kickoff but needed a 27-yard field goal with 13 seconds remaining to upset seventh-ranked Oregon 10-8 Saturday.

Oregon appeared to have the game won with less than two minutes remaining, but Stanford got a big break when Dave Lewis punted 61 yards to the Oregon one.

Oregon was forced to punt out with 54 seconds left and Stanford took over on the Oregon 45.

Lewis promptly passed 27 yards to Bob Blunt and left-footed Braden Beck kicked the decisive field goal before a stunned crowd of 26,800.

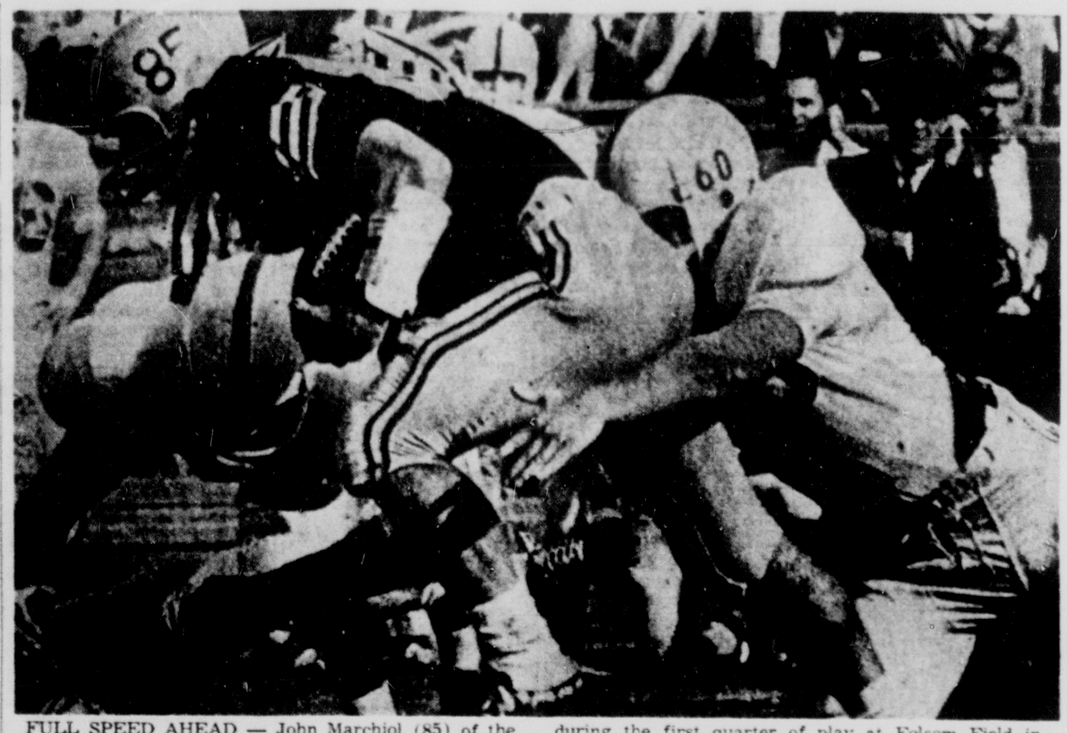
The loss ended Oregon's undefeated string at 10 games over a two-year period, including six this season. It also was a serious jolt to Oregon's Rose Bowl

TCU Scores 17 - 14 Win Over Baylor

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian combined a small dose of aerial witchcraft with the power running of Jim Fauver and Larry Bulaich and brewed a 17-14 upset over Baylor Saturday.

Triumph extended TCU's winning streak to three and thus buried the Southwest Conference title aspirations of Baylor's Golden Bruins.

The Frogs took the opening kickoff and smashed 80 yards for a touchdown, picked up three more points on a second-period field goal and clinched the victory with a 38-yard scoring drive in the final stanza.



FULL SPEED AHEAD — John Marchiol (85) of the University of Colorado cracks into the Oklahoma Sooners line for a gain of two yards. David Voiles (60) of Oklahoma is making the tackle. This action took place during the first quarter of play at Folsom Field in Boulder Saturday afternoon. The Oklahoma Sooners posted a 14-11 win. (AP Wirephoto)

Oklahoma Gridders Slip Past CU In Big Eight Conference Play

By FRANK PITMAN

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Larry Shields' 57-yard punt return for a touchdown in the fourth period after Lance Rentzel's 40-yard touchdown run in the first quarter insured Oklahoma's 14-11 Big Eight Conference football victory over Colorado Saturday.

Not one Buffalo defender touched Shields on his scoring trip along the east sideline. Rentzel sailed around his left end, cut back sharply to his right and behind a wave of blockers rambled diagonally across the field on his touchdown journey.

In the waning minutes Colorado marched 78 yards to a consolation touchdown. Bernie McCall's two passes covering 33 yards to Bill Fairband were the big gainers: Ben Howe plunged over for the touchdown and McCall ran over for a two-point conversion.

Two 15-yard penalties against Oklahoma, one for roughing the kicker and another for piling on, helped move Colorado to the Oklahoma 15 before the Buffs stalled and settled for a 31-yard field goal by Frank Rogers midway of the third quarter.

Oklahoma's crack defenders threw back two Colorado scoring threats in the second quarter. Howe presented Colorado with its first opportunity by running back 61 yards with a stolen Bobby Page pass to Oklahoma's 21. With the help of an offside penalty, Colorado moved to the Sooners' three but on fourth down the Oklahomans poured through to knock quarterback Hale Irwin back to his 13 on an attempted pass.

In the final minute of the half, Stan Harris faked a Colorado punt on a fourth-and-five down on his 46 and ran for a first down to the Oklahoma 47. McCall's 20-yard pass to Bill Symens and McCall's 17-yard pass to Estes Banks carried Colorado to the Oklahoma six. On second down Rod Crosswhite stole McCall's pass in the end zone to end the threat.

Huskers Topple Mizzou

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Nebraska broke open a brutal and scoreless defensive battle with a safety and a touchdown in the final quarter against fired-up Missouri Saturday for a 9-0 Big Eight football triumph.

Sophomore end Langston Coleman broke the ice by tackling Missouri quarterback Gary Lane in his own end zone with the final quarter less than three minutes old.

Seven minutes later, with Nebraska in possession on Missouri's 37, Cornhusker quarterback Bob Churchich faded back to pass, shook off one tackler and hurled a high arching throw to halfback Kent McCloughan. The senior halfback had to escape a tackler then got a key block from tackle Larry Kramer and cut across field for a touchdown.

The victory ran Nebraska's string to 14 games, longest in the nation among major colleges. The Huskers are 7-0 for the season, 4-0 in the Big Eight.

Missouri is 4-3 for the season, 2-2 in the loop.

Michigan Bombards Northwestern, 35-0

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Powerful Michigan scored three of the first four times it had the ball in rolling over Northwestern 35-0 in a Big Ten football game Saturday.

Quarterback Bob Timberlake scored twice for Michigan on runs of two and six yards.

Rick Volk and John Henderson combined on a 33-yard scoring pass in the second quarter as the Wolverines raced to a 21-0 halftime lead.

A 30-yard touchdown run by Mel Anthony in the third period closed out the scoring.

Northwestern did not pose a serious scoring threat until late in the final quarter when it marched to a Michigan six. But Dick Wells broke up a fourth-down Northwestern pass in the end zone to preserve Michigan's second shutout of the campaign.

The loss was the fifth in a row for the wildcats, who have now lost three straight seasons to Michigan.

The Wolverines brought their over-all record to 5-1 and their 3-1 conference record assured them of at least maintaining a tie for second place.

Michigan picked up 29 first downs against the outclassed Wildcats, 22 of them coming on the ground.

Michigan once again showed off a crushing ground attack, charging through Northwestern for 336 yards. It added 117 more through the air.

Northwestern was held to a mre 44 yards rushing and 109 in passing.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Minnesota put together John Hankinson's hot potato passing and a pass interception for a 21-0 Big Ten football victory over Indiana Saturday.

Hankinson, who passes quickly, pro-style, threw to Kenny Last for a 27-yard touchdown play in the third quarter. The same combination and a 15-yard Hankinson run set up a one-yard touchdown plunge by fullback Mike Reid early in the final quarter.

Army Defeats Iowa State

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A pass interference penalty in the closing minutes set up a last gasp touchdown for Army that defeated Iowa State 9-7 Saturday and ended a four-game West Point losing streak.

Tailback Mark Hamilton plunged over from the one after Eppie Barney of Iowa State had been charged with shoving Sam Champi of Army, leaping for a Carl Stichweh pass in the end zone.

This decided the rough, hard-played game although the Iowa Staters smashed back to Army's 13 in the last minute and Ronald Halda missed a field goal try from the 20 by inches that would have won the game.

Army went into the lead in the second period on a 44-yard field goal by Barry Nickerson but fell behind when Kip Koski, a third string quarterback, sparked the boys from Ames, Iowa, to a touchdown early in the final period.

Koski first threw a 20-yard pass to halfback Tony Baker to Army's 15 and then hit end Dennis Alitz at the three. Baker plunged two yards and big Tom Vaughn, the fullback went across from the one. Halda kicked the extra point.

Army snapped back as if it had been stung by a bee. A 31-yard pass from Stichweh to John Johnson put the ball on Iowa State's 16.

Iowa State held for three downs. Then came Stichweh's desperate pass. Champi leaped for it.

Oregon State Beats Cougars

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Oregon State rode the legs and passing arm of Paul Brothers for a 24-7 football victory over Washington State Saturday.

Brothers, who played most of the game with bruised ribs, mixed end sweeps and short, flat passes in a first-half offensive show that brought the favored Beavers two touchdowns.

St. Mary's Gridders Host Upstate Holy Family Today

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Chuck Haering's touted defensive specialists, the "Outlaw" will be a contributing factor in today's Denver Parochial League game against beefy Holy Family.

Kick-off time is slated for 2 p.m. at the Wasson Stadium.

The St. Mary's football team will attempt to record its eighth victory this season when they tangle with the upstate visitors today in the next to last encounter of the season.

With only one loss, the Pirates' hopes of gaining on the undefeated pace setters Mullen is out of their hands. The Buccaneers must hope that Mullen's opponent today, Machebeuf, hands the Mustangs their first setback.

Mullen has two additional games with winless Mt. Carmel and the loop's perennial champion Regis in the DPL finale, Nov. 15.

The Bucs' last DPL outing proved costly to local parochial school team as several of the regulars were injured last week against St. Joseph's. The Pirates dumped St. Joseph's, 40-7, sut suffered key injuries including their front-line quarterback Jerry Knauf.

Haering indicated that Knauf's leg injury put him as a doubtful starter but he would probably see action. Without the poised Knauf at the controls, the Pirates could encounter a rough game from the Denver visitors, Holy Family.

At fullback, the Bucs will have their most consistent ground gainer Sam Zavatti. Chris White will start at one of the halfback slots and the Pirate ace spearheaded the last victory by scoring three TDs. Gary Dobson will start at the other halfback position and the 139-pounder is second in rushing.

Should the Bucs record a win over Holy Family today it would give the St. Mary's team a 7-1 won-loss DPL record and maintain second place in league standings. And the victory would give the Pirates an 8-1 overall mark.

Sayers Leads Kansas Over K-State, 7-0

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Fleet Gale Sayers of Kansas bolted 77 yards for a touchdown late in the third period, breaking up a tense, scoreless battle with inspired Kansas State for a 7-0 victory Saturday that kept Kansas unbeaten in Big Eight football.

The game-breaking touchdown play made Sayers the Big Eight career record holder for rushing, moving him past Dave Hoppmann of Iowa State. Until the big play, Kansas State had stopped Sayers cold.

Just ahead of Sayers' run, K-State missed two good scoring chances, Jerry Cook missed a 27-yard field goal try. Then Kansas lost a fumble but George Harvey intercepted a Dusenbury pass.

Sayers finished with 110 yards on 10 carries, giving him a career total of 2,605 yards, compared to 2,562 for Hoppmann. He has three games left in his last season.

Kansas made it four-out-of-four in the conference and five-and-two for the season.

On his touchdown run, Sayers slanted off his left tackle, broke away from two men, eluded three others who seemed to have him cornered and fled down the sidelines.

On its last possession, Kansas ground out 90 yards in a 16-play clock-killing drive.

Wolfpack Slips Past Gamecocks

By NOEL YANCEY

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina State and South Carolina crowded most of the thrills in the final period as the Wolfpack whipped the Gamecocks 17-14 in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday.

State scored on the first play of the final period as fullback Harold Deter kicked a 22-yard field goal. The three pointer put the Wolfpack out front 10-7.

But the lead last only seven plays before South Carolina jumped ahead 14-10. Gamecock quarterback Dan Reeves circled right end for 36 yards to the Wolfpack four. Two plays later halfback Marty Rosen scored from the one. Jack McCaphern's kick was good.

In turn, the Gamecock lead lasted only two plays before State quarterback Ron Skosnik broke through for 72 yards and a score. Gus Andres placekicked the extra point.

Washington's Slumbering Giant Slips Past Southern Cal, 14-13

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Washington, a slumbering giant all season, awoke with astonishing suddeness in the fourth quarter Saturday, scoring two touchdowns under the direction of an unsung quarterback and defeating Southern California 14-13.

The Trojans were heavily favored and went into the final period with a 13-point edge. The loss was a severe blow to Southern Cal's Rose Bowl hopes. Washington, already beaten four times — twice in Pacific Athletic Conference play — is virtually out of the bowl picture.

Quarterback Tod Hullin, who has seen practically no action this year, took over early in the game. He led the Huskies 77 yards in one fourth-period scoring drive and 47 in the other.

The difference was a blocked try for the extra point in the Trojans' second touchdown. Jim Sampson blocked it.

Hullin, junior from Seattle, threw an eight-yard pass to halfback Charlie Browning for the first Washington touchdown and fullback Jeff Jordan powered over from the one for the second. Ron Medved kicked both conversions.

This was the third defeat for the Trojans, who have a 1-1 conference record.

WASHINGTON DRIVE FOR TOUCHDOWN HALTED — Fullback Jeff Jordan of Washington, needed a long yard for a first down on Southern California's seven-yard line, heads for a big hole off right guard but it snapped shut and he missed the first down by inches. Rutgers Shuts Out Boston, 9-0

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Rutgers ground out 79 yards in 14 running plays for a third-period touchdown Saturday and added a field goal the next time it had possession for a 9-0 football victory over Boston University.

Fullback Bob Brendel capped the long march, in which Rutgers used six ball-carries, by diving across the goal line on fourth down from less than a foot away. Jack Hohnstine missed the conversion attempt but later kicked a 32-yard field goal in the final period to cement the triumph.

It was a sad homecoming for Boston's rookie Coach Warren Schmakel, who spent the last four years as a Rutgers assistant, as his Terriers suffered their fifth defeat in six games. Rutgers won its fifth straight after an opening game setback.

Bills Try for Number 8; Full NFL Slate Today

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland holds a one-game edge over St. Louis in the East and Baltimore threatens to run away with the Western Conference lead in the National League as the teams head into the second half with a full schedule Sunday.

The Buffalo Bills, winners of seven straight in the American Football League, will try to make it eight in a row at Buffalo against Houston. Desperate Oakland badly needs a win at San Diego and Kansas City hopes to make Denver pay for an Oct. 11 upset in other Sunday AFL games. Boston played at New York Saturday night.

The Browns face another challenge from the Pittsburgh Steelers who beat them 23-7 in their first meeting and rolled up 354 yards on the ground. If Jimmy Brown and Co. can't even the score at Cleveland, they may have to yield the undisputed lead.

Baltimore, on a hot streak after losing the opener, plays last-place San Francisco at Baltimore. Los Angeles and Detroit fight for the runner-up honors at Detroit.

St. Louis, hoping the Browns miss a step, invade New York to play the slumping defending champions.

The other NFL games Green Bay is at Minnesota, Dallas at Chicago and Washington at Philadelphia.

The Browns' meeting with the Steelers will be watched eagerly by both the Cardinals and Eagles, who suddenly have title thoughts. Cleveland just edged past Dallas and thumped New York 42-20 on a 28-point fourth quarter since losing to the Steelers. Pittsburgh has that rock-and-sock ground game.

After coming from behind to beat Green Bay last week, the Los Angeles Rams are shooting high. The Lions, tied with the Rams for second in the West at 4-2-1, met earlier in Los Angeles where they played a 17-17 tie. Earl Morrall's injury and the possible loss of Nick Pietrosante and Tom Watkins puts a heavy burden on Milt Plum, who came out of the Colt game with a sore elbow.

Baltimore is heavily favored over San Francisco, which has been hit hard by injuries. Lenny Moore and Tony Lorick give Johnny Unitas the running strength he needs to loosen up the enemy defense for his passes. The 49ers are first in yards gained passing, but interceptions have been killing them.

The Cardinals must play without Sonny Randle, lost for the season due to a shoulder separation, but they count on their blitzing defense to worry Y. A. Tittle's shell-shocked Giants. Billy Gambrell takes Randle's place.

Groggy Green Bay must get off the floor on the road in a rematch with the Minnesota Vikings, who shaded them 24-23 in early season. The Vikings are without pass receiver Paul Flatley and the Packers still must rate Ron Kramer a question mark.

The battered Bears have most of their men in uniform but aching when they dig in at home against the Dallas Cowboys, upset winners over the Cards last week. It will be Don Perkins and Don Meredith against Bill Wade and his passes to Mike Ditka and Johnny Morris.

Washington, a 35-20 winner over Philadelphia Oct. 11, will try to go it again at Philadelphia where the Eagles are riding high after recent victories over the Giants and Steelers. The Eagles still are hurting with Timmy Brown cut.

Buffalo will have Jack Kemp and Daryle Lamonica throwing to Elbert Dubenion and Glenn Bass while the secondary defends against a barrage of George Blanda's passes. Charley Hennigan and Sid Blanks are the main threats for the Oilers.

The old teacher vs. student rivalry will resume in San Diego with teacher, Sid Gillman, against former assistant, Al Davis. Both need a win, the Chargers to get even for last year's two defeats and the Raiders to make up for a 1-5-1 start. Both are playing their best ball of the year.

Kansas City must beat Denver in Kansas City to stay within striking distance of the Chargers. Both have been inconsistent on offense but the Chiefs' defense is tighter.

Notre Dame Bombs Navy

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Notre Dame, ranked No. 2 in the nation, rolled to its sixth straight victory Saturday in a 40-0 romp over Navy that included three touchdown passes by John Huarte.

Notre Dame 0 21 7 12—40

ND-Eddy 74 pass from Huarte (Azzaro kick)
ND-Snow 55 pass from Huarte (Azzaro kick)
ND-Wolski 1 run (Azzaro kick)
ND-Farrell 1 run (Azzaro kick)
ND-Snow 7 pass from Huarte (kick failed)
ND-Conway 15 run (kick failed)
Attendance 66,732.

The score equalled Notre Dame's 1949 rout of the Middies, the most lopsided in the 38-game series.

Jack Snow, Huarte's favorite target and his summer pitch-and-catch pal at Anaheim, Calif., grabbed two scoring passes. The fleet split end caught seven passes, tying Jim Kelly's Irish season record of 41 receptions.

Coach Ara Parseghian's Irish shut out Roger Staubach, last year's All-America quarterback, who has been handicapped by an injured left heel. However, Staubach completed 19 of 36 for a naval academy record.

Notre Dame struck quickly in the second period for three touchdowns after a scoreless first quarter. Huarte tossed a screen pass to Nick Eddy, who went 75 yards behind a covey of blockers that included everybody but Parseghian.

Then Huarte hit Snow with a 55-yard bomb. Bill Wolsku crashed over from the one after a 44-yard Huarte-to-Snow pass set up the score.

The Irish stuck to the ground most of the way in the second half, marching 75 yards on 10 running plays before Joe Farrell plunged over from the one early in the third period.

Snow grabbed two more passes in a fourth period drive that ended with a Huarte-to-Snow toss into the end zone for seven yards. Dennis Conway added the sixth and last TD.

It was Navy's worst defeat since the '49 Notre Dame game and its fourth in seven starts this season. Their closest bid for a score came in the second period when Fred Marlin's field goal attempt from the 28 was short.

Salida Defeats Leadville

SALIDA—The Salida Spartans marched easily past Leadville, 37-7, Saturday afternoon to stay in contention for the Pikes Peak League title. The Spartans and Fountain each have 5-1 records, compared to Florence's 6-0 mark. Fountain and Florence play Friday.

Leadville's only score came in the fourth period as Mike Sullivan intercepted a pass and ran it back 21 yards with 13 seconds left to play.

Ken Williams started the Salida avalance, going over from the ten. Then Leonard Bustos caught a 29-yard pass from Norman Williams and Keith Baker spurted 11 yards. In the second quarter Bustos scored on a 75-yard pass play from Norm Williams. The third period's only score came on Baker's 21-yard pass to Pat Woods. In the final quarter Baker ran for five and the TD.

Villanova Stops Xavier

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — Villanova's unbeaten Wildcats had to come from behind for the first time this season with a 19-point second half for a 31-13 football victory Saturday over Xavier.

It marked the first time since 1952 that Villanova has won six in a row.

Villanova, behind 13-12 early in the third period, came roaring back on touchdown runs of 13 and one yards by junior halfback Joe Santomauro to take the lead 24-13.

Junior fullback Tom Brown put the game away with a 75-yard touchdown burst up the middle.

Orange Stops Pitt

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Rich King, a second string quarterback playing defense for the first time this season, ran 30 yards with an intercepted pass for a touchdown, then made a key recovery of a teammate's fumble in Syracuse's 21-6 football victory over Pitt Saturday.

King, a senior who rarely has played any defense, scored in the second quarter, 50 seconds after Syracuse, top team in the East, grabbed a 7-6 lead on Floyd Little's seven-yard touchdown scamper and Roger Smith's extra point.

On the second play after the Orange kickoff, Pitt's Ken Lucas passed to Mickey Rosborough on the Panthers' 30-yard line. Rosborough appeared to have the ball, but King snatched it away from him and raced into the end zone unmolested.

Pitt, now 2-3-2 couldn't do anything when it got the ball on the kickoff, and Pete Billey punted to Little on the Syracuse 43. But Little, the sophomore sensation whose touchdown was his ninth of the season, dropped the ball.

Again a Pitt player, Bernie Laquinta, appeared to have the ball, but when the players unpiled, King had it.

Pitt took a 6-0 lead with six minutes gone in the second quarter as quarterback Ken Lucas capped a 57-yard drive with a two-yard scoring plunge.

Jim Nance tallied his ninth touchdown for Syracuse, now 5-2, on a two-yard smash early in the fourth quarter. Little picked up 52 of the 80 yards on the drive, running four times and catching a key 16-yard pass from Wally Mahle on a fourth and nine situation from the Pitt 20.

Bowling Green Dumps Miami

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — The unbeaten Bowling Green Falcons intercepted three of Ernie Kellermann's passes Saturday and virtually dumped Miami out of Mid-American Conference football contention with a 21-18 defeat.

It was the Redskins' second conference defeat and reduced their record to 4-2-1 as a record crowd of 16,922 homecoming weekend fans watched.

Buckeyes Top Explosive Iowa

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Explosive Iowa scored with two seconds left but failed on a try for a two-point conversion Saturday to let top-ranked Ohio State salvage a 21-19 victory and remain in a tie for the Big Ten football lead.

The Buckeyes, who turned two Iowa errors into touchdowns and electrified the crowd with a touchdown in three plays in the third quarter, stopped Gary Snook's extra point run eight inches short of the goal for their sixth straight triumph.

Iowa had blocked an Ohio State punt on the Buckeye 12 earlier in the fourth quarter but failed to gain.

With four minutes left, Iowa drove to the Ohio State two-yard line and called four running plays without a huddle. Craigh Nourse finally cracked over on fourth down with two seconds to play.

On the try for a tie, Snook rolled to the left and was stopped by Ohio State's Dwight Kelley, who earlier had blocked an Iowa extra point kick.

The finish was no more exciting than the start, when Ohio State's Steve Dreffer intercepted Snook's pass on the first play after the opening kickoff and raced 36 yards for a touchdown.

The second Buckeye score, a two-yard run by Don Unverferth, came after Iowa's Dalton Kimble had fumbled on the Hawkeyes' 15-yard line.

Both Iowa touchdowns in the first half also were set up by miscues. Snook scored on a two-yard run in the first quarter after Dreffer bobbled a punt snapback on the Ohio State 39, and late in the second period Snook passed 30 yards to Karl Noonan for a touchdown after Ohio State's Willard Sander fumbled on the Buckeye 30.

But Ohio State took a 14-13 lead into the third quarter when Kelley blocked Gary Simpson's extra point kick after the second Iowa touchdown, and the Buckeyes widened the gap with a ferocious assault after the intermission.

IOWA CITY, Iowa — add Ohio State-Iowa

Texas Nips SMU

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas, sluggish of offense, fell back on its rugged defense Saturday to fight off Southern Methodist 7-0 in a Southwest Conference football game.

The sixth-ranked Longhorns intercepted four SMU passes to thwart the lowly Ponies, whose only victory this season was over Arlington State.

It was Texas' second straight triumph after losing to Arkansas 14-13 and falling from the top spot among college football teams Oct. 17.

Texas' lonescore came in the second period when 220-pound tailback Ernie Koy drove in from SMU's two-yard-line. David Conway booted the extra point, his 15th straight and the team's 43rd consecutive conversion.

SMU, with quarterback Danny Thomas running and passing, kept the Steers scared, once taking the Ponies to Texas' five in the fourth period before an interception killed the drive.

Knox Nunnally made the pass theft, grabbing the ball as he fell to the ground. Nunnally also picked off another Pony aerial, racing it back 33 yards to the SMU nine as time ran out in the first half.

Another pass interception, this one by linebacker Tommy Nobis, at the SMU 38, set up Texas' score. The Longhorns, running straight-ahead power with fullback Harold Philipp getting crucial first down yardage, needed 13 plays to go the distance.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Bob Foss

Here's an oddity . . . Football is always referred to as the "pigskin sport," and the football itself is often called the "pigskin" . . . But, did you know that footballs aren't made from pigskin anymore! . . . Most footballs today are made from cowhide.

Did you know there was once a major football game in which the score — and even the winner — were changed 4 hours after the game was over . . . It happened in 1940 . . . Cornell beat Dartmouth 7-3 . . . But on the Monday after that Saturday game, officials of both schools looked at movies of the game and realized Cornell had scored its touchdown on an illegal down . . . Even though Cornell had an unbeaten season going, they said they would give up the touchdown, and thereby give up the victory . . . The result was declared reversed and its officially listed in record books now as: Dartmouth 3, Cornell 9.

Football fans have always heard about Michigan's famous "point-a-minute" teams of the early 1900s, but did you know that none of these teams really scored a point a minute? . . . This is one of those sports myths that just isn't true . . . Michigan's highest scoring season was 1902 when they tallied 644 points in 11 games . . . Games then were 70 minutes long, so they actually fell 126 points short of scoring a point a minute!

RMKC to Construct New Clubhouse

The Board of Directors of the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club (RMKC) announced plans for the expansion of their physical plant facilities in preparation for their 1965 Meet, dates of which have not yet been set.

"Despite our continuing expansion and improvement plan that has been carried out over the years, we find that we have out - grown our installation," was the comment of RMKC's general manager as plans for building a new clubhouse to be completed in time for the 1965 Meet were outlined by the RMKC Directors.

The new clubhouse, a two-story structure, will have floor space equaling approximately two - thirds of the space in the present grandstand area. It will be erected on the site of the present clubhouse, built several years ago.

Total capacity of the new addition will be about 1300 persons with facilities for accomodating approximately 450 in a luxuriously appointed upstairs area. This upstairs area will offer exclusive table service and fine dining each racing night.

Attendance will be by admission only and will be limited to its seating capacity. Valet parking is being made available to these patrons. The area will be reached via an esculator to its own private entry way.

A service bar is being provided for the exclusive use of dining room patrons and an area is being provided for the installation of additional parimutuel machines and cashiers booths.

The main floor of the new clubhouse will have almost tripled the capacity of its present counterpart. Admission will be free, as is the present policy at RMKC, but there is to be a small charge for seats, which will be available on a first come basis as they are at present.

NEW RMKC CLUBHOUSE — This is a drawing of the new Rocky Mountain Kennel Club (RMKC) clubhouse which is scheduled to be completed in time for the 1965 racing season. The new clubhouse, a two-story structure, will have floor space approximately two-thirds of the space of the present grandstand area. The new clubhouse will accomodate 1300 persons.

TOOK NO CHANCES

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — After several bomb threats here that proved to be a hoax, residents thought they were inured to such. However, when a threat was telephoned a local theater, the building was emptied rapidly. Patrons were taking no chances. The feature picture being shown was "What A Way To Go."

The one vote you send to Congress becomes many votes—if the man can lead others.

The Case for Congressional Leadership Rests With You

WE NEED FRANK EVANS IN CONGRESS

ONE MAN ..... ONE VOTE

When you elect a man to represent you in Washington, he carries your expression to the floor of Congress.

He competes with 434 other Congressmen for recognition, support and legislation consistently beneficial to the nation and his own congressional district.

He must be alert, aggressive and influential with other Congressmen. He must be in pace with the sixties nationally, regionally and locally.

YOUR CHOICE

J. EDGAR CHENOWETH — GOLDWATER REPUBLICAN	FRANK EVANS — L. B. J. DEMOCRAT
1. Chenoweth supports Barry Goldwater, as a "reliable" party regular and has predicted he will win the presidency. (Denver Post, Oct. 26, 1964)	1. Evans stands solidly with LBJ, the national program, and the current programs of former President Kennedy.
2. Chenoweth points with pride to his 22 years of important seniority in Congress, competent experience, faithful performance and assurance of effective action.	2. Evans askes the question: "Has Mr. Chenoweth had 22 years experience or one year's experience 22 times? Although he (Chenoweth) is 18th in Republican Seniority, he has never chaired a house committee, subcommittee, or been called to serve in the circle of leadership in his own party."
3. Chenoweth points with pride to his record of "personal service" to the voters and record of answering requests and letters promptly.	3. Evans contends that it is not only the obligation of all congressmen to render these "personal services," but also to aggressively work toward personal congressional leadership beneficial to the nation and the people he represents.
4. Chenoweth labels himself as "the Father of the Fryingpan-Arkansas Water Diversion Act."	4. Evans says: "Chenoweth helped, but failed to get the bill passed after several attempts. The Fryingpan bill that finally passed was drawn up by Wayne Aspinall. Those citizens who went to Washington to get both Democratic and Republican support were instructed not to use Chenoweth's name in soliciting bipartisan support. The Fryingpan was definitely a Bipartisan effort.
5. Chenoweth points to the expansion of military projects in the Third District during his term in Congress (Air Force Academy, Fort Carson, Pueblo Army Depot and others.	5. Evans states that the location of these projects were military decisions based on our national defense and had little to do with Congressman Chenoweth. A Democratic Congressmna from this District, as a member of the majority party, will certainly get attention from the Johnson administration regarding the future of these installations.
6. Chenoweth voted NO Aug. 18, 1964 on the final passage of the Economic Opportunity Act (Anti Poverty Bill).	6. Evans supports this program as vital to the nation and the depressed areas of Colorado's Third District.
7. Chenoweth voted NO on the Area Redevelopment Act. (1958, 1960, 1961, 1963)	7. Evans supports the program as vital for the growth and rehabilitation of economically depressed areas.
8. Chenoweth voted NO on Loans to deserving College Students (1962) and the program to aid Medical students in 1963.	8. Evans supports these programs as essential legislation in pace with the sixties and vital to the growth of our nation.
9. Chenoweth voted NO on the 1962 Tax Investment Credit Act for Businessmen, the 1963 Federal Income Tax Cut, and the 1961 Minimum Wage raise.	9. Evans supports these programs as important legislation and will work for their continuance.
10. Chenoweth points to his congressional attendance record and voting record as exemplary . . . stating that he is a working Congressman who is always on hand to look after and protect your best interests.	10. Evans says "Chenoweth has either been against things or 10 years behind the times, and when he finally joins a program, he'll vote for the least amount of finances under these program that are designed to let the nation get ahead."
11. Chenoweth has endorsed Senator Barry Goldwater, yet declines to say where he stands on the issues raised by Goldwater . . . saying he has not kept abreast of the national issues.	11. Evans says that your Congressman SHOULD stay abreast of national issues and be willing and able to state his position to the voters he represents.

Evans stands with LBJ in the War on Poverty, for Education and Civil Rights. In the complexity of its needs Frank Evans sees in his Third District a cross-section of the nation. The varied needs of the Third District reflect the needs of the nation.

In World Affairs, Frank Evans supports the United Nations as a valuable forum where nations can continue to sit down and discuss their differences. He believes, as our late President expressed it, that we must "never negotiate out of fear . . . but . . . never fear to negotiate."

Frank Evans believes that one of the most important roles your government can play is in the field of education, and in programs to retrain the 4,000 persons put out of jobs daily by automation.

What can one man do?

ONE MAN EQUALS ONE VOTE ON THE FLOOR OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. THE DIFFERENCE IS IN MEN.

THE DIFFERENCE IS BETWEEN THE MAN WHO DUTIFULLY CASTS A SINGLE, PARTY-LINE VOTE TIME AFTER TIME—AND THE MAN WHO ESTABLISHES THE LEADERSHIP THAT INFLUENCES THE MAJOR COMMITTEES THROUGH WHICH CONGRESS REALLY WORKS.

THE THIRD DISTRICT HAS NOT ENJOYED THE NATIONAL IMPORTANCE OF A COMMITTEE CHAIRMANSHIP IN MORE THAN 22 YEARS.

This is FRANK EVANS:

He was born 41 years ago in Pueblo, spent his early youth in Colorado Springs; received his Bachelor of Arts and Law degree from the University of Denver;

was a patrol bombing pilot for the U.S. Naval Air Corps during World War II; has practiced law in Pueblo for 14 years, has been Chairman of the Board of the Arkansas Valley Bank since 1953; resides with his wife, Eleanor, whom he married in 1952, and their four children, at 3501 Northridge Drive, Pueblo; has served two terms in the Colorado House of Representatives, was minority floor whip during his second term and has served on committees for appropriations, education, finance, judiciary, local government and natural resources.

DEMOCRAT

FRANK EVANS WILL WORK FOR YOU IN CONGRESS!

Nebraska Banker Confesses to Embezzlement

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP) — A 45-year-old banker, described as one of the stalwart citizens of this rich northern Nebraska cattle town of 3,000, was in jail today charged with embezzlement.

State Banking Director Henry Ley said Richard L. Davenport, president of the Nebraska State Bank of Valentine, signed a statement admitting he misappropriated $1.5 million over a 14-year period.

Ley said Davenport told him he used the money in land and cattle deals, the stock market and some for gambling. Ley did not elaborate.

Ley said Davenport promised to make restitution "to the best of his ability." The banking director closed the bank Thursday.

"He was tired of living with it," Ley said, "and of course, we were quite close behind him."

State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Nenzel, whose legislative district includes Valentine, called the banker "one of the stalwart citizens."

Davenport was described as a solid businessman, a good family man and contributor in time and money to civic, church and athletic activities.

The banker, his wife and two sons live in a fairly new brick home. In recent years he had purchased and developed an extensive commercial trout farm near here.

For years, he had been city treasurer, taking over the job from his late father, E.C. Davenport, from whom he also inherited the bank presidency 15 years ago.

Ley said Davenport told him no one else was involved and no one else knew about the embezzlement.

Ruts made by wagon trains headed westward still are visible on the Oregon Trail route in Nebraska.

Under the Army's exclusive program of choice of assignments he has chosen to serve with ARADCOM in San Francisco, California. He will take his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., where he will receive instruction in such subjects as weapons, explosives, bayonet fighting, leadership tactics, map reading and many other subjects necessary to the efficiency of the modern day soldier. Armstrong is a native of Brooklyn, N. Y. but has been residing here with his sister, Mrs. Jean Hart.

— Army PFC Harold B. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson L. Stone, 205 W. Main, Florence, was assigned to the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex., Oct. 13.

Stone, a mechanic in Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion of the division's 6th Infantry, entered the Army in January 1963 and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He has served in the Far East. He attended Stuart High School.

Jose Rafael Martinez, son of Mrs. Rose Gallegos, 107 West Cheyenne Road, recently enlisted in the U. S. Air Force for training in the General Aptitude area. He is presently at Lackland AFB San Antonio, Texas. He graduated from Monte Vista High School in 1961, attended Adams State College and Colorado University extension courses here. He was employed at Kaufman's.

— Daniel S. Glommen, son of retired Air Force Maj. and Mrs. A. S. Glommen, 420 Aspen Dr., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force at Clark AB, Philippines. He is a graduate of Widefield High School, Security, and attended Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa. His wife, Jeannie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Gillison, of 6167 E. 27th St., Tulsa, Okla.

— Paul N. Espinosa, son of Army Sgt. First Class and Mrs. Bert D. Espinosa, of 85 Doris Drive, Security, has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force at Palermo Air Force Station, N. J.

He is a graduate of Widefield High School.

The "Mars Space Probe" will be the subject of a presentation before the Southern Colorado Chapter of the Association of the United States Army, on Nov. 12. Presenting the program will be Eliot C. Payson, Chief, Advanced Design, Advanced Technology Department of the Martin-Marietta Company, Denver, Colorado.

Arrangements for the program were made through Richard DuPont, 626 Valjean, Colorado Springs, a Martin-Marietta technical representative assigned to the Pueblo Army Depot. Events for the Southern Colorado Chapter meeting is Carl S. Multer, Jr., 2319 Elizabeth. The general meeting is to be held at the Continental Pueblo beginning at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner and business meeting prior to the Martin program which is scheduled at 8:15 p.m.

Payson's career with the Martin Company parallels the growth of the company itself in the field of missiles and manned space flight. Payson, a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Tecnnology, first worked in flight control design and project engineering, serving as Chief of Test, Planning and Evaluation. It was this department that was responsible for planning the Titan missile test firings and subsequently the actual downrange firings at Cape Kennedy. Afterwards he assumed his present position with the aerospace program at Martin, Denver, within the Advanced Technology Department. He speaks with considerable authority on Martin contributions to national study on Mars exploration.

Joseph L. Thomas, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Milton I. Thomas of Methodist Parish, Frewsburg, N. Y., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex.

His wife, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Smith, of 2106 N. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs.

Another Boost Reported in Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living rose again last month, but record highs in take-home pay for factory workers more than kept pace, the Labor Department reported Friday.

The cost of living index in September rose one-fifth of 1 per cent, meaning that goods and services worth $10 in August cost $10.02 in September.

At the same time, the department announced that take-home pay for factory production workers reached an all-time record in September. Spendable earnings after taxes increased one-half of 1 per cent, meaning $10 in wages in August rose to $10.05 in the September averages.

The living cost increase represented a resumption of a gradual upward trend that was interrupted briefly in August. Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Labor Statistics Bureau, said prospects were for another rise in October.

The September increase was led by higher costs for food, housing and clothing, the department said.

The National Stadium, main arena for the XVIII Olympiad, was remodeled. The seats — originally designed for the slender Japanese physique—were widened for the increased comfort of Westerners.

Atlanta Bank Robbed By Two Calm Bandits

ATLANTA (UPI)—Two calm, tough-talking bandits robbed a bank of $61,819 here Friday and threatened a woman teller who managed to temporarily gain possession of one of their guns.

They escaped in a stolen getaway car driven by a third man. Police said the three later switched to another car with an out-of-state license plate.

FORMAL CELEBRATION

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—The state of Nevada formally observed its 100th birthday Saturday—after 10 months of celebrating.

A huge parade and a variety of other events ranging from art exhibits to whisker contests drew an estimated 75,000 persons, considerable more than the population of Nevada when it became the 36th state on Oct. 31, 1864.

Wilbur O. Frazier Died Here Saturday

Wilbur O. Frazier, 2208 Eagle View Dr., an accountant for Kingsolver, White, Griffis and ssJonson, died Saturday at a local hospital. He had been a resident of Colorado Springs since 1942 and was a member of the First Methodist Church. For many years he was an accountant for the Red Cross, YWCA and was treasurer for many PTA groups.

Mr. Frazier was born in Elbert Colo. May 12, 1909. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Frazier; a daughter, Sharon, a sister, Miss Ruby Frazier, Colorado Springs; four brothers, Perry Frazier, Boulder; Francis Frazier, Longmont; David Frazier, Atlanta, Ga., and Cal Frazier, Boulder.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Law Drawing Room. The Rev. Philip Green will officiate.

Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery. Pallbearers will be: Jack D. Kingsolver, John L. Griffis, George M. White, Clarence Jonson, O. M. Williams and Wilbur I. Towle.

COOL CAT

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Firemen answered a call from a residence and were asked to investigate strange noises coming from an air conditioner.

When they pulled the air conditioner out of its case a cat hopped out and scurried away without explaining his presence.

JOIN BOARD OF DIRECTORS—Joining hands in the fight against cancer, Bernard L. Trott greets Lt. Col. Edward J. Shea, M.D., and Lt. Col. Raymond A. Flavion. The Public Education Division of the local Unit of the American Cancer Society announced the addition of these two men to the Board of Directors. Representing Ent AFB, Dr. Shea is head of the 615th USAF Dispensary. Col. Flavion, Medical Services Administrative Officer for the 7625th USAF Hospital, represents the USAF Academy. Trott, president of the Board of Directors, encourages men's and women's organizations of both Air Force bases to discuss the arrangements for cancer education programs with Dr. Shea and Col. Flavion.

FBI Chief Urges More Religious Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director says "too many Americans no longer care about religious ideals and heritage."

In a Thanksgiving message to law enforcement officials, he said Friday that such persons "shirk the mere suggestion of individual responsibility. Their purpose in life is lost in moral lethargy, self-indulgence and neglect of duty."

He said the Pilgrim fathers, founders of the Thanksgiving Day Custom, "were bound by spiritual unity and love of and faith in the supreme being."

Women at Work -- In Campaign Headquarters

At Democratic Headquarters, Mrs. John Gallagher Sr., seated left, in charge of campaign literature and small donations, is pictured with Mrs. Robert Cole, at the telephone desk. Standing from left are Mrs. Carl L. Roberts, Mrs. Richard J. Dues and Mrs. Charlotte von Stein, headquarters manager.

Politicians and campaign managers, as well as candidates, admit that women do most of the office work, take care of the details, door to door surveys, and telephoning for modern elections. Most of the work is done by volunteers, who give as much time as they can spare from home and families.

Mrs. James Goodwin, left, and Mrs. Donald Shearn are in charge of posters. Both are mothers whose children are being taken care of in the nursery provided at headquarters, pictured below.

We often wonder what campaign headquarters looked like in the old days before the ladies got the franchise! We'd be willing to bet that they weren't as orderly — nor as efficiently run — as they are today. And we'd also bet that they were dark, dusty and dingy! Nothing like the smile of the ladies to brighten up the atmosphere for tired campaigners and weary workers.

Certainly candidates in the old days didn't have time to mind the store in addition to delivering oratory, and what business or laboring man had time to leave his job for volunteer service for the good of the party?

The driving theme behind women workers of both parties is "Get Out The Vote," in addition to contributing personal and telephone information, and distributing literature. And they do it with well-organized, assembly-line efficiency!

"Manning" the telephone desk on one shift are Mrs. Darian Whiddenand, left, and Mrs. Earl Watson. Queries and suggestions are all part of the day's work at Republican Headquarters.

Invitations have been issued to a gala Harvest Ball, sponsored by the Rocky Mountain National Ballet Co., to be held Saturday, Nov. 21, in the grand ballroom of the Broadmoor Hotel.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m., followed by dancing, entertainment by members of the Ballet company, and awarding of a special prize. Reservations should be in by Nov. 18.

The Ballet Company, which had its first touring season last summer, is sponsoring the ball to raise money for the next season. It is hoped that the public will attend this pre-holiday event in support of this comparatively new artistic organization.

A seated dinner, preceded by cocktails, and followed by dancing, will be staged Dec. 1 at the Broadmoor Hotel, by the Symphony Guild. There will be a fashion show, and an orchestra will provide music for dancing. Proceeds from this benefit event will be used for the Colorado Springs Symphony.

A century old red-brick-and-sandstone high school was the "guest of honor" at an unusual event recently when over 800 alumni, former faculty and their families returned to Des Moines, Iowa, to honor West High School, the city's oldest school and one of its oldest original edifices.

Among the returning alumni was Morton Neufeld of this city who, with Mrs. Neufeld, were guests of his brothers, Dr. Hap Neufeld and Leonard Neufeld of Des Moines who also graduated from the famous old high school.

Highlight of the homecoming was the banquet Saturday evening, Oct. 17, at Ft. Des Moines Hotel at which Henry Wallace, former vice president of the United States, was guest speaker. Mr. Wallace cancelled a speaking engagement in South America to attend.

Two All-American football stars of the 1918-1919 season, Aubrey and Glenn Devine, were present and the guests included eight persons between 80 and 96 years of age. Some returned from as far away as Switzerland and Italy, and next to Iowa more came from California than from any other state.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Peterson Sr. have returned from a European trip, during which they attended an inernational convention of Dry Cleaners and Launders in Frankfurt, Germany. Mr. Peterson has operated Coutures here since 1919, and is co-owner with his son, Carl Jr., president of the firm.

The highlight of the Peterson's trip was their visit to Lund, Sweden, the home of Mr. Peterson's parents. While in this lovely Scandinavian city, he met two of his cousins whom he had never seen. This was accomplished through the help of an English speaking bus driver and other Swedish friends, who after much questioning of the local citizens, were finally able to locate his relatives.

Miss Mary Husser, a sophomore at Denver University, and Miss Carol Joy Straeb, a freshmen, have recently pledged Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Their pledge class won the Sigma Chi annual rodeo prize last week.

Miss Husser is the daughter of Mr. and Oril Husser of 905 Westmoor Dr.

Miss Straeb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strabe of 24 E. Fontanero St.

Mrs. W. E. Ruston and little son, Paul, of Bakersfield, Calif., will leave today after spending almost two weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Maryel Salm of 1318 E. Platte Ave.

A number of dinner, luncheons and coffees were given for Mrs. Ruston, and she was the guest of honor at a tea last Sunday afternoon, given by her mother and Miss Marian Berwick.

Miss Sharon Ann Humphreys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Humphreys of Burlington has enlisted in the Women's Army Corps for three years. Under the Army's exclusive program of choice of assignment before enlistment, Sharon chose to be trained in Medical Labatory Procedures.

She will take her basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala. During basic she will receive training in such subjects as history and traditions of the army, military courtesy and wearing of the uniform.

Upon completion of basic training she will proceed to the Medical Service School at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. for technical training. After this she will spend a leave with her parents before reporting to her permanent duty station.

Miss Joset House was the guest of honor at a bridal shower given Oct. 19 by Mrs. George Bennett, 910 Querita Dr.

Miss Bennett became the bride of Derrill Isaacs Thursday, Oct. 29 at the Central Christian Church.

Mrs. Glenn C. Niner, W. H. Schrader Jr. and Frank P. Schrader announce the marriage of their mother, Mrs. W. H. Schrader to Jacob M. Umberger, both of Manitou Springs.

The Rev. C. Harry Christopher of Denver officiated at the ceremony which was held in St. Andrews Episcopal Church of Manitou Springs.

A wedding of interest here will take place in Houston, Tex. on Wednesday, Nov. 4, when Miss Dorothy Sue McCown will become the bride of Theodore E. Ashcroft, formerly of Colorado Springs.

Miss McCown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCown of San Patricio, Tex., Mr. Ashcroft is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ashcroft of 940 E. Cimarron St.

The ceremony will be held in the Park Place Lutheran Church of Houston.

After a honeymoon along the Gulf Coast, the newlyweds will live at 7623 Pecan Villas.

The bride-elect was graduated from Mathis High School, Mathis, Tex., class of '60.

Mr. Ashcroft was graduated from Colorado Springs High School, class of '56 and attended Colorado College. Before moving to Texas, he was employed by Norton Office Supplies here. He is currently employed as an account executive with Swingline Inc., a national manufacturer of staples.

John Slothower has been selected one of 35 guides at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla. The guides host prospective students and serve as official guides to visiting dignitaries.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Slothower Jr. of 17 Fifth St., Broadmoor. A 1964 graduate of Fountain Valley School, he is a pre-law major at Rollins.

Miss Pamela Thatcher was cited for high honors at Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., requiring a grade average of 2.25 on the basis of 3.00 required. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thatcher of 1410 Wood Ave.

Colorado Springs students enrolled at Southwestern College at Winfield, Kan. this fall are Loeda Gsundeitz of 806 E. Cache la Poudre St., Verle McMullen of 2018 E. San Miguel St. and Lynda Herold of 100 Tyler Place.

Several Colorado Spirngs students at the University of Colorado, and one from Security, are participating this semester in student teaching. They are:

William Williams, son of Charles C. Williams of 709 N. Custer St., who is teaching physical education at Centennial Junior High; Jane E. Stannard, who teaches music at Wheat Ridge Senior High School and Whittier, and who lives at 1623 N. Casacde Ave.

Gladys Redman, daughter of Harold Redman of 2306 Constelation Dr., is teaching speech at Baseline Junior High School. Deanna Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Ms. G. A. Johnson of 208 Morningside Dr., is teaching fourth grade at Lafayette Elementary School. Roberta Knopp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Knopp of 3309 Virginia, is teaching first grade at Lafayette.

Jean Ann Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Feis of 712 Panorama Dr., is teaching third grade at Martin Park elementary school. JoAnn Mazzeri, daughter of Mrs. Helen Mazzeri of 204 Beaver Ct., is teaching first grade at Majestic Heights.

Kenneth White, son of Johnnie R. White of 308 Pecos Cr., Security, is teaching music at Mapleton school.

Two Colorado Springs residonts are among 61 students of Adams State College at Alamosa who are doing student teaching. They are Norman Colbert, son of E. W. Colbert, 518 Pine St. who is teaching English and German, and Dennis Evans, 312 E. Columbia St., vocal music and music theory. Both are assigned to Colorado Springs schools.

Of the 61, 25 are assigned to schools outside of the San Luis Valley.

Ralph W. Chapman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Chapman, a student at Bethany College, Lindsborg, Kan., has been selected by the way of tryout for the Bethany College Oratorio Society, for the famous Bethany College Choir.

This is the choir that presents the celebrated "Messiah" each year at Easter, drawing thousands from all parts of the country. He has been elected social editor of the Bethany College year book.

TO WED DURING HOLIDAY SEASON—Mr. and Mrs. Yale Kalmans of 26 Sandalwood Dr., Houston, Tex., announce the engagement of their daughter, Monte, to Ronald Slosky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Slosky, 1025 N. Farragut St. Mr. Slosky is a 1961 graduate of Wasson High School. Both are currently attending the University of Texas and will graduate in June. The wedding will take place Dec. 27 in Houston.

DEEYA

Women have been striving for beauty since the world began. Egyptian women really started the "Age of Beauty," and though we'll never know all their secrets, we do know that we can achieve that same beauty much easier and faster today.

Are you wondering how? You can start with a free demonstration at The Deeya Cosmetic Studio and Beauty Salon. In Deeya Cosmetics you'll find the answers to your beauty problems. Right now, Deeya is featuring a special TRIPLICARE Home Treatment Method. The set includes Deeya Flowing Cleanser, for cool, refreshing cleansing; Deeya Magic Lift, an amazing stimulant for young or aging skins; and Deeya Cream Base to protect and beautify your skin.

This TRIPLICARE Set makes an excellent gift. For the man who doesn't know what to give the woman in his life on an Anniversary, Birthday or at Christmas, Deeya Cosmetic Studio can supply a Gift Certificate. Then she can make her own selections from cosmetics, jewelry, hair decorations or other accessories.

Remember too, that winter brings dry and chapped skin. Don't wait until it's too late. Stop in at Deeya's located next door to The Ute Theatre. Adv.

Household Hints

United Press International

Cook frozen meat as soon as thawed, especially when the meat is thawed at room temperature.

Split and grill frankfurters for supper. Serve topped with heated canned applesauce.

Use flannel, cheese-cloth, or wool cloths for dusting. Coarse open-mesh material, synthetic fabrics or a new cloth may be linty.

Weight for weight the nutritive value and the cooking performance of small eggs are equal to those of large eggs of the same quality, the Department of Agriculture says.

Remove excess brine from fish by adding a glass of vinegar to the water in which fish is soaking.

Fasten a screen-door spring across the inside of a kitchen cabinet door to hold paper bags firmly in place until needed.

Keep mildew from forming on books in damp, humid weather. Place small bags of para nuggets or crystals at intervals in a bookcase.

Saute fresh mushrooms by slicing caps and stems, put into double boiler top with plenty of butter or margarine, salt to taste and cook over gently boiling water until done.

Eliminate noise and marred floors due to rocking chairs by gluing felt weather stripping to the chair bottoms.

KAPPA COOKBOOK — The Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association will entertain at a tasting luncheon on Wednesday, Nov. 4 to introduce a new cookbook to the public. Entitled "Kappas in Wonderland," the book has been edited by Mrs. J. J. Flanagan and Mrs. Hartley Murray, with Mrs. Ronald Clarke doing the illustrations. The entire alumnae group has contributed and tested recipes for the past year. The luncheon will be at the Kappa lodge, 1100 Wood Ave., from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will be served for $1.25 per plate. Call Mrs. Howard C. Shaw, 633-0307, for reservations. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Seated left is Mrs. Clarke, and at right, Mrs. Howard Shaw Jr. Standing, from left, are Mrs. Hartley Murray, Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Stanley Lewis.

At present, she is on a singing tour of the Western states with her sisters; the group known as "The Rosvit Sisters Quartette." Mr. Tate is in the army, stationed at Ft. Carson. Plans are being made for a Valentine's Day wedding.

Big Beds for Big Students

CHICAGO (UPI) — College students are getting too big for their dormitory furniture.

"The fact is that college students are bigger than they used to be — and not just the football and basketball squads either," says Manfred Steinfeld, head of Shelby Williams Industries, a manufacturer of dormitory furniture.

"Today, everybody in the business of providing furniture for college dormitories has to make the furniture bigger—because the students are," he said. "Kids today are both broader and taller."

Many college rooms are supplied with 7-foot beds, taller bookshelves and wider chairs.

The general population is reaching new heights too. The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently stated that American men today are 4 to 14 pounds heavier and 2 inches taller than their fathers.

The U. S. Army makes its pants broader in the beam, and longer as well. Theater seats have gradually inched up from 18 inches 35 years ago to 22 today. The Chicago Transit Authority's newest batch of diesel buses came with bigger seats.

Even a typical 13-year-old boy today is too big to fit into a medieval suit of armor.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I always keep a cake rack on the top of my counter to prevent burns and heat spots in the drainboard.

The little space between the cake rack and the drainboard has prevented many blisters and damage.

Racks cost so little compared to a new drain. —Pauling

Dear Heloise:

I keep several, clean, empty, plastic detergent bottles (to which I've added a band of decorative plastic tape) for cooking uses.

I fill these bottles with different salad dressings, oil, catsup, etc. I keep them on a plastic tray near my stove and they are handy when needed — and many steps are saved.

I cook with herbs, many of which I dry myself. So I fill little jars with the herbs and in each I place a little plastic measuring spoon of the size used for that particular herb.

In the oregano I have a one-half teaspoon; in the garlic powder, one-fourth teaspoon; in the dried onion flakes, one teaspoon. Very handy and no mistakes.

I have also placed a spoon in my baking powder and baking soda-a one-half teaspoon size. —Lee Porter

Ladies, if you have very small jars or bottles, try cutting part of the handle off the plastic spoons so they will fit inside the jars. Perfect. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is one way I use the one-pound coffee can with the plastic lid:

I keep one of these cans near my wringer-type washing machine and when a button pops off while I am washing, I just put it into the can. Also, the children and my husband put buttons, that have come off their clothes, into this can.

When mending day rolls around each week, I can easily find almost all of the missing buttons. Usually the very one I am looking for is right on top. . . . —Mrs. J. R. Adams

Try taking a knife and cutting a slit in the top of the plastic lid. Then you can just drop the buttons in like a piggy bank. Saves removing the top each time. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I hand - starch heavy pieces, such as tablecloths, curtains, or men's pants . . . instead of trying to wring them out by hand, I simply put them back into my automatic washer and set the dial on "spin."

I let them spin until I no longer see any water coming out of the washing machine hose. Saves lots of strength and energy. —Judith Moran

This might be old-soap to some of youall, but when you want to crack an ice cube, try holding it in the palm of one hand and hitting it with the back of a small spoon.

Just whack it in the middle. Cracks beautifully. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

A reader suggested using small corks on the rear of rockers to retard a child's tendency to rock too far backwards.

Why not use the rubber crutch tips which are available in a variety of sizes at most dime stores? —Howard S. Pyle

Dear Heloise:

The surface beneath the foot pedals on an electric organ is extremely difficult to vacuum, especially if the organ sets on a rug.

I solved this by using a piece of plastic wrap the length of the foot pedals, laying it on the carpet, and pushing it up under the pedals until the edge of the paper was just even with the tip of all the pedals. All the dust accumulates on the plastic, so when I want to clean underneath, I just pull out the piece of plastic.

Believe me, it sure saves my back and temper—also the rug. —Ruth

Review Kit Helps Pupils Before Testing

CHICAGO (UPI) — High school students worried about their college entrance exams have received a helping hand from an encyclopedia publisher.

A study guide and examination program, prepared by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., is designed to help prepare students for the college tests.

"Based on selected readings in the Britannica, the series consists of seven study guides and a user's manual," a company spokesman said. "The study guides and sample college entrance examinations will help a student to evaluate his own progress and needs in any of the seven areas."

Five of the guides are devoted to organized review of high school level courses in chemistry, physics, mathematics, biology, and social studies. The other two cover reading comprehension and mathematical aptitudes.

"With two exceptions, they all have served or are members of the committee of examiners of the College Entrance Examination Board," he said.

All of the examinations are self-scoring except the two aptitude tests which will be scored by an independent agency.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't Waste Time, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my husband hired a pretty, young secretary (married). I never paid much attention to her, although he did take her to dinner occasionally when he had ask her to work late. I know they lunched together, too, but I suppose many such luncheons are for the purpose of discussing business. Three weeks ago my husband received word that he was being transferred out of town. Now he tells me that this secretary is getting a divorce (no children) and is going with him. Abby, do you believe in a woman's intuition? He never mentioned that this woman was unhappy in her marriage. Why suddenly this? I have the feeling that something is going on. Is it my place to ask my husband if he has something to tell me? If he has, why should I make it easier for him? —WOMAN'S INTUITION

DEAR INTUITION: Yes, ask him if he has something to tell you, and don't worry about whether you are making it "too easy" for him. It will be easier for you than waiting and wondering. The sooner you find out, the better.

DEAR ABBY: I used to have beautiful natural blonde hair that hung down to my shoulders. My husband heard a man compliment me on my hair, and all I said to him was "Thank you," but when we got home my husband got mad and took a scissors and cut all my hair off one-quarter of an inch from my scalp. I don't think I can ever forgive him for this act. He has always been a very jealous man with a terrible temper, and I have seen him smash mirrors and furniture, but he never touched me before this. My hairdresser said it will take a year to grow three inches of hair and, in the meantime, I either have to get a wig or wear turbans all the time. What do you think a fitting punishment for a husband like mine should be? —NO HAIR

DEAR NO HAIR: Punishment? I would insist that he be subjected to a mental examination. Next time he might not stop at the scalp.

DEAR ABBY: My friend and I are having an argument with our husbands. Last night it was very cold here in Indianapolis, Indiana. We noticed the policeman on the beat was without a coat. Our husbands said that policemen cannot put on their coats until they are given permission to in the fall. Furthermore, they have to wear their coats in the spring until they are ordered to leave them off. Is this true? If so, we gals think it is a stupid regulation. Any man who is old enough to be a policeman shouldn't need permission to wear his coat, and take it off. Can you tell me if this is a regulation or not? — CAN'T BELIEVE IT

DEAR CAN'T: I just called the Indianapolis, Indiana, Police Department and the captain told me it's true. But he said there is nothing in the regulations to prevent a policeman from wearing anything he wants to underneath his shirt—which was heart-warming.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "You": If you like the way things are going, VOTE. If you don't like the way things are going, vote. If you've never voted before, VOTE. (Don't be ashamed of your ignorance, when you get there, they'll show you how.) If you won't have time after work to go home and clean up, go to the booth in your work clothes. Don't let anything or anybody keep you from voting. It will be the most important thing you will do all year.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

LDS Relief Society Plans Annual Bazaar and Supper

The Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints is having its annual bazaar at Colorado Springs First Ward, corner of Paseo and LaSalle St., on Friday, Nov. 6.

A supper of sloppy-Joe hamburgers, hot-dogs and chili, pop, pie, cake and ice cream will begin promptly at 6 p.m. with the bazaar opening at seven. Everyone is urged to come early while selections are best.

While parents and youth do their Christmas shopping among linens, aprons, and many unusual handmade gifts and household items, there will be free movies and a fish pond for the children.

Home-baked bread, pies and cakes will be for sale, as well as popcorn balls, hot buttered popcorn, and a large booth of home-made candy and cookies.

The women of the first Ward Relief Society, under the leadership of Mrs. George G. Wright, president, Mrs. Claire W. Snell, work counselor, and Mrs. Sterling Strate, work director, have been sewing and preparing many weeks for this event to which the public is invited.

Artemus J. Hill Weds Miss Loretta Diane Short

—Nee Loretta Diane Short

East Methodist Church was the scene of the recent marriage of Miss Loretta Diane Short and Artemus J. Hill. The Rev. Harold Knudsen performed the ceremony against a background of baskets of white gladioli, mums, and candelabra with white tapers. White satin bows marked the family pews.

James Poch, organist, accompanied soloist Mrs. Willis Griffee as she sang "O Perfect Love," "The Lord's Prayer", and other nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Short, 2566 E. Caramillo St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Artemus W. Hill, Muskegon, Mich.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of satin styled with a Sabrina neckline and chapel train. Hand - clipped, re-embroidered Chantilly lace accented the bodice and detailed the front panel of the skirt. A cabbage rose of satin with pearl sprays held her three tier ballerina length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow tea roses, white carnations and ivy.

Miss Charlotte Smart was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Kaminski and Mrs. Lloyd Sells, both sisters of the bridegroom. All were dressed alike in floor length gowns of moss green lace over pale green taffeta with pale green cummerbunds forming panels in the back of the bell skirts, terminating in brush trains. Green mum petals held their short veils and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze mums.

Jill Short, the bride's sister, was flower girl. Her floor length gown of white chiffon over yellow taffeta was fashioned with a yellow taffeta cummerbund which formed a back panel terminating in a brush train. She wore yellow headpiece and carried a miniature bouquet of bronze mums.

Randon Short, the bride's brother, was candlelighter.

Lloyd Sells, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was best man. Groomsmen were Richard Short, the bride's brother, and John Kaminski, the bridegroom's brother-in-law. John Ohs and Howard Westerlund were ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Short chose a beige brocade dress and jacket which fastened with a jeweled button. Her accessories were dark brown and she wore a yellow tea rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend.

Reception assitants were Miss Marilyn Hill, the bridegroom's sister, who attended the guest book; Miss Carole Dalton and Miss Sandra Sue Smith served punch; Miss Mary Hitchcox cut the cake and Miss Jan Tarkington and Miss Sue Berry opened the gifts. The decorating theme featured white wedding bells and streamers in shades of green and yellow.

Following a motor trip through South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, the couple will make their home in Muskegon, Mich. The bride's traveling costume was a three piece coral suit with beige and brown accessories and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

Out of town guests included Mrs. and Mrs. T. J. Mercer and family from Littleton; Jerry Mason from Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Curtis from Pueblo; Pfc. John Ohs from Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Bob Pasanen, Howard Westerlund, Marilyn Hill, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaminski, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sells, all from Muskegon, Mich.

The bride graduated from Wasson High School in 1963 and is employed as secretary in the Sales Department of Consumers Power Co. in Muskegon.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Muskegon Senior High School, class of '58, and is presently attending Muskegon Community College, majoring in Accounting. He is also employed at the Sealed Power Company in Muskegon.

Opening lead: Four of Hearts.

Observe how west is able to make the right decision in today's hand by paying careful attention to declarer's sequence of plays.

The bidding was eminently sound — when North gave a positive response to the demand opening South endeavored to reach a grand slam. But after his partner showed only one king he settled for six spades.

West led the four of hearts which was taken in dummy. The one outstanding trump was drawn, and the two remaining hearts were cashed. At this point declarer was in no hurry to take the club finesse, which could be postponed for a moment.

He played the ace and another diamond in the hope that West would have to win the trick, in which case the battle would be over. If West, playing in robot fashion, followed low on the ace of diamonds, it would be tantamount to placing his head in the noose. Upon winning with the diamond, he obliged to lead into declarer's club tenace. West was sufficiently alert to unload the king of diamonds on South's ace. Such action required no special shrewdness.

By cashing the high hearts South telegraphed the adversaries that he was playing for a strip and end position, and failure to dispose of the king amounted to falling asleep on watch.

Better technique for declarer would have been to lead a diamond at once, intending of course, to win with the ace.

While this, from a psychological standpoint, gives declarer the best chance, nevertheless again wide-awake opposition it ought not to succeed. When South plays the ace of diamonds, whether early or late, West should drop the king. He need but ask himself who has the queen and the answer will stand out, "partner." If South had the ace-queen, would not he have finessed the queen instead of playing the ace?

Linton-Butler Nuptials Held at Catholic Church

Miss Donna Kathleen Butler and John Robert Linton were married at 3 p.m. Friday, Oct. 16, in Holy Trinity Catholic Church. The Rev. Walter Jaeger performed the ceremony against a background of baskets of gold and bronze mums and gladioli. Mrs. James LaPonsie, organist, presented traditional wedding selections.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Butler, 2008 Downing Dr. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Linton, 2815 Tremont St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath of peau de soie with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves, and chapel train. Alencon lace trim on the skirt matched the short lace jacket and her silk illlusion veil was caught to a crown of pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white spider mums.

Miss Marge Butler, was maid of honor for her sister. She wore snow peach taffeta gown with matching self-fabric flower headpiece. Her bouquet was of bronze and yellow spider mums and bronze ribbons.

Eldon K. Boyer was best man. Ushers were Gary Linton, the bridegroom's brother, and Donald Rosengarten.

The bride's mother selected a moss green lace two piece dress with gold accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a winter white brocade two piece dress. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Assisting at the reception held in the church were Melanie Rainer, who attended the guest book wearing a floral print dress in fall shades; Mrs. Don Bogren, who presided at the gift table wearing a winter white sheath. Both wore corsages of bronze mums.

The bride's traveling outfit was a blue wool suit and hat with reptile shoes, bag, and a white orchid corsage. Following a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks, the couple will reside at 2102 E. Dale St.

Guests from out of town included Joe Linton, the bridegroom's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, from California; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lee Miller, Mrs. Ruth Miller, Bill Miller, from Aguilar, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller from Pueblo; Mrs. Molly Horner, Mrs. Edith Weisel, Mrs. William Shea from Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Karnes from Matheson; Mrs. Underhill from Missouri.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD ROBERT TITMAS

Barbara Jean Ingels Is Bride of Donald Titmas

The marriage of Miss Barbara Jean Ingels and Donald Robert Titmas was solemnized at 2 p.m. Oct. 4 at the East Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold C. Knudsen performed the ceremony, in a setting of gold and white mums arranged in baskets, and ornamented with ribbon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roy Ingels of 717 Potter Dr. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Titmas of 215 Cheyenne Blvd.

Nuptial music included "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin de charme, styled with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and bell skirt. The full bustle back was accented with a large bow, and the skirt flowed into a sweeping train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a satin pillbox, and her flowers were large white mums.

Cheri Ingels was maid of honor and Mary Lee Rhodes was bridesmaid. They wore street length dresses of deep gold satin, styled with scoop necklines, elbow sleeves, and matching cummerbunds with large bows. Their satin shoes matched their gowns and their flowers were large gold and bronze mums tied with brown satin ribbon. Patricia Ingles as candlelighter, was gowned like the other attendants. She was assisted by Buddy Ingels.

Flower girls were Toni and Lauri Ballard, who wore frocks of white and gold satin brocade.

Larry Ballard was best man and Don Nonan was groomsman. Ushers were Richard Frazier and Ronald Hardin.

The bride's mother, wearing an autumn-green knit suit with matching accessories, received the guests at the reception held in the church parlor. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of blue brocade with matching accessories.

Assisting at the reception were Sandy Appleby and Mrs. John Good, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Appleby, her aunt.

After a honeymoon at Glenwood Springs, the newlweds are living at 102 Arlen St. The bride's traveling frock was a black and white checked sheath with black accessories.

Guests from other cities were: Mr. and Mrs. William Ingels and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wallace from Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Appleby and Mr. and Mrs. James Diehl of Denver; Mrs. Eliza Sprague, Pueblo; Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Snodgress, Miss Lillian Titmas, Mrs. Ada L. Titmas, Herb Titmas, Mrs. Gertrude Diehl, Mrs. Phyllis Matson and James Keeler, all of Victor.

TRAINING FOR COUNCIL PROGRAM —Johnny Smith, nationally known guitarist and resident of Colorado Springs, is a friend of Girl Scouting. He is proving his interest in the Girl Scout organization by working with a Senior Scout vocal-guitar group in preparing a folk-type song, "The Growing-Up Tree", for presentation at the annual Wagon Wheel Council meeting Nov. 9. This song was written especially for the Girl Scouts of the USA by the song-writing team of George Kleinsinger and Joe Darion. Thanks to time spent rehearsing with an expert, these Senior Scouts are confident that their song will be one of the high-lights of the council meeting. LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Singer Patti Page said — "It makes me feel so good to know there's something else besides my dressing room."

Sitting backstage in her star dressing room at the Sands Hotel, Miss Page was discussing her career and her family. Family comes ahead of career, she said.

The blonde, blue-eyed singing star is married to Hollywood director-choreographer Charles O'Curran, and they are the parents of two adopted children, Kathleen Patricia, 2, and Daniel Benjamin, five months old.

"I'm always complimented when people tell me they like my singing," said Miss Page. "But there's nothing like putting on a new dress and having my little girl say 'pretty Mommy.'

"That's the kind of compliment that stays with you a long time."

Miss Page, sitting in dressing room in terry cloth robe and curlers, looked more like a contented housewife than a glamorous singer.

But when she changes to one of her long white gowns and removes the curlers, she's all what a major box office attraction should be.

Miss Page said she always wears white gowns "because they look good under the lights.' lights."

The white also fits with the romantic songs which are the major part of her repertory. But she at least doesn't shut the door altogether on rock and roll.

"I went to hear the Beatles when they appeared in Las Vegas, but frankly, I still prefer the kind of good music that people like Ella Fitzgerald, Vic Damone and Nat King Cole sing," she said.

The singer and her family live in a house in Beverly Hills. She describes it as being "rather like Grand Central Station."

"Our home is always filled with people," she commented. "It's a nice kind of noisiness."

She hastened to add that their friends are mostly people from the production side of show business. "Not many stars," she smiled.

If Miss Page did more film work, she would be able to spend more time in California but regardless of where she is, her family is usually with her.

"Little Kathleen has already traveled over 100,000 miles with me," she said.
